Assessment reviews are up; Angered taxpayers look for answers

The Kent County Bureau of Equalization says that the freeze on assessments in 1992 has accounted for the high number of board of review appointments scheduled for townships and cities in 1993.

The number of appointments are at their highest levels in the City of Lowell, 113, Lowell Township, 148.

According to Lowell Clerk, Betty Morlock, the City held Board of Review meetings on March 8, 9 and 10th.

Lowell Township also had meetings scheduled for the 8th and 9th, along with meetings from 6 to 9 p.m. on March 11, 12, 16, 18, 19 and 23rd. All the days are filled except for the 23rd.

Township receptionist/deputy treasurer, Gladys Fletcher said the number of Board of review appointments are a lot higher than she ever remembers seeing.

Vergennes Township held reviews on Monday and Tuesday. Reviews were available on Wednesday and Friday of this week by appointment only.

The City's Board of Review, appointed by the Council was filled by John Gabrion, David Clark and Jim Wood.

Lowell Township's board will consist of Richard Bryan, Richard Buell and Bill Wieland.

Now that the freeze has been lifted, the harsh reality has set in. The 1993 assessments will reflect a two-year growth at seven percent a year or 14 percent over two years.

Lowell City Assessor, Jim Marfia said two years ago a reappraisal was done on the assessments of the residential area. "This year a complete re-appraisal of non-residential areas has been completed," he explained. "We want both to be assessed by the same formula."

The change in the assessment of non-residential areas means assessments will be based on the square footage and what that square footage has been selling for. "As it did with the residential areas, this will help put everybody to the same footing."

Marfia said those non-residential assessments that jump substantially this year have probably been under assessed in year's past.

Hill's Shoe Store owner Gordon Hill says the Lowell Downtown area is not a viable means to draw people into the area. "So why should my assessments jump up if it's not bringing people into the downtown area. Besides if it was business would only be taxed more."

Marfia said Hill's point is why the Downtown Authority Association has been created. "If people shop in the downtown area, then the business owners obviously make more money."

The DDA may begin work on the downtown sidewalks as early as this summer.

Hill also stated that he believes the Board of Review should be open to the general public.

City Manager Dave Pasquale said that is subject to the open meetings act. "That means, anybody who wants to sit in on the Board of Review can. History shows most people don't want to, and those who have a hearing scheduled don't want an audience."

Hill concluded by saying the hearing is not set up for an audience and that he would like to see that changed.

Nominating petitions being accepted for Board seat

Nominating petitions are now available for candidates interested in filling the Lowell Board of Education seat that will open up in June.

The seat is currently being filled by Marcia Wilcox. The Lowell resident was named in February of 1992 to fill the seat left open when Linda Beers resigned.

In June of 1992 Wilcox won an election to fill the seat for one-year.

The incumbent intends to run for the four-year seat in June.

"I've just gotten my feet wet," Wilcox said. "I'm interested in staying on the board. I want to see the curriculum upgraded and that we get technology in our new high school."

The Lowell resident, 9654 Bailey Dr., said one thing she has learned since joining the Board is that small problems can take an inordinate amount of time and that large problems are usually solved rather quickly.

"Pressing issues facing the Board obviously starts with what the State Legislature does with school financing and property tax cuts," Wilcox says.

Persons interested in running for this position must be a citizen of the United States, be 18 years of age or older, be a resident of Michigan for at least 30 days, and be a resident of the Lowell School District for at least 30 days before election.

Nominating petitions may be obtained by any candidate from the Board of Education office located at 12685 Foreman Rd.

The nominating petitions must contain at least 20 signatures of registered school electors of the district, and not less than one percent of the votes of the candidates who received the greatest number of votes in the last election in which Board members were elected.

Five LHS students recognized with students-of-the-month honors

The students-of-the-month at Lowell High School for the month of March are seniors Heidi Silvis Bliss and Charla Symmes; junior Donna Christine Abel; sophomore Rebecca Cattanaach and freshman, Jenny Jansma.

Bliss is the daughter of Don and Judie Silvis of Lowell. She has been very active in her senior year after spending her junior year living and going to school in France. Her French teacher comments, "Few students have the courage and inner strength to be an exchange student for an entire year. She met the challenges of living in a foreign country with spunk and perseverance."

Bliss is the president of the International Club. She is secretary of the art club and also a member of debate, forensics, young democrats and the youth group of St. Paul's United Methodist Church. She serves as a member of the Grand Rapids District Council on Youth Ministries. Recently Bliss starred in the Arts Council's winter play. She has been on the honor roll since coming to LHS. To earn money to attend GRCC next year, Bliss works at Lerner in Eastbrook Mall.

Symmes is the daughter of Jeff and Pam Symmes of Lowell. Her business teacher commends Symmes for her work as manager of the LHS Spirit Store, describing her work as outstanding. "She has taken on many responsibilities and kept organized and on top of things. The Spirit Store has done very well this year under her management."

Symmes's favorite classes are business courses, and she plans to attend GRCC next year and major in business. She is also a member of Teens Involved, choir and Glee Club and has been a member of Ski Club. In addition to skiing and singing, she enjoys water skiing, reading and swimming. Symmes has been on the honor roll all four years at LHS.

Abel is the daughter of Larry and Mary Abel of Ada. A red card holder in the Renaissance Program, she has been on the honor roll all of her semesters at LHS. Favorite activities include art and poetry. She has earned honorable mention in the LHS creative writing contest for her poetry. Her art teacher describes her as an art student with "tremendous creative drive and personal motivation," and adds that she is "outgoing, sharing and caring."

Cattanaach is the daughter of Warren and Rose Cattanaach of Lowell. She is also a card holder in the Renaissance Program and has been on the honor roll two years. Her teacher nominator describes her as a leader in her cooperative group and as a student with a positive attitude about school. She is a member of the FFA and the volleyball team. She has also served as basketball manager for two years. Cattanaach is a member of the Alto Baptist Church where she is a AWANA leader, active in the youth group, and a worker in the church nursery.

Jansma is the daughter of Mike and Sue Jansma of Lowell. She has kept active her freshman year with cheerleading, volleyball and track. She has still earned a spot on the honor roll. Her teacher nominator praises Jansma's positive mental attitude, commenting, "Not only does she find the good in everything, she creates it." Recently, Jansma was honored by her classmates by being selected freshman princess for the Sweetheart Swirl.

Jansma describes water skiing, snowmobiling and hunting as favorite activities and gym as a favorite class. When she is not busy with all of these activities she just loves to spend time with family and friends.

The faculty, staff and administration are proud of these five young women who serve as role models for others as they help uphold pride and respect at Lowell High School.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Be strong and of a good courage... (Deuteronomy 31:6).

During the Second World War, servicemen were told not to strike matches during blackouts. From the air the flare of a tiny match could be seen for a mile and a half.

One lady was known and loved for her optimistic attitude. But in a moment of weakness, when it seemed the popular thing among her friends to tell of their trials, temptations, and difficulties, she announced that she, too, had been discouraged.

Immediately her pastor said, "Why, I'm surprised at you. I never thought I'd hear you say a thing like that!" His rebuff made a lasting impression on her. Never again did she resort to public admission of discouragement.

Her lesson should be a lesson for all. Depressing times are bound to come. But we must beware lest our gloom cause another to despair also. The least sign of discouragement in our lives may cause another's spiritual death. One flare of discouragement may give the enemy the victory. When it comes to moments like these, "don't strike a match!"

Prayer: O Lord, let me never succumb to discouragement. Grant that I may never "strike the match" that would give the enemy the victory. When trials come, cause me to flee to Thee for refuge until the storm has passed. Amen.

How oft in the conflict, when pressed by the foe, I have fled to my Refuge and breathed out my woe! How often, when trials like sea-billows roll, Have I hidden in Thee, O Thou Rock of my soul.

Thad's Thoughts

The Lowell Board of Education passed a resolution Monday night in support of the Olmstead/Kearney Initiative Proposal and the Team Concept (Bi-Partisan Legislative Team Proposal) for school finance reform.

Both serve as alternatives to Senate Bill 146, which schools denounce because it does not confront the issue of school finance reform.

The seriousness of property tax relief and school finance reform is definitely a front burner debate. Whether these issues will be resolved in time to save some schools from reaching zero money level remains unknown.

One school who already depends on property tax funds for 60 percent of its elementary and secondary education monies says it needs more. Without an increase Kalkaska Superintendent Doyle Disbro says it will have to shut its doors on March 24.

Taxpayers have voted twice to deny the school a property tax increase. It will vote for a third time on March 15. Kalkaska's Superintendent said the school has chosen quality over quantity and because of that it won't shortchange its students by cutting everything to smithereens. Disbro said that won't be done just so the school can stay open a full year.

Disbro believes that the situation Kalkaska finds itself in will become more the rule than the exception for schools around the state. "I guarantee that we're not the only place that is in trouble. You're going to see a lot more Kalkaskas before too long."

Lowell Board member Marcia Wilcox believes a crisis is being created. "Our government works best under a crisis," she says. Wilcox added that if property tax is cut substantially the crisis created is school finance reform. She thinks the people in Lansing believe everyone will then rally behind the allow communities to upgrade sewer systems, and a special Senate subcommittee will develop a watershed management plan for long-term solution.

In addition to maintaining our quality of life, this watershed management approach is also critical to keeping Michigan's tourist industry thriving, which depends heavily on the quality of our water resources.

It will provide for continuation and expansion of the fund that pays for the clean up of old, leaking storage tanks. With 73,800 registered tanks in Michigan, and with 150 to 200 new leaking tanks being discovered every month, the MUSTFA passage was needed to continue to protect Michigan's groundwater.

During the past week, the Senate held hearings to review the state's Sand Dune Protection Act. The Act, passed in 1989, is designed to protect West Michigan's unique and sensitive dune shoreline. Local governments can play an active role in dune protection through the adoption of local ordinances, while maintaining private property rights. Our shoreline is vital to West Michigan, both for its beauty and its draw for tourists.

In our community, there are many fine people who recognize the importance of preserving our air, water and land for education problem. She added that she believes the state will use that opportunity to take care of some of its own problems. "That will be done through riding the back of school finance reform," she said.

There are some state officials that believe Kalkaska is bluffing when it says it will close its schools. The time frame seems too short for Kalkaska to be saved by a proposal. The third property tax vote is March 15. If it fails, the doors are scheduled to be closed March 24. To no one's surprise the burden will once again be put on the taxpayers - angry taxpayers.

It's unclear what will happen. It's unclear if anything will get done regarding this issue. What is clear though, is something needs to be done. Something that serves the best interest of schools and property owners. If Wilcox is right and our Government works best under a crisis, well then future generations. The Senate developed the White Pine Award to recognize those folks. Named after our state tree, the award will be given out on a monthly basis to a different individual, small group or business that has excelled in protecting the environment.

The first state-wide award went to the West Michigan Environmental Action Council (WMEAC), presented on March 6 by myself and Senators Vern Ehlers and Paul Wartner. WMEAC was chosen because of its 25 year history of protecting and preserving the environment in West Michigan. As a winner, WMEAC received the White Pine certificate, a white pine tree and a Senate tribute.

The White Pine Awards program, like the SOC bills, MUSTFA and the Sand Dune Protection Act is part of a larger effort by the Senate to safeguard the state's vast natural resources which we all enjoy. This is just the beginning of the Senate's commitment to making environmental quality a major legislative priority.

In Kent County, we have 568 reported leaking underground storage tanks contaminating our soil and water. Last month, problems with the Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance Fund (MUSTFA) were addressed.

CALCIUM IN YOUR CHILDREN'S DIET

Health With Drs. Paul Gauthier, Jim Lang & Joyce deJong

Most people associate calcium intake with sound bone development and bone strength. While we strongly advocate calcium supplements for our adult female population to decrease the risk of osteoporosis, we also recommend adequate calcium intake in the diets of our pediatric patients. Recent studies have shown that young children who get more than the recommended daily allowance of calcium in their diets have stronger bones than the average child. Research has also indicated that children who receive additional calcium may be less likely to develop osteoporosis later in life.

Consuming more dairy products as a source of dietary calcium does not have to lead to an increase in fat intake, because low-fat and non-fat dairy products contain about the same amount of calcium as whole milk products.

If your child does not like to drink milk, nutritionists believe it is okay to add flavoring to your child's request. Children are also more likely to drink milk if it is ice cold rather than cool.

Other ways to add calcium to the diet includes creating your own calcium fortified milk by adding one third cup of powdered milk to two cups of low fat milk. You can also provide more calcium by making dessert such as custard and instant pudding with milk.

Adding powdered milk to any baking recipe which requires milk also will fortify the diet with calcium.

While supplementing your child's diet with oral calcium tablets is not necessary, there are numerous nutritional methods of increasing dietary calcium intake to aid in your child's bone development.

Equal education funding resolution okayed by Board

With the exception of one abstention, the Lowell School Board voted unanimously to support a resolution which lauds the concepts of property tax relief and equal education funding.

tives and concepts contained in the Olmstead/Kearney and Team 14 Proposals which address the issues of adequate and equitable school funding and property tax relief.

Both are considered welcome alternatives to Senate Bill 146 which school officials claim addresses property tax relief, but does nothing to ackle the problem of school finance reform. They add that the O-K Proposal and the Team 14 Proposal would give a start to bringing Michigan back into a leadership role in its support for education.

"Basically, the resolution states, that the Lowell School Board would support either proposal," Lowell Board member Marcia Wilcox said. The Rockford Board of Education voted unanimously to adopt the Bi-Partisan Legislative Team Proposal on Feb. 22.

Lowell Board member Norm Byrne objected to the Board taking a position on such a matter. "I believe taking a position should be an individual matter. I don't think a board should vote on a resolution of this type," Byrne said.

Board peer Charlie Kohler disagreed. "I believe movement must be made toward a more equitable means of school funding. If this resolution will help resolve that matter than I support the movement."

Jack Lane, Board Treasurer, added that he supported the resolution because it protects the interest of the students in the district.

President Ray Quada agreed. "It deals with equitably distributing funds. It tells of getting something going and accomplishing something on the issues of property tax relief and school finance reform."

Three school policies approved on Boards second reading

Following months of laboring, meeting and discussions, the Lowell School Board adopted board policies on drug free schools and student assistance, administering medications to students at school, and sexual harassment of students.

The prevention and student assistance services will provide appropriate options for prevention educations, assessment, intervention and referral.

It calls for the school district to adopt a comprehensive (K-12) prevention education curriculum.

The policy will also provide students with an assistance program. It will have parent and community involvement. It defines the standards of conduct for students and employees, and assistance for employees.

The policy also outlines prevention and student assistance management.

The curriculum will address an age-appropriate, developmentally based drug prevention education program; a clear abstinence, no-use message; factual information on alcohol and illicit drugs; techniques for resisting peer pressure to use drugs; social, legal and health consequences of drug and alcohol use.

The policy for administering medications to students at school will require that the prescribed medication is administered by or under the direction of the administrator or his/her designee outside of the student's classroom and in the presence of another adult; or the prescribed medication be administered by a school nurse outside the student's classroom.

Non-prescriptive medication will be administered by or under the direction of the administrator or his/her designee in the presence of another adult. Written records will be maintained of all medications administered.

The sexual harassment policy states that any student who alleges sexual harassment by any Lowell Area School employee, district volunteer, Lowell student or other person should report directly to the school principal.

A complaint against a student will be investigated by the building principal. When dealing with district employees, it will be handled by the superintendent.

Dr. John Mulder to visit Lowell's First Congregational Church

The First Congregational Church of Lowell is pleased to announce that on Sunday, March 14, at 6 p.m., a Christian music concert featuring Dr. John Mulder and friends will be presented in the church sanctuary. The concert is open to the public at no charge.

Mulder, a family physician with a practice in Muskegon, is an accomplished vocalist, guitarist, and songwriter. He is well known in the West Michigan area for the many gospel tapes and CD's which he has produced in the last few years. Through his music ministry, Mulder provides a healing message of hope and love.

Mulder was born in Pontiac and grew up in a home where his father was a Methodist minister and his mother an accomplished pianist.

He bought his first guitar with 7 1/2 books of green stamps in 1965. He started performing in coffee houses and night spots in the late 1960's, and produced folk music church services in the early 1970's. Mulder's musical background has served him well. He has composed a variety of contemporary Christian songs that fill three albums: Capture the Moment, released in 1985 featured a song, "Lift Me Up," which landed in the top 30 in a 1986 music listeners survey. His second album -- The Way He Is -- showcases Mulder doing what he does best in a live concert recording.

Mulder's next album -- The Learning of the Heart -- was completed in the spring of 1988, and has several selections that have received airplay on stations across the country. Produced by one of Nashville's finest, Bubba Smith, with the assistance of Buddy Greene, this creative project explores the relationship between our Christian faith and our day-to-day life events.

These three albums reflect his long history of communicating with guitar in hand and song in the air. He has recently completed recording his fourth project, On the Way is a live concert recording which has been given some of the skilled studio treatment which brought acclaim to The Learning of the Heart. Produced by Mark Aspinall and Bubba Smith, it was released in the fall of 1991.

Mulder began writing his own songs in 1978, and initiated a concert ministry in 1985. He performs for all size groups, from small churches to large gatherings, such as the 3000 youth assembled at the Christian Reformed Church Young Calvinist Convention in Bellingham, Washington in 1986 and the large gathering of believers at Aldersgate 250 in Dayton, Ohio in June, 1988.

In April, 1990 Mulder participated in a solo concert tour which took him through Poland and parts of the Soviet Union. He returned to the Soviet Union and Poland as well as Romania in April, 1991.

A resident of Spring Lake, Mulder shares his life with his wife of 19 years, Judy, and children Julia, 16, Matthew, 15, and Mark, 13. The Mulders are also now sharing their home with a five year old abandoned Romanian girl. The Mulders are members of the Ferrysburg Christian Reformed Church; he maintains his practice of Family Medicine in Muskegon.

Nicolai to discuss changes in County Community Development program

Lu Ann Nicolai of the Kent County Community Development program will address the Lowell Township board April 5th.

The community development program is designed to help senior citizens and low income families upgrade their housing. These upgrades can include better insulation, building ramps to make the property handicap accessible and electrical re-wiring for safety purposes.

Nicolai will discuss changes made to this program for the upcoming year with board members.

The township has been a part of the program in the past, but who, and how many citizens have been helped, is not known to the township. All citizens wishing to use this program submit their application to the county, which determines who will receive assistance. The township has no input as to who will receive assistance in the community.

Students vie for Art and Science honor

Eight students have been nominated by their teachers at Lowell High School to compete for acceptance into the Michigan Department of Education's Summer Institutes for the Arts and Sciences. The eight juniors will go through another round of judging at the county level before going on for final selection at the sites of the two week institutes which are held on Michigan college campuses.

After falling short in close games throughout the season, the Red Arrows picked a great time to pull out a 61-59 victory in the closing minutes.

"This team has lost several close games this year, it is nice to finally pull it out in the districts," said Lowell coach Phil Beachler.

Lowell was aided by two charging calls against West Catholic in the final 25 seconds of the contest. The most controversial call occurring with just six ticks left on the clock. The Falcons' Jamie Tuttle was called for charging after assisting in what would have been the go ahead basket much to the displeasure of Falcon faithfuls and coach John Maciak.

"Both players involved are great defensive players who were in the right spot and deserved the calls," said Beachler.

Lowell started the first quarter strong led by Chad Dunn's seven points and two steals. However, the Falcons came back to take a 18-16 lead behind John Valliere's 10 first-quarter points.

The second quarter was dominated by runs on both sides. The Falcons started the quarter by going on a 7-0 run, only to be answered by the Arrows' 8-0 run. Six of those eight points were scored by Nate Janes who used his considerable height advantage to dominate the boards. The Falcons finished the half on a 8-2 run grabbing the halftime lead 31-26. Lowell's height advantage kept them in the ball game in the first half. Both Janes and Dunn dominated the boards, changed shots and scored key baskets to keep Lowell close.

Lowell's guard play stepped up in the second half to change the tempo of the game in favor of the Red Arrows.

Behind Leigh Summers' leadership the Arrow's over came the halftime deficit to take a one point lead 43-42 at the end of the third period. Summers had four assist and five points, including a key three pointer, to help break down the Falcons changing defensive schemes.

"Our guards recognizing West Catholic's defenses were the key to this win," stated Beachler. "They penetrated the zones to create passing lanes and broke down their press by hitting the cutters to the basket."

The teams exchanged baskets for most of the fourth quarter with Lowell maintaining a five point lead until the three minute mark. With three minutes remaining the Falcons began to intentionally foul Lowell players, putting them in the bonus situation, shooting one and one. This strategy and two turnovers began to work for the Falcons, cutting the lead to only three points with 25 seconds left in the game.

Lowell hit just two of seven free throws during the three minute span, many the front end of the one and one, after going seven for seven earlier in the quarter.

"Our free throw shooting down the stretch was good for the fans only," said Beachler. "We practice our free throw shooting constantly but there is a big difference between game and practice situations."

The Falcons cut the lead to one with 15 seconds remaining. West Catholic had a chance to take the lead after the Arrows threw away the inbound pass, but Janes stepped up to take the charge with six seconds to go in the contest.

West Catholic had one last chance to tie after Greg Jannenga hit one of two free throws but the Falcons last second shot fell short preserving the Red Arrows' victory.

Leigh Summers and George Ponchaud led Lowell with 14 points apiece, followed by Chad Dunn's 13 points.

West Catholic was led by John Valliere's 19 points followed by Mike Brechting's 12 points.

Lowell will go on to face Forest Hills Northern Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Catholic Central a winner over East Grand Rapids, will play Northview Wednesday at 6 p.m.

The final will be held Friday at 7 p.m., all games in this pairing will be played at East Grand Rapids High School. Champion of this district pairing will then advance to the Jackson-Lumen Christi regional to play the Delton-Kellogg district champion.

Lowell closed out a disappointing season by losing to Wyoming Rogers Friday night 55-52.

Rodgers used a four corner offense to slow down the pace of the game and create mismatches with Lowell players.

"Once they got the lead they went to the four corners offense," said Lowell coach Phil Beachler. "It created too many mismatches for us, they were just too quick for us to handle."

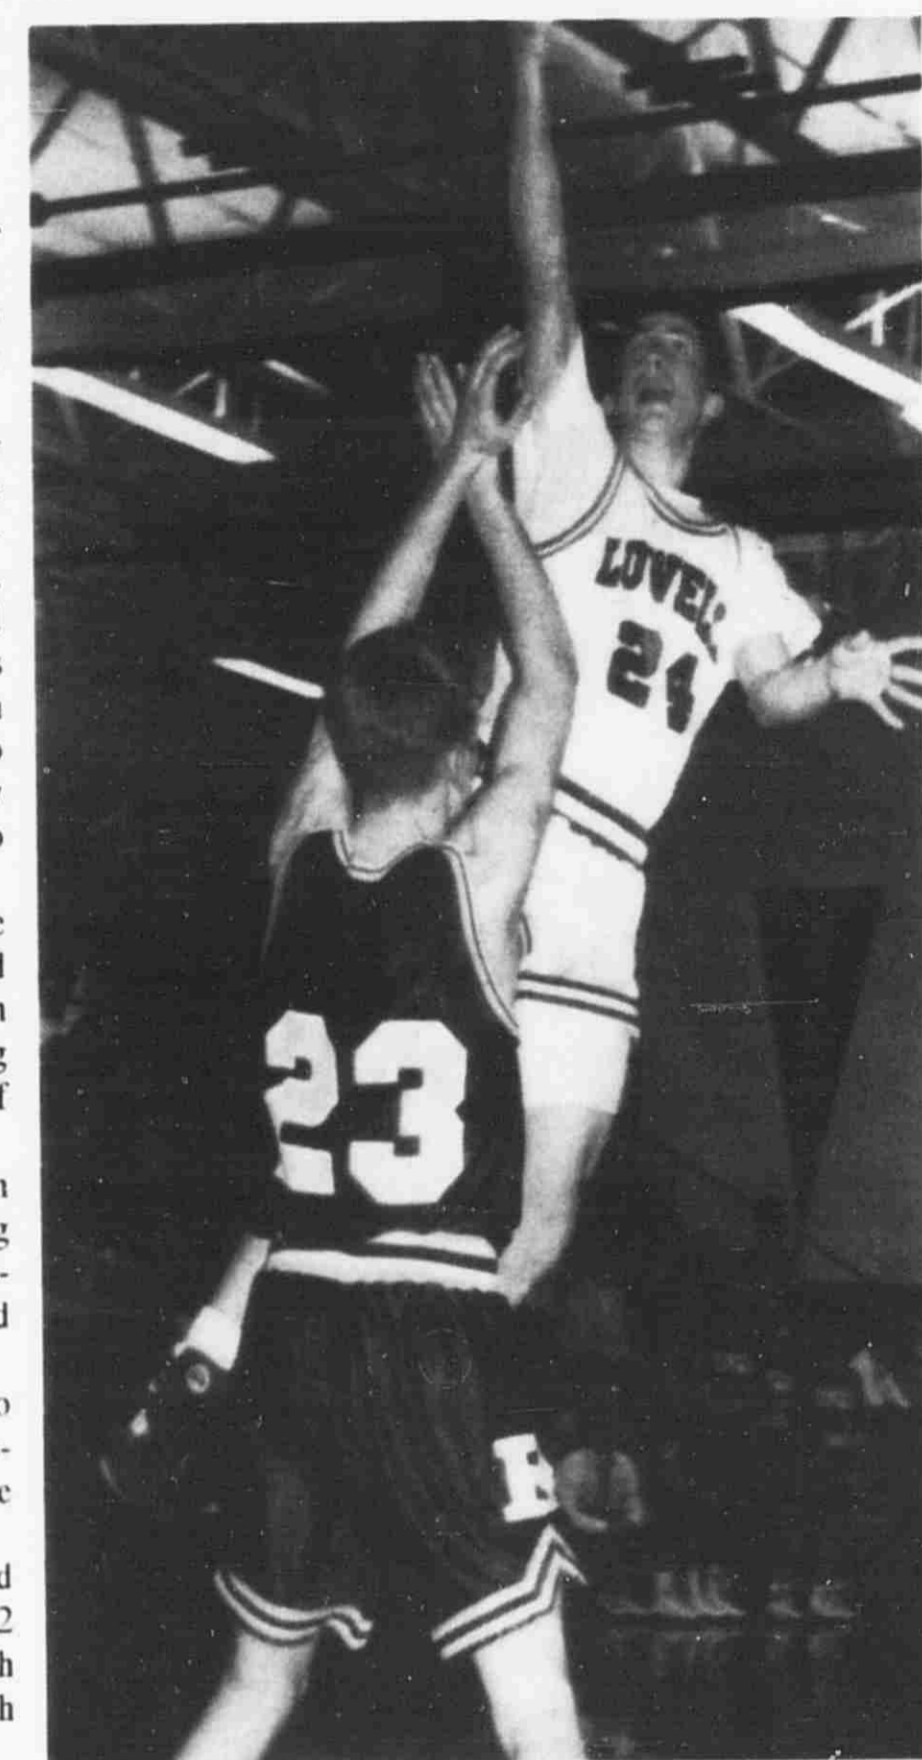

Lowell went in at halftime down by four, 31-27, and couldn't overcome the Golden Hawk's three point shooting or quickness in the second half to take the lead.

"We had opportunities in the second half after bringing the deficit to three, but missing free throws hurt us," stated Beachler.

Lowell attempted two three point shots in the closing seconds to tie the game but fell short on both shots.

Chad Dunn led the Red Arrows in scoring with 12 points. Followed by Leigh Summers and Nate Janes with 10 points apiece.

Justin Berkley led Rogers with 17 points followed by Mulonge Kalumbula and Ryan Cook's 11 points apiece. Lowell finished the year 4-10 in the O-K White and 7-13 overall.

Lowell plays Forest Hills Northern tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30.

Regional, learning experience for Arrow trio

The Lowell gymnastic team officially concluded its season Saturday at the regional in Holland.

Actually, the Red Arrow team consisted of three members, Lesley Murphy, Sara Kropf and Amy Pullen.

Murphy qualified for the regional on the vault and in the floor exercise. Kropf qualified for the regional on the vault and balance beam.

Pullen qualified for the regional on the vault.

"While neither of the three girls placed, they got valuable first-time experience at the regional level," Lowell coach Annette Pearson said.

To no one's surprise, it was Mona Shores and the rest of the field. That's saying something, because few coaches believe that there was a stronger regional anywhere in the state.

Mona Shores, two-time state champs, won it with a score 145.8 points. East Kentwood was second with 138.35 and Holland was third at 137.35.

"A lot of the best gymnastics schools are in this regional," Pearson said. "It was fun to watch them compete."

Murphy tallied a score of 8.05 on vault. She earned a mark of 7.75 in the floor exercise.

Kropf scored a 7.65 on the vault and came off the balance beam with a score of 6.7.

Pullen recorded a score of 7.75 on vault.

There were 77 girls competing at the regional. "The girls did well. I think they may have been a touch nervous," Pearson said.

FAMILY FARE Athletes of the Week

Lesley Murphy
The Lowell sophomore gymnast participated in her first regional competition at Holland on Saturday. Murphy scored an 8.05 on the vault and a 7.75 in the floor exercise.

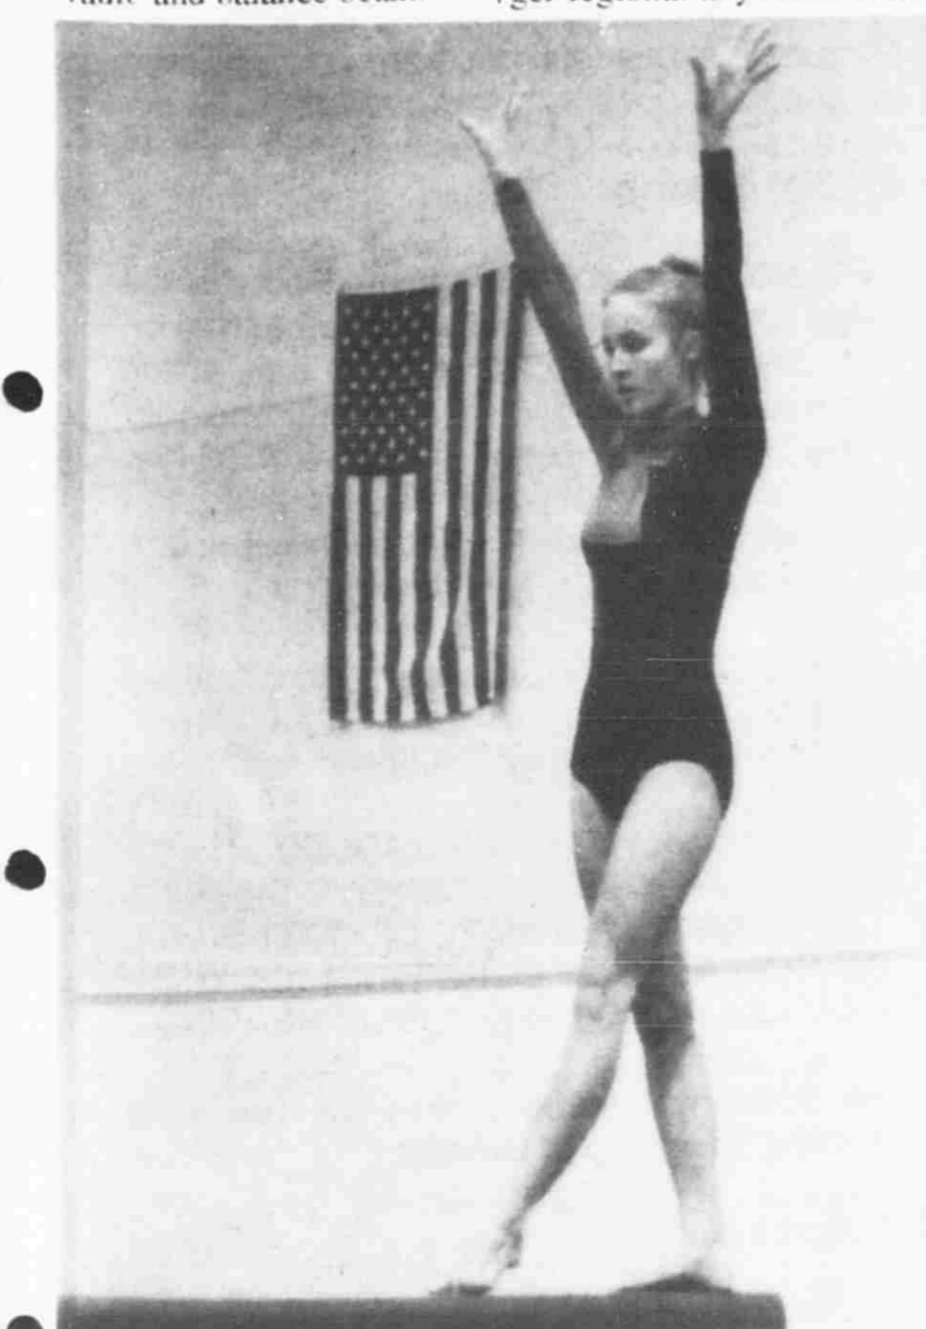

Karla Carpenter
The four-year basketball cheerleader has been a team captain for the past two years. Lowell Coach Christine Beachler lauded Carpenter for her tremendous leadership, outstanding spirit and enthusiasm. Carpenter hopes to continue her cheerleading at Central Michigan University.

Sara Kropf
The junior Red Arrow gymnast qualified for regional competition on the vault and balance beam exercises. She tallied scores of 7.65 on the vault and 6.7 on the balance beam.

Amy Pullen
The Red Arrow participated in her first gymnastic regional. Pullen qualified for the regional on the vault. She recorded a score of 7.75.

Lesley Murphy qualified for regional action on the vault and floor exercise.

Mistakes cost Red Arrows victory in District loss to Hastings

Lowell volleyball coach Laurie Kuna accentuated the positive Saturday at Lake-wood.

However she knew it wasn't enough to eliminate the mistakes which in the end proved the undoing of her Red Arrows.

Lowell lost to Hastings at the Lakewood Class B District Volleyball tournament on Saturday in two knee-knocking games, 16-14, 15-13.

"I thought the girls played well, but the mental errors cost us," Kuna said. "Defensively, we blocked a lot better against Hastings than we did throughout the year."

Lowell's success at blocking paid dividends in the number of team digs.

Red Arrow Carolyn Kline led Lowell with 13 digs. Kortney Gowen tallied seven and Erin Nausieda added five.

Kuna applauded the effort of individual effort of Gowen. The sophomore may have played her best game of the year. Along with her seven digs she added three aces and nine service points.

Lowell also got two solid performances from their setters, Jodi Bishop and Kerry Nugent. Both Arrows recorded eight assists.

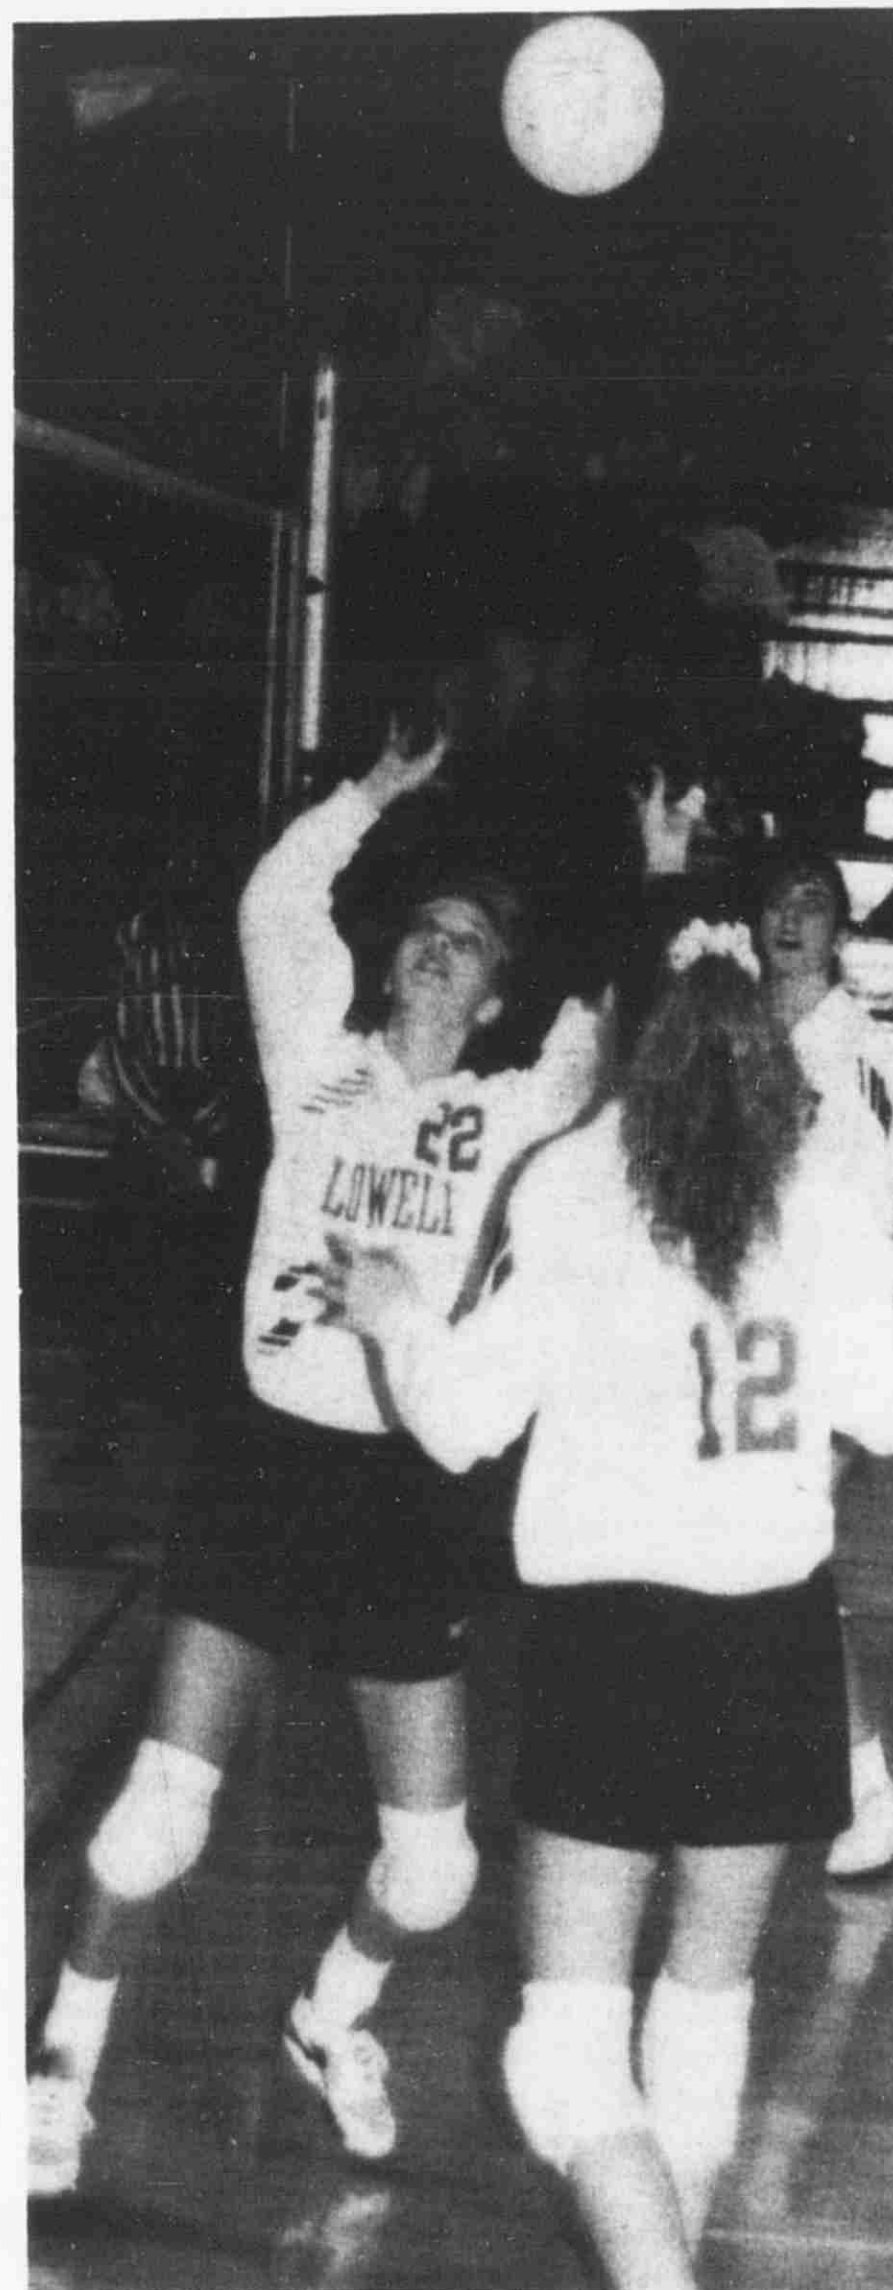

Nausieda was strong in providing five service points (three aces), five digs, and three kills.

The team's leader in kills was Stacy Tousignaut with five. Alison Kissinger and Courtney Arnett each had four.

"I'd be lying if I said I wasn't a little disappointed in our record this year, but we got a lot of players valuable experience," Kuna said. "Our future is bright. We've just got to eliminate mistakes and be more aggressive."

Lowell finished 0-7 in the O-K White during the regular season. It tied for sixth in the conference tournament.

Caledonia won the district, defeating Hastings in the championship match, 7-15, 15-10, 15-6.

Five endangered maned wolf pups born at John Ball Zoo, three survive

The animal management staff at John Ball Zoo is hand-raising three female maned wolf pups born at the Zoo on Feb. 15, 1993. The survival of the pups marks a success for the Zoo and its captive breeding program for this endangered species. It is thought that there are as few as 2200 maned wolves surviving in the world.

The maned wolf is the largest canid in South America. Destruction of its habitat has led to its demise. Maned wolves have been difficult to raise in captivity. Cystinuria, a urinary tract disease; low birth rates; and a high mortality rate in pups have frustrated zoo professionals working to conserve the species.

As of September 1992, there were 71 maned wolves listed with the Species Survival Plan in the United States. There were 18 pups born in the United States last year, only seven survived.

Due to a lack of female wolves in the captive breeding program, John Ball Zoo staff had been previously instructed by the SSP Coordinator to hand raise any female pups born. Two male pups were left with the mother in the hopes that she would raise them herself. Unfortunately, they did not survive. The three handreared pups are doing well.

Feedings have been given around the clock by zoo staff. Blood serum had previously been drawn from the wolf parents, in case, the pups needed the antibodies normally received during the nursing process. The pups weighed an average 367 grams at birth and now weigh 928 grams or about two pounds.

One other factor which complicates the maned wolf species survival program is lack of space. Maned wolves in the wild form loose pair bonds that become stronger during the breeding and rearing period. Maned wolves, unlike other wolf breeds, cannot be exhibited in large groups or packs. Currently there is not enough exhibit space for zoos to hold the necessary number of wolves to guarantee their survival.

Space in zoos is an ongoing problem in the struggle to preserve endangered species. If one took all the accredited zoos in the United States and put them in one spot, they would not fill up Kent County.

TOWN TALK

Kent and Ottawa County task force panels are recommending that car owners pay for regular anti-pollution checkups. Are you in favor?

Ken Alexander
Something has to be done. I think every two would be good.

Nancy Miller
Yes. There is a necessity for it. A lot of cars need to be attended to. I don't agree that the customer should have to pay for all of it.

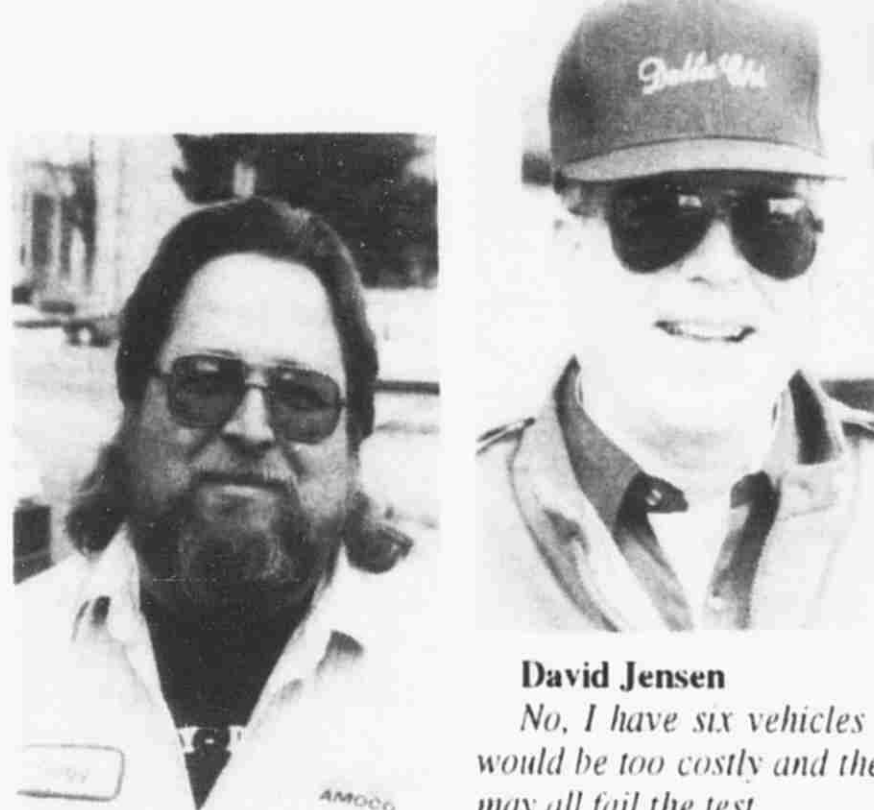

Kevin Smith
It's needed in order to bring counties up to requirements. It is done in other parts of the country and should be done here.

Jo Heintzleman
Sure, I'm in favor. It will make better air for everyone to breathe.

Dan Czajkowski
No. Why should there be strict standards on individuals when there isn't on industry. The average person shouldn't have to pick up the burden.

John Gilmour
I'm against it. The government should keep its damn nose out of my business.

David Jensen
No. I have six vehicles it would be too costly and they may all fail the test.

Gregg Tyler
I don't like it, the government is getting too involved with our lives. We're losing our freedoms.

Art Club plans trip to "Windy City"

School Board trustee Steve Idema requested that he personally make the motion in support of the Lowell High School Art Club's trip on April 23rd and 24th to Chicago.

"I have a house member (his daughter Jenny Idema) who has been active in planning for this trip," Idema said. "I have 600 grapefruits to prove it."

The LHS Art Club sold fruit to help raise money to pay the cost of the 40 students scheduled to go.

The students will be accompanied by four chaperones including LHS art teacher Robin White.

Lowell High School student representative on the School Board, Rachael Neile-McGrew, made the presentation to the school board. The students will depart for Chicago on Friday (a half-day). Some of the funds raised through the sale of fruit will be used to pay for a substitute teacher.

The trip will include stops at the Frank Lloyd Wright home and studio, the Chicago Palace, Chinatown, Museum of Contemporary Art, Art Institute of Chicago, the Terra Museum, and a play at the local theatre.

The fate of civilization is like needlework. You can take it up and worry about it at odd moments.

DAR honors Lowell's Kaeb

Lowell Senior Heidi Kaeb was honored recently with the Daughters of the American Revolution's "Good Citizen Award."

Kaeb, the daughter of Curt and Luanna Kaeb, was one of 10 senior girls selected throughout the state to be recognized with this honor. The 10 high school students were selected by the DAR's "Good Citizen" Committee.

The honor is based on dependability, service, leadership and patriotism. To be eligible for the honor the senior must be selected as the school representative, that is voted on by the school staffs.

The 10 high school seniors will be honored at a special luncheon in East Lansing at the Kellogg Center at a state awards day meeting.

Heidi Kaeb

Kaeb, a four year member of the Lowell FFA Chapter, is currently serving as its chapter reporter. She recently won a Silver Award in the state public speaking contest.

She is a member of the National Honor Society, and a four-year member of Science Olympiad.

For her selection as the Lowell DAR representative, Kaeb will receive a $250 scholarship. Her selection will earn her a $2,000 scholarship. Kaeb is the first Lowell student to receive such an honor.

Her scholastic plans will have her attending Michigan State University in the fall where she will study food science as far as quality assurance and food law legislation.

Her involvement with 4-H includes an hour-and-a-half play which she wrote, entitled "River of Time." The play was about the history of Lowell. It was performed at the Grand River by 35-40 4-H students.

A Message to Michigan's 3rd Congressional District.

Dear Friends,

No words can fully express my gratitude for the thousands of gestures of kindness that have been offered during my battle with cancer. So many people find themselves alone in these situations. I am truly blessed to be a part of the fair and thoughtful West Michigan community.

God has placed a great challenge before me and my family. We have truly grown in our shared struggles during this difficult time. We continue to know peace at the center, even when the edges are frayed.

Please know that I appreciate so very deeply the sacred trust you have placed in me as your Congressman. I have taken an oath five times in the United States Capitol to serve as your Representative to the best of my ability. You have my word that I still hold fast to that promise.

Many of you know my staff members in both my Grand Rapids and Washington offices. Their dedicated service to you, whether it be help in dealing with federal agencies, providing background on pending legislation, or simply relaying your thoughts to me, continues as it always has. I urge you to keep conveying your concerns and questions to either of my offices at any time.

My doctors tell me that I need to continue my recovery at home. I must tell you that it is most frustrating, after eight years of a near-perfect voting record, to be away from my official duties in Washington.

I want to assure you, though, that it is my strongest desire to return to Washington as soon as possible.

Again, I will never be able to adequately thank all of you for your support, kindness and love. My life is in God's hands, as it always has been. My walk with Him goes on.

Only He knows the future, but for the present I continue to fight.

Sincerely,

Paul

Paul B. Henry
Member of Congress
