Showboat headliners set [TIF Plan approved] Local country singer, Thom Ellis to kick-off gala event June 17

After a long arduous, albeit successful process, the Lowell Showboat released the names of the entertainers who will be performing at the Lowell Showboat on June 17-19.

It was announced Tuesday that Lowell born, Caledonia raised, country/western rising star Thom Ellis will perform Thursday night.

The popular 60's - 70's recording group, The 5th

Dimension will share many of their hits from their 14 gold records and their versatile and spontaneous show with the Showboat crowd.

Saturday night will feature Christian/gospel, contemporary international recording artist, Sandi Patti.

Tickets will go on sale for all three shows on Monday April 26. There will be a $10 ticket price for Ellis' Thursday show.

Ticket prices for Friday and Saturday night will be $16 - $18 and $20.

Ticket reservations can be made prior to the April 26th date by calling 1-800-422-SHOW or 897-8280.

"This year's entertainment package is versatile and will also draw from an audience that the Showboat hasn't drawn from in the past," Low-istically Patti. Many are pop infused. Other songs on the album provide the church's new standards. Patti explains that the album has a liveliness to it." It's like it's coming from somewhere down deep inside of me that I really thought I had lost. The new album was a fresh, healing and unusually fun piece of work for me."

Although 1990 was theoretically a "year off' for rest and regrouping, Patti earned female vocalist of the year and had the children's music album of the year, "Sandi Patti and the Friendship Company."

Remarkably, Patti was named female vocalist of the year from 1982 through 1991. During that time she has had two platinum records, four gold records and one gold video. She was also Billboard

Improvements to downtown would start as early as "94

Revitalizing the Lowell Downtown area is the Downtown Development Authorities' charge.

The adoption of a $1.7 million development and tax increment financing plan by the Lowell City Council Monday night will assure that funds are there to pay for its cost.

City residents were reminded Monday night that the Council had already passed a resolution, stating it would not use a 2 mill increase in the DDA area to help finance the improvements. "Improvements will be made by Tax Increment Financing alone," reinstated City Manager Dave Pasquale.

Improvements outlined in the plan include, streetscape improvements, parking lot improvements, property acquisition and demolition, riverfront improvements, and handicap access projects.

Tax Increment Financing is a vehicle for funding the improvements. "It provides a diversion of property assessment funds, which then equate into improvements," Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale says. However, for there to be an immediate impact on the downtown area, bonding has been proposed to complete as many streetscape and parking lot improvements as soon as possible.

Pasquale noted that the property assessment roll

Board asks for clarification on sale of property to road commission

The authorization of sale of 17 feet of property to the Kent County Road Commission was tabled by the Lowell Board of Education until further clarification could be made on the possible agreement between the two entities.

Board member Charlie Kohler questioned if the school was just extending the existing right of way or if it was actually selling property.

After reading the proposal, board member and attorney, Steve Idema, said he felt it meant sale of the property.

"It isn't in any way differto the existing ent right-of-way when the school bought the land," Kohler.

In a letter to Superintendent Fritz Esch, Malcolm Balk, right-of-way buyer for the Kent County Road Commission states that the Commission would like to acquire additional right of way for the future, along Vergennes Street.

The statute right of way is 33 feet on each side. Vergennes, a primary road, requires 50 feet on each side. This requires an additional 17 feet on each side.

David Groenleer, director of engineering for the Kent County Road Commission said it was asking to acquire Magazine's "inspirational arthas been completed. The captured SEV has been reduced $259,800 from $1.3 million to 1.09 million. The new property tax/school finance reform constitutional amendment proposal would greatly impact the DDA since it would limit assessment increases to five percent or the rate of inflation, whichever is less. In 1993, the rate of inflation is three percent.

In a FAX alert sent to the City on April 1, the Michigan Municipal League stated that Tax Increment Financing is protected. However, this protection would only be extended to TIF bond obligations completed by Oct. 1. The TIF Plans would have to be Tiff, cont'd., pg. 8

Riding a groundswell of reader support for its return, th Cozy Corner is back following a three week hiatus. Perhaps groundswell is a bit of a stretch, but the young guy that runs the car wash did ask me what happened to my column. He said he likes to read about my dog. Thor will be glad to hear that.

The absence of this weekly offering was the result of a vacation that seemed way too short, but did span two Tuesdays, the day I write this stuff. It has been suggested that I could write a column or two in advance when I'm going to be gone. I always reply to this by saying, "Yeah, and when's the last time you sent a check to the I.R.S. a few months early?" That's a stupid metaphor, because one really has nothing to do with the other, except that I rank sending money to the I.R.S.

That explains two weeks. Last week was really not part of the hiatus. I almost wrote a column, which counts in my book. Here's what happened. The alarm went off at 4 a.m. I jumped out of bed, brushed my teeth, made some coffee, pulled on some clothes and drove the eight blocks to work. I got here about 5:20 a.m. That gives you some indication as to my enthusiasm. If I'd gotten up early to go fishing, I could have done all that and been over to Lake Michigan in that amount

I plunked myself down in front of the computer and fired it up. About a half hour later, after the caffeine had finally begun to kick in, I actually started to type. To my horror, I found that the computer wasn't justifying in the prescribed columns on the screen. In layman's terms, I'd type along and the words traveled across the screen, off the right side, out into space, around the back of the machine and back on to the left side of the screen. At least that's what I guessed was happening. Having no way of knowing what words were floating around here in the inner space of the Ledger office, and not trusting myself to have refrained from typing some of the profanity I had directed toward the computer, I attempted to remedy the situation.

I've been around computers in this business for a good many years. I delved into my training, experience and logic.

At a time when there are many doubts about the youth

Last week, I was asked Lowell High School to speak to them. They wanted someone from the Commercial Fertilizer Industry to speak to them about chemical fertilizers. I quickly accepted the invitation and things were all set up. Shortly after hanging up the phone the apprehension started. It had been 20 years since I had been in high school myself, so I wasn't sure what to expect when I got to class

That morning I was met promptly at the office by Jeff Danilowicz as planned. He escorted me to the classroom and we had a quick discussion of what we would go over in class. I was introduced to the class and my apprehension quickly left. I was greeted by a very polite, courteous group. During my presentation, the group was very attentive. When it was time for questions, the group had many well thought out questions and showed a real interest in learning all that they could. The "thank yous" I received when I left were many and sincere.

I decided to start by re-booting the device. For you who have no knowledge of computers, re-booting amounts to sliding your chair back, lifting one leg into a horizontal position and giving the thing a good swift kick, preferably with enough force to drive it up against the wall.

When re-booting didn't help, I'd exhausted my bag of tricks. By this time some of the staff was beginning to show up. They could have helped me with my problem, but I can't concentrate on my writing when the office is busy. Actually, I'm self-conscious of them watching me create. I'm unshaven, unkempt, swearing, talking to myself and banging things around when I'm writing. They aren't used to seeing me like that. Well ... at least they aren't used to seeing me unshaven.

That explains the third week of the hiatus. Like I said, I don't count that third week as a vacation. I did get out of bed, I did type at least part of a column. It just didn't appear in the paper. If any of you readers are really that interested in what it was about, I'm sure those electronic words are still floating around here somewhere.

Every once in awhile I manage to do what I've just done. That is, devote an entire column to complaining about writing this stuff. Consequently, I expect to get another letter from my brother-in-law criticizing me for it. He fancies himself as a writer. Just because he has a degree in journalism, was editor of his college newspaper, spent his time in the army as a public relations specialist and has published a couple of books, I don't see where that gives him the right to be critical of my stuff. After all, I did manage to struggle through English my senior year and graduate from high school.

So, there it is. Another cozy Corner is history, and my hiatus is over. I hope this makes my one man fan club at the car wash happy. Maybe if I promise to write about my dog next week he'll give me a freebie the next time through the wash, or at least give a little extra attention to the bugs on my windshield.

ATHROPHIC VAGINITIS

Atrophic Vaginitis is a condition occurring in women due to a lack of estrogenic stimulation of the vagina. This syndrome affects women after menopause or in women who have had their ovaries surgically removed. Normally, estrogen functions to maintain maturities of the vaginal walls, keeping the vagina pliable and moist. At menopause, estrogen production decreases leading to vaginal dryness and thinning of the vaginal walls. This may cause the lining of the vagina to become inflamed, dry and rough. Symptoms of atrophic vaginitis include burning, discharge and itching. Sexual intercourse may become painful. Some women may even experience difficulty or discomfort with urination.

Atrophic vaginitis is really quite simple to treat. After performing a pelvic examination to rule out other causes of vaginitis your doctor will usually prescribe an estrogen replacement program. The estrogen that your body needs can be replaced either by taking an oral estrogen or applying an estrogen cream directly into the vagina. Within a week or two the estrogen works to rebuild the thickness and integrity of the vaginal walls relieving the symptoms of atrophic vaginitis.

Estrogen replacement after menopause has been shown to be safe and effective in most women. You will need to discuss the benefits and risks with your own physician. Estrogen replacement not only alleviates symptoms of atrophic vaginitis, it also decreases your risk for osteoporosis and cardiovascular disease. Some studies have shown that estrogen replacement may possibly increase the risk of uterine and breast cancer. These risks can usually be reduced by adding a progestational hormone to the replacement program.

If you have experienced the symptoms of atrophic vaginitis or are already post-menopausal, we urge you to discuss the merits of estrogen replacement with your health care provider.

Every cause produces more than one effect. -Herbert Spencer

item #1. REQUEST TO ESTABLISH AN INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT DISTRICT (P.A. 198) - OPTEC. INC. (199 SMITH ST.) - PUBLIC HEARING. Mayor Maatman opened the public hearing to consider the establishment of an Industrial Development District to provide eligibility for tax abatement under Public Act 198 for Optec. Inc., (located at the southeast corner of Smith and Chatham) at 199 Smith Street. Gerald Persha, owner of Optec, Inc. was present. City Manager Pasquale said that the firm is in the process of seeking approval to add 1500 square feet of manufacturing space, doubling the size of the current facility. Optec plans to employ eight persons (including the owner) after completion of the construc-

During the site plan review process, Pasquale noted that the Optec property is zoned General Business. When the present building was originally constructed in 1979, the zoning was Industrial. The property appeared to have the zoning designation changed in the early 1980's. However, Persha was unaware of this. A rezoning is being petitioned through the Planning Commission. After discussing the establishment of the Industrial Development District with City Assessor James Marfia, a district may be set up as long as there is no residential or agricultural designation. This should not have an impact on the application.

No public comments were received.

Item #2. LOWELL AREA JAYCEES PROPOSAL -CONSTRUCTION OF WOODEN MULTI-STRUCTURE PLAYGROUND AT CREEKSIDE PARK. Tina Phillips, representative from the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce, requested Council support to construct a wooden playground at Creekside Park. The project would be paid through Jaycees fund raising along with assistance from the community.

Councilmember Fonger questioned if there is adequate room for the playground equipment to be installed at Creekside Park. According to Councilmember Green, the Parks Commission recommended placing the new equipment where the current playground equipment is. NAY: 0. The present structures could then be moved to a different location such as Stoney Lakeside Park. Construction is anticipated for May of 1994 after a year of various fund-raisers. Phillips added the Jaycees have been working with Robert S. Leathers and Associates, an architectural firm from New York as well as the Ionia Jaycees, who had completed a similar project Phillips stated the initial package for the playground equipment costs $650. Additionally, the Jaycees will be attending various elementary schools to receive input on the project. Councilmember Green added that at the Parks and Recreation Commission meeting, it was stressed prior to construction an agreement be drawn noting who will be maintaining the multi-structure playground

Mayor Maatman said he was involved with a similar project in Grand Ledge. It was endorsed by the entire community which resulted in a very successful project.

Costs were presented in a report prepared by Cemetery Sexton DeWayne Watson. This included: site preparation, turf construction, waterline installation and purchase of metal corner markers. The total estimate for the project is $13,460. City Manager Pasquale recommended that the City use $8000 from the sale of the walnut trees (Fall of 1988) along with $5,460 from the Unallocated

Mayor Maatman questioned if the funds from the walnut trees were to be allocated for the purchase of additional trees. Pasquale responded the funds were to be utilized for the cemetery. However, trees will continue to be purchased for this property.

Six or seven years ago, I was thumbing through some shelves in Ryerson Library in downtown Grand Rapids, when I came across a dark green book with a eerie yellow drawing of a big house, a boat with a boy and an old man in it. The title was THE CHILDREN OF GREEN KNOWE by Lucy Boston.

There is an atmosphere that words create in such a real way in this book. The dampness, the stuffiness of the old house in England where Tolly goes to visit his great-grandmother, you almost seem to tip-toe through the pages and become aware, as Tolly did, of mysterious happenings and "movings" within the house. And the great-grandmother's stories were delightful as she told them to Tolly (and me). When a fire was lit, I could almost feel its warming in that old house.

I was happy to see this book at the Lowell Library, and as I pulled it out, I heard myself saying, "Oh, THE CHILDREN OF GREEN KNOWE. How wonderful!" Reading this book for the second time now, I have found it to be even more enjoyable and exciting with its mysterious happenings than when I first read it. Toby and his pony Feste, Linnett and Alexander and his flute, these children of the seventeenth century become real once more in the stories and the playthings that the great-grandmother has stored in her mind and in her home and now shares with an absorbing great-grandchild

This is an excellent book for family reading or classroom reading time, and for a summer treat you just can't beat sitting down with THE CHILDREN OF GREEN KNOWE. This book is enjoyable for ages from 10 years old to adult.

ORDINANCE 93-2

A proposal to amend ordinance Section 201.202 in order to define front, rear and side yards; and Section 201,402 in order to regulate the placement of accessory buildings. The present ordinance does not specify the location of such buildings. The proposed amendments if adopted, will not permit location of an accessory building in a front yard, except that in the Rural-Agricultural District on parcels larger than three acres an accessory building to be used for certain permitted agricultural purposes may be allowed provided that setback requirements are met.

ORDINANCE 93-3

A proposed new ordinance section (Section 81.100) to establish the office of ordinance enforcement officer for Vergennes Township. Upon authorization by the Township Board such an officer would be responsible to the Township Supervisor or other designated Board member, and would carry out duties including investigation of apparent violations of the ordinances, serving notice of such violations and, if necessary, serving court appearance tickets as authorized under Michigan law

The full texts of the proposed ordinances may be reviewed at the Township Hall from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Written comments will also be considered if received by the Township clerk by 7:00 p.m. on April 28, 1993.

VERGENNES TOWNSHIP NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Vergennes Township Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, April 28, 1993 at 7:00 p.m. at the Vergennes Township Hall, 10381 Bailey Dr. The purpose of the hearing is to receive public comments on three proposed amendments to the Vergennes Township Ordinances, as follows:

ORDINANCE 93-1

This proposed ordinance would amend existing ordinance Sections 201.202 V, lot area; 201.202 X, lot depth; and 201.202 CC, lot width in order to clarify and standardize determination of lot depth and lot width measurements. At present ordinance requirements vary between zoning districts in procedures for determining lot width and in prescribing an exact procedure for determining lot depth.

The present minimum lot areas and lot widths for each zoning district are unchanged, except that "lot width," presently omitted from the appropriate sections for the Flat River, commercial and Industrial Districts, has been added to clarify that for these districts lot width is either dependent upon the width requirement for the primary or underlying district (Flat River) or the width requirement

Shannon Bennett crowned the new Showboat queen

Over 100 people attended the pageant; joining Bennett on the court were Dana Tindall & Kelly Jo Cichon

"Right now I feel as if I could tackle the world and do just about anything," said an elated Shannon Danyel Bennett, the newly crowned 1993 Miss Lowell Showboat.

The 16-year old junior at Lowell High School was one of 11 area girls vying for the crown Saturday night at the Lowell Middle School.

Bennett was attired in a Black velvet top with a white, satin, lace floor length bottom as she was crowned the 1993 Lowell Showboat Queen by the 1992 Queen Heather Haynes.

Bennett, the daughter of Keith and Diane Bennett of 11344 36th St., credited Forensics in helping prepare her for speaking in front of people.

The Forensics experience was helpful to Bennett in answering the two questions posed to her by Gordon Gould, master of ceremonies. The questions were of local and national importance

In being asked to define the Showboat, Bennett said it was a community event which provided time for the community to come together and celebrate.

Her second question was what she thought was the biggest problem facing teenagers today. "I think it is peer pressure. It's a problem because I believe it influences teenagers to do drugs and alcohol." She added that only education could help students learn to say no.

The girls were interviewed during the day by the four judges, previous Showboat Court members and Queens, Teresa Beachum, Karlene Redder, Rebecca Hovey and Jody Smith.

The 1993 Lowell Showboat second runner-up was Lowell senior Dana Marie Tindall, daughter of Rich and Barb Tindall of 1804 Woodrun.

Kelly JoCichon was named first runner-up. She is the daughter of Terry and Colleen

Cichon of 9022 3 Mile Rd. in Ada.

Bennett was initially encouraged to enter the contest by her parents. "I was skeptical at first. I didn't expect to have enough confidence to do it," she said. "Then I decided to enter and to have fun and do the best that I could without making a fool of myself."

As Queen, Bennett will be asked to represent the Lowell Showboat at community events and parades.

Haynes, the reigning 1992 queen, said her year as queen was fun and that she enjoyed representing the community. "I would do it all over again," Queen. she explained. Haynes is currently a freshman at Western Michigan University where she is studying education (mathematics).

Bennett said the most nervous part of the pageant was waiting before answering her questions. "The interviews prior to the pageant were nice, the judges made you feel at ease," she said.

The 16-year old credited her mother as someone she has looked up to. "My Mom and I are best of friends. She
