Still The Champions!

Sarah Hall puts on her 17th green of the day at the North Kent Golf Course on Monday, the site of the O-K White Conference Golf Meet. Lowell's girls came home with their third straight league title.

Curriculums Supported

VanAntwerp questions board's consistency in dealing with curriculum

Resolutions supporting drama outcomes and the K-12 computer curriculum were approved by the Lowell School Board.

One carried with it no additional financial costs, the other will require specialized staff before it can be implemented.

A year ago, the School Board approved a resolution supporting a visual arts curriculum for grades 6-12. It did not support the elementary curriculum, since instructors weren't in place to implement it.

The same thought process was used in Board Vice President, Chris Van Antwerp's vote not to support K-12 Computer Curriculum.

"A year ago this Board only approved the 6-12 fine arts curriculum since teachers were not in place to implement the curriculum at the elementary level," VanAntwerp said. The vice president believes that since specialized staff is not in place to implement the computer curriculum that the adoption of its curriculum should also have been

Concerns levied about transient merchants' length of stay

Transient merchants are defined as those who conduct a retail business engaged temporarily in goods, wares, and merchandise.

The City of Lowell defines temporary as anything between a day and six months.

Charlie Bernard, owner of Bernard's True Value Hardware, defines transient merchant as someone who is able to escape the scrutiny, codes and costs incurred by those merchants doing a permanent business in Lowell.

"Permanent businesses like mine are under the scrutiny of all the codes, requirements and costs before our business is even open," Bernard said. "A transient merchant comes into town, sets up a tent or structure, pays $50 and can be here up to six months. That is not a level table."

Don Garvin, Cornerstone Landscaping had some of the same concerns. "Six months I believe is a pretty healthy season. Why be commercially zoned when you can pay $50 and run a business for six months. I believe there needs to be codes on the length of time a transient merchant can do business."

Garvin believes six months is more permanent than transient.

City Manager Dave Pasquale said the concerns have been brought before the City Council. He added that the Council is looking at making amendments to the ordinance for temporary buildings. "This will be discussed at the June 7 meeting," Pasquale said. "The main concern the council will be looking at is the length of time a transient merchant is given."

Bernard said one of the subtleties of the transient merchant is that in most cases the money is taken out of town. "Most people understand that when they spend money locally, the money goes back into supporting Lowell," Bernard said. He doesn't believe that is the case with most transient merchants.

Both Bernard and Garvin made it clear they have problems with the area farmer coming into town to sell corn and other vegetables and produce type items.

"When a transient merchant begins bringing in skids of merchandise, than I think they put themselves in the same category as permanent businessmen," Bernard said.

Currently in the City of Lowell a transient merchant is allowed to have a license for no more than 180 consecutive days. Once that allotted time has expired they must wait another 180 days before re-applying for another license.

City attorney Dick Wendt said Lowell's length of license for transient merchants is longer than in most other cities.

Pasquale said the number of licensed transient merchants in the Lowell fluctuates.

"It's not my desire to uproot competition, I just want a level table," emphasizes Bernard. "Permanent businesses pay thousands of dollars in taxes, transient merchants skate into town, pay $50 and run a business for six months."

Pasquale said the Council can, if it so desires, make amendment to the ordinance, but those amendments would not go into affect until 1994.

Students celebrate D.A.R.E. graduation with the universal language of music

A vast majority of schools in West Michigan have Drug Abuse Resistance Education programs in place for their fifth-grade students.

On Friday four Bushnell fifth-grade classes received their graduation certificates after completing the 17-week program.

Helping to make this event special and unique was the integrating of a music program to go along with the DARE graduation program.

"I was overwhelmed," said DARE instructor Jim Valentine. "Rachel Niemi, music director, and the students put forth a tremendous effort. This is the first time I've ever seen something like this done at a DARE graduation program," Valentine said. "The fifth-grade teachers also deserve credit for the work they did with students during home room."

The musical part of the program was called "Forever

Free." It is described as an "edutainment" musical review. Niemi says the goal of the program is to help kids stay drug free, while they discover the natural high induced by their active involvement in music education.

State Trooper Mike Nelson was so impressed by the uniqueness of the program he asked for a video so that he could show it at a training seminar.

Niemi says she would like to do something similar next year. "I enjoyed integrating music into the DARE program," Niemi said. The Bushnell music teacher is also writing the State in hopes of gaining some grant money.

Niemi got the actual music selections for the program through a music publication entitled "Helping Kids Say No to Drugs and Alcohol."

"The students were great. Everybody had a role. It was D.A.R.E., cont'd., pg. 30

Emmons updates Showboat Board on arson & vandalism investigation

Lowell Police Chief Barry Emmons told the Lowell Showboat Board Monday night that he has received confessions from two of the juveniles responsible for the vandalism on the Lowell Showboat.

Emmons suggested to the board that it consider a motion light for the Showboat and get volunteers to take turns checking the boat periodically throughout the week. "This is something I believe needs to be done year-round," Emmons said. "The vandalism the boat has incurred has been done over a 2-4 month period of time."

Emmons believes that this, and a current policy to arrest any non-Showboat personnel found on the boat, for trespassing, will help to stop the vandalism.

"The pamphlets that the Showboat has handed out to area residents and merchants are working. People have been calling," Emmons said. "Kids at the high school level have come forth with information. They are upset that the vandalism jeopardized the school being able to use the amphitheatre for graduation."

Emmons also suggested strongly to the Showboat

Board that, if convictions are obtained, it should pursue retribution from the juveniles' parents.

The cost to repair the damage caused by the vandalism and the fire total nearly $10,000.

Those interested in making a donation toward the Showboat's repair can send or drop off money at the Lowell Ledger office in care of Showboat President Thad Kraus.

Cash donations and donations of doors, paint and other items have been forthcoming. Kraus said the Showboat Board is extremely grateful for the donations.

There will be a volunteer clean-up crew on Saturday, starting at 10 a.m. The clean-up will be supervised by Showboat maintenance director, Louie D'Agostino.

Petroleum provides nearly half the energy used in the world.

Ogden Martin donates dollars for lab equipment

Ogden Martin Systems of Kent, Inc. has donated $4,000 for the purchase of a gas chromatograph to be used by Chemistry students at Grand Rapids Community College.

In cooperation with Ogden Martin, students from several Chemistry 101 classes have been visiting the County waste-to-energy facility for the past three years as part of their lab studies. Ogden has introduced the students to municipal solid waste management including waste-to-energy and recycling.

Over 700 students have toured the facility. "We are proud to be a part of the community, scholastically and environmentally, and to assist in the education of present and future students of the Physical Sciences," says John Fix, Manager-Facility Administration, Ogden. "The education of our students with the latest technology available will allow them to enter industry as productive individuals while encouraging them to use their knowledge to preserve our environment for future generations," he added.

The new chromatograph will be used to design classroom problems for the study of environmental gases. "It's exciting to see this kind of contribution made to the Liberal Arts discipline," remarked Roger DeVries, Physical Science-Division Chair, Grand Rapids Community College. "In addition to the environmental application, we recently had the State Police forensic lab chemists here working with the students to identify and analyze narcotics," he continued.

"This is an excellent example of a dedicated Division Chair building a long-standing relationship with a partner in industry, and an outstanding commitment by Ogden Martin to participate in the quality of the science education we provide for our young people today," says Richard Calkins, President, Grand Rapids Community College.

Ogden Martin operates the Kent County Waste-to-Energy Facility, which converts municipal solid waste into steam and electrical energy for sale to Consumers Power Company for use in heating and cooling buildings in downtown Grand Rapids.

Established in 1914, Grand Rapids Community College offers a variety of liberal arts and pre-professional curricula, extensive work force training and technical seminars to provide the community with lifelong educational experiences.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven (Matthew 5:16).

Headlights on a car are a must if one travels on the highways after nightfall. They light up the way so the driver can see where he is going and avoid any obstructions in his path. It is an extremely dangerous thing to be caught out on the road after dark without them. Taillights on a car are equally important. They keep the other vehicles on the highway from colliding with us from behind. Without them, we not only endanger ourselves, but the oncoming travelers, as well. Christians, we have a duty. We have been commissioned to let our light shine before men that all may see our good works and thereby glorify the Father which is in heaven. We are urged to be true lights in a darkened world. By living consistent Christian lives, we can avoid being stumbling blocks to others. Spiritual laxity on the part of any one of us may cause another harm, but setting the right example will guide others to the right. We can be blessings in this world, providing we "keep the lights turned on."

My life always ring true. May I set the right example for others to follow. Grant that my light will shine through my actions, attitudes, and words. Amen.

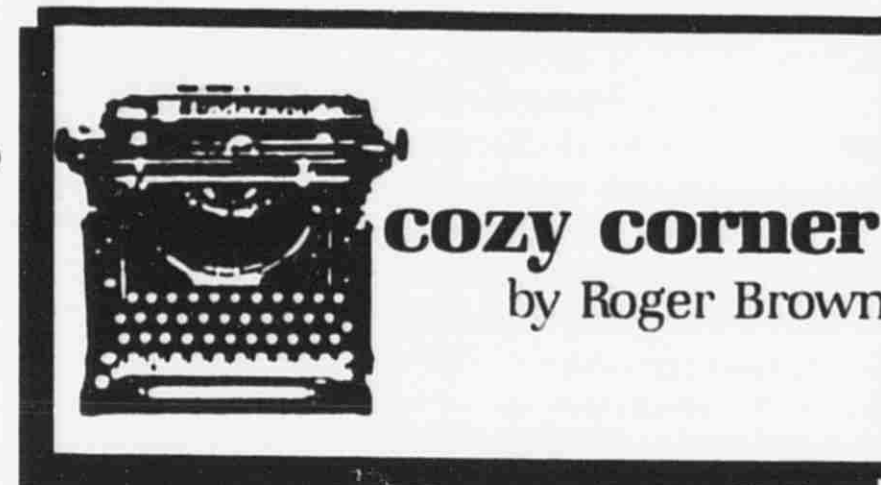

I do not ask for mighty words. To leave the crowd impressed. But grant my life may ring so true, My neighbor may be blessed.

Prayer: O Lord, make me a blessing to all I meet. May

Viewpoint

I went to a fly-in at the Coldwater Airport Sunday morning. These fly-ins, or dawn patrols, as some people call them, are held at various airports throughout the summer months. Most are held on Sunday mornings for the primary purpose of giving pilots a good excuse to skip church along with the fishing and golfing crowd.

The procedure is something akin to fishing. You get up in the pre-dawn hours, rummage around in the dark for socks and underwear, finally give up and turn on the lights, wake your spouse and take some verbal abuse for doing so. Eventually, you head out the door wearing one brown sock, one argyle and your boxers on backward.

My daughter had said she wanted to ride along, so after showering and making a pot of coffee, I woke her up. This was about a quarter to six, and Angie is the type who joyfully sleeps 'til the crack of noon. Needless to say, I didn't get a very warm reception, especially when I coaxed our 100 pound retriever onto her bed to lick her into consciousness.

When she vacillated about whether or not to go, I told her to be at the airport by a quarter to seven if she was going. I left to roll the plane out, and wondered where I could find a bookie at that hour. I'd have bet anything, right down to my unmatched socks, that she wouldn't show.

It was getting light at the airport as I rolled my 1941 Stearman out of the hangar. A friend who was flying his 1946 Taylorcraft to the same fly-in, drove across the field to tell me he'd called flight service and they were forecasting light showers in the Coldwater area with steady improvement as the day wore on. We decided to go, even though we'd both spent untold hours washing our airplanes. We agreed to take off at 7:00, and I nearly dropped my un-matched socks when Angie pulled up right on time.

The temperature was in the upper forties and my Stearman is an open cockpit biplane, very short on amenities. That means, no heater. I slipped into my insulated coveralls, and Angie assured me she was dressed warmly enough. As we were taxiing out, I realized I'd forgotten to grab a pair of gloves. Upper forties doesn't sound too bad, but when you factor in a ninety mile per hour slipstream and a prop blast, the wind chill is about two degrees. About five minutes into the hour long flight we were both froze. I flew by alternately sitting on one bare hand, while holding the stick with the other.

After what seemed like an eternity, we landed in a drizzling rain in Coldwater, a perfect name for a cold and rainy place. I was so cold and stiff I was concerned about working the controls to land. I bounced my landing accordingly. Fortunately, with the rotten weather, there weren't many pilots standing around outside to judge landings.

I couldn't get inside that warm hangar, and next to a cup of coffee fast enough. The Coldwater fly-in usually attracts a hundred airplanes or more. The lousy weather kept this year's attendance at about two dozen. In the hangar were the pilots and passengers from the airplanes, the volunteers working the breakfast, local curiosity seekers and those folks who show up for all the pancakes you can eat at a bargain price. They're easy to pick out, as they have to sit on opposite sides and ends of the picnic tables to keep it from flipping over.

After breakfast, we braved the elements long enough to wander the flight line looking at the different aircraft. Most were "Spam cans," or newer model tricycle gear airplanes constructed of aluminum. Those of us who fly antique fabric covered taildraggers look upon "Spam cans" about the same way fly fishermen look upon people who fish with a worm, sinker and bobber. But, they do have weathertight cabins and efficient heaters. That's probably why there were more of them than antiques.

I decided that a pair of gloves were essential for the trip home. While on the flight line I noticed the warmly dressed volunteer directing taxiing aircraft. I tried to talk my group into helping me roll him for his warm looking gloves, no takers. They had gloves.

Back in the hangar I wandered about, poking around on and under the various work benches in search of gloves. I eventually scored a right hand white jersey glove and a very greasy yellow fuzzy glove, also for the right hand.

Remember how your mother always told you to wear clean underwear in case you were in an accident? Well, I'm darned glad I didn't crash on the way home. I'd have been quite the laughing stock at the morgue with one brown sock, one argyle, my boxers on backward and mis-matched greasy gloves with a right handed one on my left hand.

Other areas got tornadoes, but Lowell had a windstorm Thursday night that took down multitudes of power lines, trees, outbuildings and even moved three boxcars off their side track onto the main lines, headed toward Saranac.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ABOUT CARPAL TUNNEL SYNDROME

If you have been experiencing tingling or numbness in your hand, a pain that extends from your hand to as high as your shoulder, or any combination of these three symptoms, your doctor might tell you that you have a condition called carpal tunnel syndrome. Wrist bones form a tunnel in the arm, which is covered by a protective band of tissue called a ligament. Within this tunnel are the median nerve, the sensory fiber that travels from your forearm to your wrist, and nine tendons that connect to bones. These tendons are the primary mechanisms that enable you to move your fingers and thumbs. The tendons are surrounded by synovium, a membrane that lubricates the tendons. Injury and other conditions can cause the synovium to swell, resulting in pressure on the median nerve.

Q: What causes carpal tunnel syndrome?
A: Although the source of carpal tunnel syndrome is not always discovered, specific actions and conditions are known to cause it. These include what is often called "overuse injury," wherein a person repeats an action that involves grasping with the hands or bending of the wrist. For example, a person who checks out groceries repeats these movements several times in one hour. Also, conditions that produce swelling—broken or dislocated wrist bones, arthritis, an imbalance of the thyroid gland, hormone changes that occur during menopause and pregnancy, and diabetes—can cause carpal tunnel syndrome.

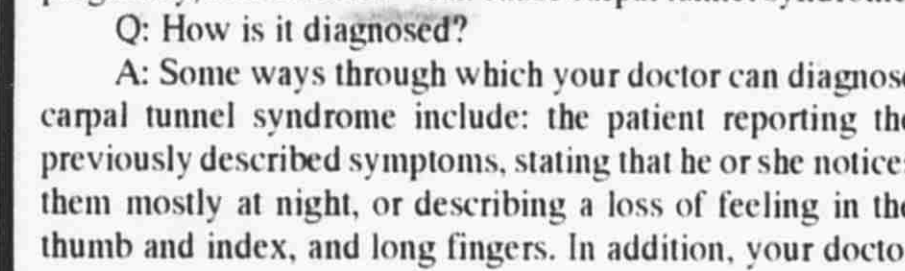

Q: How is it diagnosed?
A: Some ways through which your doctor can diagnose carpal tunnel syndrome include: the patient reporting the previously described symptoms, stating that he or she notices them mostly at night, or describing a loss of feeling in the thumb and index, and long fingers. In addition, your doctor might tap the area from your forearm to your wrist. If you have carpal tunnel syndrome, you might feel a tingling similar to what you feel when you hit your "funny bone." If your doctor holds your wrists bent downward for 1 minute or longer, you might experience the symptoms of the condition. Laboratory testing also can reveal an underlying cause, such as a thyroid condition or diabetes. In some cases, the doctor requests further testing to confirm the diagnosis. In these cases, the patient undergoes a nerve conduction study, which is performed by another specialist.

Q: How is it treated?
A: Treatment of carpal tunnel syndrome that is discovered in the early stages usually relieves pain and the tingling sensation. Your doctor may prescribe a brace or splint to be worn during the night. By keeping your wrist immobile, the swelling in the synovial membrane decreases, thus reducing the pressure on the median nerve. Your doctor also might prescribe medication to reduce swelling. These medications include nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, which, as their name implies, reduce inflammation. In more severe cases, a drug known as cortisone can be injected directly into the carpal tunnel to alleviate the pressure of the synovium on the median nerve.

Outpatient surgery, during which a surgeon cuts the ligament that serves as the "roof" of the tunnel, is performed in severe cases when bracing and medication do not provide relief.

"INHERITANCE TAX IS ONE TAX TOO MUCH"

Capitol Commentary

By: Dick Posthumus

"Only two things in life are certain, death and taxes"...better than many others living in the United States. Why? Because not only are Michigan citizens taxed both when they earn and later spend their money, but they are also taxed when they die and pass their savings on to those they leave behind.

The inheritance tax unfairly chips away at the nest eggs many families want to pass on to their children. That inheritance may be the down payment on a first home or perhaps the beginning of a college savings account. The tax also unfairly burdens smaller estates and drives senior citizens out of the state.

A son or a daughter who is promised the family home upon a parent's passage might be forced to quickly sell that home for less than fair market value simply to pay the inheritance taxes on it. Though the first $10,000 of assets are exempt from the tax, the average Michigan home is worth about $85,000. So a son or daughter who wants that home will have to pay four percent in taxes within 105 days of the death of a parent...in cash.

Perhaps Michigan residents understand that old saying...

This can be devastating for children who have their own expenses. Not only might that home have held precious memories, but it might also represent the only opportunity for a son or daughter to own a home.

Stepchildren are not treated equally by the tax, either. They pay significantly more in taxes than their non-step siblings...starting at a rate of 12 percent and spanning as high as 17 percent.

Not only does the current inheritance tax bite into a child's inheritance, but it also falls more heavily on smaller estates than large ones. While the federal tax applies only to estates of $600,000 and larger, Michigan's inheritance tax starts at estates valued at $10,001 on up.

Nearly two-thirds of the other states do not have inheritance taxes. Rather, many use the federal pickup tax, which Michigan would switch to under a bill currently before the Michigan Legislature. The bill would exempt the first $600,000 of an estate from taxes, leaving assets beyond that subject to the pickup tax.

Under a pickup system, an estate's total tax bill would not exceed that amount of the federal estate tax. The estate would deduct the maximum credit that the federal government allows for a state's death tax and pay that amount to the state. It's called a "pickup" tax since the state "picks up" not more than the amount of the federal credit.

Besides looking at the fairness angle, we have to look at the tax from an economic standpoint. The fact is, Michigan loses valuable dollars in investments, spending and assets under the tax because many seniors choose to leave this state to spend their final years in states where there are no inheritance taxes.

This is a significant loss.

People aged 50 and older in the United States hold 77 percent of the nation's personal financial assets, 80 percent of all money in savings accounts and nearly 50 percent of all corporate stocks. These older citizens also have more than $160 billion in discretionary income, and they spend 90 percent of their incomes locally on goods and services. When these people move, they take their income and assets with them...to other states.

In 1989, economist David Littman stated that said Michigan's net population loss to Florida is nearly 16,000 annually. "Disincentifying these individuals and firms with high taxation is tantamount to disenfranchising them in Michigan...they vote with feet, dollars and word of mouth. States like Michigan emerge as losers...silent losers."

We are moving forward to solve this problem, making Michigan a better place to live, work and invest in.

There are two cardinal sins from which all the others spring: impatience and laziness. —Franz Kafka

Item #1. N. HUDSON STREET SIDEWALK IMPROVEMENTS - CONSIDERATION TO ESTABLISH SPECIAL ASSESSMENT DISTRICT - PUBLIC HEARING. Mayor Maatman opened the public hearing. City Manager Pasquale stated that notices were sent to the Hudson Street property owners for the purpose of receiving comments on a proposed special assessment district. A total of 31 parcels covering 3200 lineal feet of new sidewalk were proposed along the N. Hudson St. right of way. Additionally, three parcels encompassing 208 lineal feet for replacement. Pasquale added there was one parcel at 403 Hunt that does have a sidewalk and will need to be deleted from the roll.

Pasquale said that upon receiving comments from the property owners, the Council may consider adopting a resolution directing the City to obtain bids for constructing new sidewalks and prepare a special assessment roll. At that point, a second hearing is held.

Several residents were present to express their concern regarding the proposed sidewalk project. These included Helen McMahon (525 N. Hudson), Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Walters (606 Riverside), Roger Brown (724 Riverside), Arvil Heilman (1042 N. Hudson), Mr. and Mrs. Dan Phillips (1028 N. Hudson), Richard Brown (718 Riverside), Patrick Serne (1067 N. Hudson), and Jeanne Shores (315 Spring). Some of the concerns expressed included: sidewalks along Hudson would be an increased safety hazard for children; it would ruin the aesthetic quality of homes along the street with the removal of trees and shrubs; questioned whether or not there was a definite need for the sidewalks.

Judy Noonon (911 N. Hudson) and Evelyn Roudabush (961 N. Hudson) supported the project noting the need for pedestrian safety. As participants in the previous sidewalk program, they felt that the City should follow through with the nonwalks.

Gerald Persha, a former resident of Lowell and Owner of Optec, Inc. felt that sidewalks would greatly improve the City of Lowell.

Steve Doyle (706 Riverside Dr.) felt the City should incur the entire cost of the sidewalks along Hudson as they would be a benefit to the entire town.

Roger Gillespie (612 N. Hudson) questioned whether he could do his own work. Pasquale said yes, subject to conditions.

Councilmember Thompson stated that the Council has a responsibility to give the residents of the town a safe place to walk.

Pasquale added that two letters were received from Clinton and Dorothy Christoff, 624 Riverside and Roger Raymor, 950 N. Hudson. Both letters were in opposition of the proposed sidewalk project.

Mayor Maatman closed the public hearing. Councilmember Green felt sidewalks increase the value of the City as well as enhance safety for pedestrians.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by FONGER to adopt a resolution to obtain bids for constructing new and replacement sidewalks and prepare a special assessment roll for N. Hudson, deleting 403 Hunt.

Item #2. REQUEST FOR REZONING - OPTEC, INC. 199 SMITH STREET (SOUTHEAST CORNER OF SMITH AND CHATHAM) - FROM GENERAL BUSINESS (C-2) TO INDUSTRIAL (I-1) RECOMMENDATION FROM THE PLANNING COMMISSION. City Manager Pasquale stated Gerald Persha, owner of Optec, Inc. (199 Smith Street) has proposed to double the size of his current facility. During the site plan review process by the Planning Commission, it was noted that the property was zoned General Business.

On April 26, the Commission held a public hearing to consider industrial zoning for the property. At which time, no public comments were received and the Commission voted unanimously to recommend to the City Council that the property be rezoned to Industrial. Additionally, the site plan was approved.

Gerald Persha, owner of Optec, Inc. reminded the Council that the lot was originally zoned Industrial and rezoned to General Business in the early 1980's. Persha mentioned that he was unaware of the action taken at that time.

Charles Bernard, owner of Bernard's True Value (1601 W. Main), expressed his support in favor of rezoning Optec, Inc. to Industrial.

IT WAS MOVED BY THOMPSON and seconded by GREEN to adopt an ordinance rezoning the property located at 199 Smith from General Business (C-2) to Industrial (I-1).

Item #3. POLICE LABOR CONTRACT - WAGE RE-OPENER. City Manager Pasquale stated the City is entering into the second year of a three year labor agreement with the Lowell Police Officers Association. This year has a wage re-opener clause whereby only salaries need to be negotiated. An agreement was reached raising salaries 4% for all levels of the Police Officers as well as the Sergeant position. As adopted in the Police Contract last year, the equivalent of an added 1% of anticipated wage increases are contributed toward the upgraded MERS retirement plan.

IT WAS MOVED BY THOMPSON and seconded by HODGES to approve the salary adjustments for the Police Officer and Sergeant positions as proposed amending the police labor contract for fiscal year 1993-94.

Item #4. WATER SYSTEM IMPROVEMENTS FINANCING: AUTHORIZATION INVOLVING SPECIAL ASSESSMENT AND REVENUE BONDS. City Attorney Richard Wendt presented an outline of actions needed to provide bond financing for the northeast water system improvements. These include the booster pump station, Grindle St. and James St. water mains as well as paying for engineering costs related to the West Side water improvements.

Wendt explained, by adopting the authorizing resolution, an application can be sent to the Michigan Department of Treasury for the Grindle St. special assessment district in addition to a James St. parcel for water improvements, amounting to $56,000.

IT WAS MOVED BY GREEN and seconded by FONGER to approve the resolution authorizing City Manager Pasquale to file an application with the Michigan Department of Treasury for special assessment bonds in the amount of $56,000.

Additionally, Wendt mentioned that an ordinance must be approved authorizing the issuance of $525,000 of water revenue bonds. From the proceeds, the bond will reimburse the City General and Water Funds for the northeast water improvements $425,000 already undertaken and $100,000 to help to initiate a fund for debt reserve as well as paying engineering costs for the westside project. Wendt added that the special assessments will be financed at one percent above the average interest rate of the bonds. He said that Council approval is required for publication of an official notice of sale and approval of the bids requires three Councilmembers to be present. By consensus, a meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, June 2, 1993 at 5:30 p.m. to consider approval of bids by Council.

IT WAS MOVED BY HODGES and seconded by THOMPSON to support the resolution authorizing the issuance of special assessment bonds and publication of an official notice of sale.

YEA: 5.

Financing for the northeast water system to stem from bonds and assessments

The Lowell City Council's authorization for special assessment and revenue bonds to provide bond financing for the northeast water system improvements will include an increase of the readiness to serve charge for water.

City Attorney Richard Wendt said the special assessments and revenue bonds outlined are needed to provide financing for the northeast water system improvements (booster pump station, Grindle and James St. water mains), as well as paying for engineering costs related to the west side water improvements.

Finances for the northeast water improvements amidst the construction of the booster pump station will be borrowed from other accounts.

The City had hoped to tie that in with the west side improvements, instead those improvements will come next spring.

The Council took action to approve a resolution authorizing the filing of the Notice of Intent to Issue an Obligation with the Michigan Department of treasury for a 15-year special assessment bonds ($56,000) at Grindle and James Streets.

It also approved a resolution authorizing the issuance of special assessment bonds and publication of an official notice of sale.

The third action taken by the Council was to approve an ordinance authorizing the issuance of $525,000 of water revenue bonds. The bonds would be issued for 25 years. Of that $525,000 total, $100,000 will be used to help fund the debt reserve fund and pay for engineering costs for the west side project.

Wendt also asked that the Council update the deficit elimination plan for the cable television budget in order to secure state approval to sell bonds.

Pasquale said it was originally projected that the deficit would be eliminated in 1992, that was amended to June 1993.

Wendt noted that the City should anticipate receiving the proceeds on June 16. All City funds then should be replenished prior to the end of the fiscal year.

ITEM #5. EXCHANGE OF PROPERTY INVOLVING LOWELL CITY AIRPORT. During the course of completing the Airport Master Plan, the Michigan Aeronautics Bureau noted that the main runway (12-30) required a 250 foot overall width necessary to gain Class C status. One location along the runway did not meet this standard. This property is owned by Stephen and Gail Hohbach of 12936 Vergennes.

Pasquale said that after negotiations with the Hohbachs and the Airport Board, it was determined to consider an exchange of property. The City would receive land of 16,551 s.f. in exchange for a 33' wide X 720' parcel to provide driveway access to Vergennes Rd.

Pasquale explained, upon Council approval, the deeds would be reviewed by City Attorney Richard Wendt to ensure that no restrictions are involved.

IT WAS MOVED BY THOMPSON and seconded by FONGER to approve an exchange of property providing the Lowell City Airport runway 12-30 to attain a 250 foot overall width in exchange for Stephen and Gail Hohbach (12936 Vergennes) to receive a 33' wide X 720' future driveway to Vergennes Road.

Item #8. CITIZENS COMMENTS. Charles Bernard, owner of Bernard's True Value, expressed his concern over the issuance of a transient merchant permit to a garden facility located on West Main (Two Seasons). He felt there is unfairness as this business has grown. There is no requirement to adhere with the same guidelines as permanent businesses. These include: appropriate setbacks, safety features, building codes and the rules set forth by the Planning Commission and City Council.

Pasquale stated the structure has been inspected by the Police Chief, Fire Chief, Building Inspector and City Attorney Richard Wendt in terms of the legality of the structure. Upon these inspections, the business has been found to be in compliance with the transient merchant requirements.

Wendt mentioned that the transient merchant ordinance allows a business to operate for not more than 180 consecutive days. Upon 180 days the merchant cannot renew their license for an additional 180 days. The business in question is in need of a current sales tax license as well as permission from the property owners that house the structure. Additionally, Wendt said that the Council must determine what the appropriate length of time for transient merchants to operate in the City.

Pasquale stated a recommendation will be presented at the next Council meeting regarding transient merchants.

Jeanne Shores, 315 Spring, suggested the possibility of reopening Lincoln Lake from the diversers constructed in the street several years ago. She felt that it would help the traffic situation on Hudson.

Item #9. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Thompson requested the police department to continue to monitor speeding of vehicular traffic along Hudson St. Police Chief Barry Emmons responded the average speed along Hudson is 35 - 36 m.p.h. The Michigan Department of Transportation recommended raising the speed limit to 35 m.p.h. Emmons felt there is a definite need for sidewalks on Hudson in order to accommodate the children walking to school. Additionally, he mentioned the need for cross-walks.

Councilmember Hodges mentioned that the Cable TV Fund is in a good financial position. Councilmember Green stated that the Council should consider a sidewalk program for West Main Street.

Item #10. CITY MANAGER'S REPORT. A. City Manager Pasquale said at its regular meeting of April 26, the Planning Commission reviewed the six requests for proposal from planning consultants to perform the Development Management Program (new comprehensive plan, recreation plan, updated zoning and subdivision ordinances). The Commission, having completed evaluations of the consultants, wishes to meet with the Council to decide which firms will be interviewed.

Pasquale added the Planning Commission requests that a meeting be established on either Wednesday, May 5 or Tuesday, May 11 at 7 p.m. Further discussion at the meeting will include the Bowes Road relocation project with the Council in order to have a common understanding on the future direction of the project. The Consensus of the Council was to meet Saturday, May 8 at 8:00 a.m.

B. City Manager Pasquale said the Planning Commission reviewed the following items at the April 26 meeting:

- received a report that Enterprise Rent-A-Car will establish a local office at Zeigler Ford within two weeks. Therefore, a proposal to locate at the old Drake Station on East Main has been dropped.
- approved the site plan and recommended rezoning for Optec, Inc.
- established a public hearing for May 24 to consider rezoning the Roll Away property located at 805 E. Main from Residential to General Business.
- provide an initial review of a site plan to construct a Quick Oil Change Center on the south side of West Main Street just west of the Valley Vista Trailer Park.

A public hearing to consider a special use permit has been set for May 24.

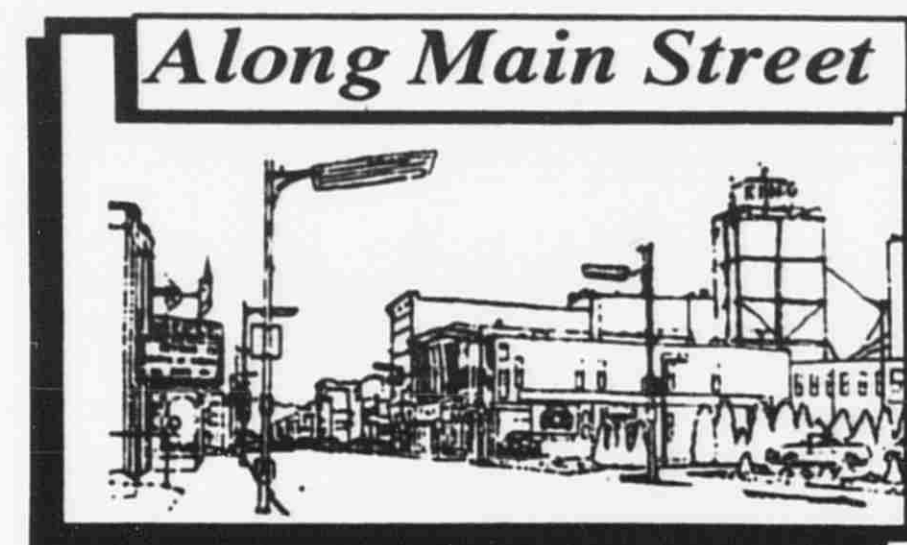

The minutes of the March 22 Planning Commission meeting were presented.

C. A copy of the March Financial Report was presented.

OFF THE BLOTTER
A 14 year old, from Middleville, was slightly injured May 12 when he was struck by a car, driven by a 16 year old, on Foreman Road near the railroad crossing.
Nelson Ruiz, 50, of Lowell struck the corner of the Shell Gas Station, May 10, at Hudson and Main Street when his vehicle suffered brake failure. No one was injured.
William Newell, 34, of Saranac, was involved in a property damage accident, May 10, when his car was struck in the rear, at Main and Hudson Street, by a vehicle driven by Larric Tuomela, 20, of Lowell.

Arrested by Lowell officers for disorderly conduct, creating a disturbance, May 9, was Hassan Dnayn, 39, of Warren. Arrested May 11, on a warrant for failure to appear in court, was Timothy Stepek, 26, of Alto.

Arrested May 11 for assault and battery and hindering and opposing a police officer was Mark Feutz, 17, of Lowell. Theodore Feuerstein, 31, of Saranac, was involved in an injury accident May 14 on Main near Ridgeview Drive when his vehicle struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Michael Barnick, 28, of Wyoming, MI. Barnick sustained minor injuries. The force of the impact sent Barnick's car into the rear of a car driven by Warren Johnson, 46, of Lowell. A six year old passenger in Feuerstein's vehicle also sustained minor injuries.

Norman McFaden, 31, of Lowell could not stop in time to avoid hitting a vehicle driven by Deborah Manico, 23, of Grand Rapids, who sustained minor injuries, on M-21 near Ridgeview Drive May 14.

Glen Groeneng, 38, of Lowell was involved in a property damage accident, on West Main near Ridgeview May 14, when his vehicle was struck from behind by Joshua Fuller, 17, of Ada.

Roger Stelma, 28, of Sparta, was arrested by Lowell officers May 16 on a warrant issued out of a Grand Rapids District Court.

Jeffrey Fallstrom, 32, of Lowell, was involved in an injury accident in a private drive on East Main Street, May 8, when he ran over the foot of Janet Borkowski, 20, of Lowell.

Alfred Nemy, 62, of East Grand Rapids was involved in a property damage accident, May 13, when he struck a car driven by Kristine Moore, 35, of Lyons. Moore's vehicle then struck a pickup truck driven by Alfred Wandell, 63, of Muir on West Main near Ridgeview Drive.

"Because of the lack of understanding, acceptance and knowledge of the fine arts, people don't know of its importance," Van Antwerp said.
As an example of how important the visual arts are, VanAntwerp notes that a freshman flunks a calculus test because he/she is unable to envision in his/her head three dimension and is unable to mentally take an object and move it around in his head. "The same type scenario takes place in physics classes," VanAntwerp said. "Visual arts can enhance classroom settings if integrated into classrooms the way it should be." He concludes by saying that the visual arts curriculum should be implemented at all levels by at least the same time, or before the computer curriculum.

The exit outcomes defined for Lowell computer students are: 1) Being able to describe the role, impact and ethics of technology; 2) identify when to use technology; 3) and to apply technology.

The curriculum is meant to be infused throughout each academic area in the district and not stand alone as a separate curriculum.

The new drama curriculum outcomes are part of the alignment with Kent Intermediate School District's county-wide curriculum development.
The approval of the outcomes guide allows the high school to develop courses for its new theatre/auditorium.

Jim White, Director of Curriculum and Instruction, said the reason courses were developed at this time were twofold: 1) The need to align all three fine arts areas with KISD which will tackle the curricular in 2-3 years. 2) This way, the high school has time to explore student interest in a new area.

The outcome document is intended to provide direction in existing offerings. Helping to write up the document was Laurie Summerfield, high school drama teacher and Cheryl Blodgett, middle school drama teacher.

The visionary road map of sorts states drama students will demonstrate appropriate skills; demonstrate the ability to independently interpret written, stage and character directions; apply creative abilities to interpret a given situation; and to demonstrate ability to use directed criticism to improve performance.

Senior Neighbors Center celebrates 20th anniversary at open house

Hezzie Stauffer, washboard, and Nora Bell Rash, funnel, perform tunes at anniversary open house.

Marie Tygeson plays at Lowell Senior Neighbors open house last Tuesday.

To celebrate the 20th anniversary of Senior Neighbors Incorporated and Lowell's Senior Neighbors Center, members of the Lowell chapter had an open house last week. Among the days activities was a luncheon and entertainment provided by the Lowell Senior Neighbors Kitchen Band. The band performed many tunes from "Ol' Susanna" and "America the Beautiful" to "Cruising Down the River" and "Has Anybody Seen My Gal." Members of the band included Marie Tygeson-Piano, Hezzie Stauffer-Washboard, Nora Bell Rash-Funnel and Tambourine, Royal Clark-Spoon and Tub, John DeHaan-Wash Tub Bass, Catherine Hurlbut-Potato

Masher and Spoon, Grace Kutchev-Spoon and Pan Drum, Gert DeHaan-Kazoo, Melba LaPreze-Kazoo and Jo Willard-Tupperware Drum. Approximately 65 people were in attendance, including members of the township board and Senior Neighbors Incorporated board. A cake for the days event was donated by Family Fare's Larry Coleman.

Industrial park has backing of Lowell School System

How can an industrial park benefit a school system? That is the question Planning Commission Chairman Rollie Lubbinge asked Lowell School Superintendent Fritz Esch in regards to the proposed industrial park along I-96 and Alden Nash.

Esch outlined the benefits in a letter addressed to Lubbinge and the Lowell Planning Commission. He writes that the park would bring jobs, which brings home owners and leads to an influx of students.

With more students entering the school system, Lowell schools will receive more support from the state, especially if the June 2 tax proposal passes.

Currently Lowell area

The average age of Americans is almost 33.

schools don't receive enough funding from local tax dollars to bring the district up to the "state average" per pupil spending cost. This cost is currently around $4,000. To make up the difference the district must rely on state funding.

The district receives about 60 percent from local tax and depends on the state to supply 40 percent to bring the schools up to the "state average."

If the June 2 tax proposal passes, the formula will reverse itself, with local support at 30 percent and state support at 70 percent. The new tax proposal will also increase the "state average per pupil cost" to $4,800. This means more money for the schools in the future.

Besides bringing more revenue based on student enrollment, the industrial park would also benefit the debt service funding. This funding includes millages used to pay off construction of old buildings.

Esch states that, "a sound industrial base adds to the revenue of the school district, as well as the township, because industry falls under a different taxing rule."

According to Esch, money is not the only benefit Lowell Schools will receive from industry. Esch explains that industry can provide, "unlimited educational opportunities for all students through many variations of curriculum study involving the community."

He also explains that education institutions and businesses will forge a closer bond for the future. He writes in the letter to

Proposal A passage may leave City pondering additional mills

There's a lot riding on the outcome of Proposal A for Lowell property owners, the Lowell School District, and one some may have forgotten, the City of Lowell.

City Treasurer/Finance Director, Judy Noonon reported to the Council Monday night that no matter which way the vote on Proposal A goes a millage increase is necessary. Noonon stated that if Proposal A fails one mill would be needed to continue operating the City as it is currently running. If Proposal A passes two mills would be needed. One to continue operation as needed and the second to make up for the shortfall in revenue due to a reduced assessment increase.

If Proposal A fails, the City would collect $869,953 (6.7 percent increase at 13 mills in property tax revenues. With $947,500 needed to meet budget, over $67,000 would be required. In order to meet the shortfall, the millage would have to be increased from 13 to 14 mills, according to Noonon.

A passed ballot Proposal A would reduce assessment increase to three percent for the coming year. This would limit property tax revenue to $821,168 (1.5 percent increase). The shortfall would be over $126,000. Thus, requiring a two mill increase, according to Noonon.

Lowell City Manager Dave

Pasquale adds, "Under both scenarios, a fund balance would remain at $328,800. The goal of the budget, regardless of whether the proposal passes or not, is to keep the general fund with a sufficient fund balance to guard against emergencies."

Noonon also pointed out that last year's freeze has taken its toll.

Mayor James Maatman said he would favor a one mill increase to continue operating the City as it is. But he was in favor of looking at all the angles before committing to a second mill.

With that in mind, the Council set up a special work session on Thursday, June 3 to review the budget, line by line, with Noonon.

The treasurer/finance director told the Council that the City has not added any additional services. "I think the Council will find that if it opposes the one mill increase, there are basically two ways to make up the $60,000, reduce services it already provides or give out no pay increases," said Noonon.

Maatman said he was not questioning what Noonon was saying, but felt before he could make a decision, he needed to see what's on the budget, line by line.

A public hearing and truth and taxation hearing was set for June 7.

Township says environmental impact of industrial site to be controlled by PUD

Not in our neighborhood! That's what many Lowell residents are saying about the proposed industrial facility at Alden Nash and I-96.

Lowell Township residents will have the chance to vote whether to allow the development in their township on June 2.

Concern over the facility was voiced by residents near the site as soon as the planning commission re-zoned the parcel from Agricultural to Industrial.

Recently a citizens group received approximately 255 signatures on a petition putting the idea to a referendum vote for the public. The main question to be answered is, what will become of the industrial site if the citizens vote no on the plans.

According to Township Supervisor John Timpson the vote will not change the township's land use plan, which sets aside the parcel as an industrial site. Timpson did say that a no vote "would override the board's recommendation and could very easily cause a lawsuit."

A lawsuit is possible because a township must provide a suitable site for industrial development. What the township was hoping to do with its recommendation was control where and how a industrial development is constructed.

"This township could lose most of its control if a developer decides to sue us," said Timpson. "We will not be able to decide what kind of company will be allowed to operate in the township."

Timpson said that citizens are concerned the facility would ruin the surrounding environment. "They're worried that no one will monitor the development, but all environmental impacts are covered by the township's PUD ordinance. If the developer strays from the regulations set by the PUD their development will not be allowed."

The PUD Timpson refers to sets limits on how big the facility will be, how far it will be set back from the road.

Car dealers provide funds to scouts

Kraig Haybarker, Scoutmaster of Troop 102, receives a check for $400 from the Lowell Area Car Association. The money is used to help run the troop, and to help support the troop cabin and scouting activities. On Sunday Troop 102 sold all 500 of its chicken dinners at the first of two chicken BBQ sales. The second will be held on Showboat weekend. Optec succeeds in rezoning property to industrial Wishing to double the size of its current facility, Optec, Inc., 199 Smith St., asked that the City Council re-zone its property from general business to industrial.

The manufacturer of electro-optical instruments (devices that measures light for scientific purposes) will add 1,500 square feet of space, increasing its size to 3,000 square feet.

Gerald Persha, owner of Optec, noted that the zoning was industrial in 1979 when the initial construction took place. The commercial zoning occurred in the early 1980's when the last master plan was completed.

The Planning Commission held a public hearing on April 26 to consider industrial zoning. It recommended unanimously that the Council re-zone the property to industrial. The Council obliged with an unanimous vote at its May 3 meeting.

The additional 1,500 square feet will cost the company $56,000. All but 200 feet of that will be used for manufacturing and assembly.

Optec currently employs five full-time people and one part-time person. With the addition, two more full-time positions will be added.

Nausieda, Leach lead Lowell to 3rd straight title

Monday's victory at the O-White Golf Conference was the crowning jewel of a three-year Red Arrow reign.

Lowell's near perfect run has seen the Red Arrow girls post a league mark of 35-1 over that period of time. Lowell's last conference loss came at the hands of East Grand Rapids back in 1991.

Making the numbers even more remarkable, is that since that loss, Lowell has run off a winning streak of 45 consecutive match wins. They will put that streak on the line Wednesday against Grand Hills Central 4. Northview 5. East Grand Rapids 6. Rogers 7. Zealand.

Lowell placed first with a team score of 411. Forest Hills Central was four shots back at 415. They were followed by Wyoming Park, 419; EGR, 423; Northview, 432; Rogers, 442; and Zealand 484.

Erin has had a tremendous career at Lowell and still has the regionals and possibly state to go. White said cautiously. "You have to take one at a time. You can't let yourself get too far ahead."

Lowell 207 Belding 245 Comstock Park 285

At Candlestone on Friday, Lowell won two non-conference matches. Erin Nausieda led Lowell with a 49. Belding's Kristie Wright the match medalist with a round of 44.

Following Nausieda was Megan Leach with a 50. Sarah Hall shot a 51 and Molly Byrne came home with a 57.

Lowell 190 Wyoming Park 209 Zealand 270

At the Par 36 Deer Run course the Red Arrows turned back a good Viking squad. Again Nausieda led the way with a round of 43. Leach carded a 45, while Byrne and Hall shot rounds of 50 and 52 respectively.

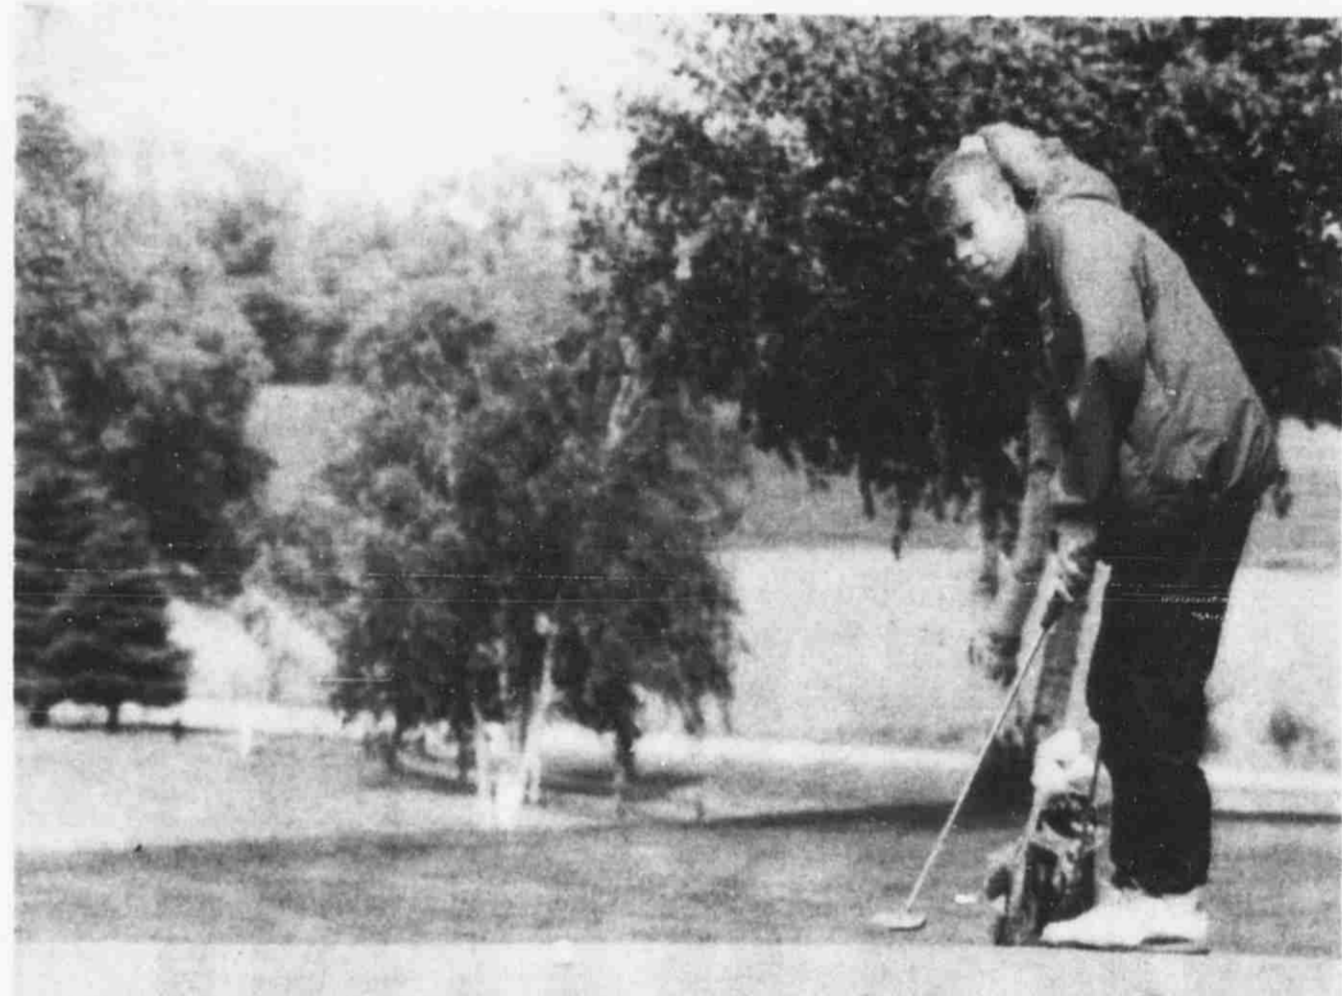

For Zeeland, Jennifer Drienseng led the way with a 58, Lora Homrich fired a 66; Lindsey Schoettle shot a 68 and Kristin Zylstra finished with a 78.

Lowell 194 FHC 218 Rogers 232

The Red Arrows used the home course in distancing itself between Central and Rogers. Nausieda led Lowell with a 43. Leach shot a 46; Byrne came home in 52 and Hall carded a 53.

Leading Central was Gina Pellerito with a 50. Jenny Wisner followed with a 52 and Renee Jann and Karen Hayes came home in 56 and 60 respectively.

Rogers' Jennifer Lackey was the match medalist with a round of 42. Anne Baxter was second with a 60, Kozak was third at second at 64 and Mary Yurgaitus completed the Hawk foursome with a 66.

Erin Nausieda was the conference meet medalist with a round of 85. Nausieda helped lead Lowell to its third consecutive conference championship.

Lowell girls finish 5th at conference; Kryger has big day, places in both discus & shot Lowell's Laura Boyink races down the home stretch at the O-K White Conference meet.

It wasn't the storybook ending that Lowell girls' track coach Kathy Talus and her Red Arrows were looking for, but what did they expect in the wild and mixed up O-K White where anything from first to fifth was possible for five squads.

Forest Hills Central, suffering just one dual meet loss during the regular season (that to Lowell), jumped out in front of the field early, as it claimed the overall championship with a convincing win in the league championship meet.

Central tallied 110 points. Northview was second with 88 points. Wyoming Park was third with 69, followed by Sparta, 65; Lowell, 59; EGR, 48; Zeeland, 33; Rogers, 24.

"There were five teams who had good girls spread out throughout all of the events," Talus said.

Lowell, which finished at 5-2 during the regular season, placed in 14 of the 16 events. However, the Red Arrows were unable to earn a first in any of the events.

"Our times were good and we placed in nearly all the events, but I think the key was we didn't earn any firsts," Talus explained.

Laura Kryger had a good day, placing in both the shot put and the discus. She was sixth in the shot at a distance of 27'10. Teammate Melissa Beute was second at 30'2.

In the discus, Kryger was fifth with a throw of 87'10-1/2. Teammate Tera Hammond was sixth at 82'1-1/2.

Lowell's Lesley Murphy was third in the high jump, clearing a height of 5-1.

Tracy Meeuwse was sixth in the long jump with a distance of 14'11-3/4.

Wyoming Park won the 1600 meter relay in 14:13.50. Lowell's team of Kortney Gowen, Courtney Arnett, Lesley Murphy and Anne Marie Biernacki was second at 4:18.6.

Sara Lesky, Diane Johnson, Katie Haywood and Laura Boyink finished sixth in the 3200 relay with a time of 10:52.6.

Arnett was sixth in 100 hurdles, stopping the clock at 1:17.5. Andrea Vogel of Sparta won the event in a time of 16.2 seconds.

Lowell's Dawn Burrows was fourth in the 100 dash with a time of 13.3. Carla Wallin, Northview, won the race in 12.9 seconds.

In the 800 relay, Lowell's Burrows, Murphy, Gowen and Arnett were second at 1:51.3, losing to Northview, who came home in 1:50.40.

Betsy Elzinga, Jenny Jansma, Chris McClure and Burrows placed third in the 400 relay, coming home in 52.8. Northview won the event in 51.5 seconds.

Murphy was fifth in the 400 dash in a time of 1:03.4. Wyoming Park's Susan Blok won the event at 1:01.1.

Niki Perkins of Northview won the 300 hurdles event with a time of 48.20. Lowell's Arnett was third at 48.6 and Meeuwse finished sixth in 51.4.

Burrows was sixth in the 200 dash at 28.7. Elish Frye was first in 27.10.

Lesky placed fifth in the 3200 run at a time of 13:00.24. Megan Davies of East Grand Rapids was first in a time of 12:16.70.

Lowell will now prepare for the regionals on Saturday at Godwin.

Crush to open at Burch Field

The Grand Rapids Crush semi-professional football team will play its season opener on Saturday, June 5 at Burch Field in Lowell. Kick-off against western conference rival, the Kalamazoo All Stars, will be at 5 p.m.

Lowell High School Athletic Director Tom Stahr offered the site after a scheduling conflict arose over use of the team's regular home venue, Houseman Field in Grand Rapids.

The Crush agreed to move the game away from Houseman to accommodate an important high school track event, said Head Coach Stan Spetoskey.

Team President Dave Pienta expressed thanks to Lowell Area School District for the timely offer. Lowell will host the district playoffs for high school baseball and softball the same day, making Showboat City the sports capital of Western Michigan for the day.

what kind of industry will be allowed to operate in Lowell, and many other regulations designed to protect the integrity of the township.

According to Timpson, even if the township votes no on the current development proposal, "a developer may re-submit its application as many times as it wants to."

If the issue receives a yes vote then a $40 million industrial park planned by developer Robert Groeters may get the go ahead from the township board.

Lowell boys take 3rd at meet; 'Cats edge past Sparta for 1st Lowell's Keith Boeve will be the first to tell you that he would have preferred first instead of third at the O-K White Boys' Track Conference Meet.

He'll follow with how proud he is that Lowell was conference champion in five events - the 400-meter relay, the 400-meter run; the 3200-meter relay; and the 1600-meter relay.

Northview won the conference meet with 133 points. Sparta was second at 124 points and Lowell, two points back at 122. The rest of the league shook out like this, Wyoming Park 55; Forest Hills Central 36; Zeeland 34;

East Grand Rapids 15; and Rogers 8.

Lowell's Aaron Stencil, Dan Huizenga, Leigh Summers and Eric Shelby combined to win the 1600-meter relay in a time of 3:34.80. "That's pretty good considering I took the league's top 400 meter runner out of that event," Boeve said.

The Lowell coach was talking about James Manion, who won the 400 in a time of 52 seconds. "Manion had a great regular season and continued in the league meet," Boeve said. The Lowell senior was first in the 400, third in the low hurdles, third in the high hurdles and third in the high jump. He ran the low hurdles and 400 back-to-back.

Mike Wojciakowski, Steve Kline, Tom Mull and Huizenga teamed to win the 3200-meter relay. They were timed in 8:23.67.

Ron Acheson won the shot put with a throw of 49'3.

Teammate Andy Antcliff followed suit in the discus with a winning mark of 136'11-1/2.

Northview's Ed Barnes won the long jump with a distance of 22'4. Lowell's Aaron Stencil was third at 19-9 and Ryan White was fourth at 19-1/4.

Barnes also won 110 high hurdles in a time of 15 seconds. Manion was third at 15.9.

In the 100 dash, Barnes again was first, stopping the clock at 11.3 seconds. Lowell's Aaron Stencil was fifth at 11.9.

Sparta won the 800 meter relay, breaking the string at 1:32.50. Lowell's Jim Inman, Summers, Jason DesJarden and Antcliff finished fourth in a time of 1:36.60. Wyoming Park's Jeremy Hurley won the 1600 meter run in 4:33.10.

In the 400-meter relay, Sparta was first, stopping the clock at 45 seconds. Lowell finished third at 46.30. Making up the team was Inman Aron Kennedy, Des Jarden and Antcliff. "This may have been the surprise of the meet. Our guys were ranked sixth going in and placed third," Boeve said.

Barnes easily won the 300 hurdles in 38.6 seconds. Manion was second at 41.70. Hurley was victorious in the 800-meter run, stopping the clock at 2:01.2. Lowell's Mull was sixth at 2:05.7.

Eric Brown, Sparta won the 200 meter dash in a time of 23 seconds. Northview's Jeff Parsons won the 3200 meter run in a time of 10:01.9.

Overall, Northview and Sparta tied for first and Lowell finished third.

Barnes easily won the 300 hurdles in 38.6 seconds. Manion was second at 41.70.

Hurley was victorious in the 800-meter run, stopping the clock at 2:01.2. Lowell's Mull was sixth at 2:05.7.

Eric Brown, Sparta won the 200 meter dash in a time of 23 seconds. Northview's Jeff Parsons won the 3200 meter run in a time of 10:01.9.

Overall, Northview and Sparta tied for first and Lowell finished third.

Lowell netters edged by Chix & Fighting Scots

A balanced Zeeland tennis squad had just enough to get by Lowell in its 5-3 win over the Red Arrows.

The two teams split their four singles matches, but Zeeland was able to take three of four doubles matches to earn the win.

"Zeeland is a very balanced team. The Chix are just a step better than we are right now," Lowell coach Terry Abelsaid. "Zeeland has a complete middle school and junior varsity schedule, that in itself makes it extremely hard for us to compete with them."

The Red Arrows earned wins at second and third singles.

Adrian Schuster, second singles, battled for three sets before besting Joey Johnson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

At third singles, Chris Scoles needed two sets to subdue Brian Dozeman, 6-4, 6-4.

Jason Graber at first singles was defeated in straight sets by Jan Mariss, 6-0, 6-2.

Brad Simkins, fourth singles, met the same fate as he was upended by Brian Petroliji, 6-0, 6-3.

Lowell's only win in doubles came at fourth doubles, Jim Price and Jon

Smith won via forfeit.

At number one singles, Nate Livingston and Neil Nelson battled for two sets, before succumbing to Zeeland's Mark Miller and Kale Kotecki, 6-0, 6-3.

Levi Harper and Carl Moore were losers to A.J. Bosch and Mark Kraak, 7-5, 6-0 in second doubles.

At the third flight, Zac Cole and Kyle Triplett lost to Ron Haveman and Ben Laarman, 6-2, 7-5.

Price and Smith also fell in three sets, 6-2, 3-6, 3-6.

Lowell's only win in singles came at second singles. Schuster defeated Rick Grinstead, 6-2, 6-2.

At number one singles, Graber was defeated by Jason Crisman, 6-2, 0-6, 0-6.

Eric Rogers defeated Scoles in the third singles match, 6-2, 6-3.

Simkins was a 6-2, 7-5 straight set loser to David Larsen at fourth singles.

James Manion comes up over the hurdle at the conference meet on Friday.

Red Arrow nine drop tough one to 'Cats; upend Belding

Sandwiched between two league losses to Northview and East Grand Rapids, Lowell tallied a 6-2 non-conference win against Belding.

Lowell trailed for four of the innings before rallying in the fifth and sixth innings to pull out the win against the Redskins.

Trailing 2-1, Lowell's Timm Bott got aboard on a Belding error. He then stole second base and followed that up with a steal of third.

A Jamie Compton RBI single plated Bott. Compton came around to score on a RBI double off the bat of A.J. Teft into left-centerfield. A RBI single by Greg Jannenga scored Teft.

"It was nice to see us take advantage of another's team miscue," Lowell coach Kris Kropf said.

Lowell's Jason Sper started for Lowell. He went the distance, allowing two runs on six hits while walking two and striking out three Redskin batters.

It was Sper's first varsity start. "I brought Jason up from the junior varsity to help our varsity staff get back on track for league play," Kropf said. "He did a nice job. He only gave up two walks and he mixed up his pitches well."

Northview 12
Lowell 6 (9 innings)

The Red Arrows led or were tied throughout the first eight innings and then in the ninth, the sky fell on them.

The Wildcats faced two triples in between five walks and a hit batsman as they scored eight times in their half of the ninth inning.

"The key play in the inning was the steal after the lead-off single to start the inning. I thought the guy was out and our players thought the guy was out. Mentally I don't think our players got over it," Kropf said.

The loss pushed Lowell's record to 4-4 in the O-K White.

Leading Lowell at the plate was Teft with two hits, including a double, and Jannenga also collected two hits.

Miedema went the distance giving up 12 runs on 11 hits while striking out seven and walking four.

"Under normal circumstances I would have pulled Chris after eight innings, but running the team on three-four pitchers and playing four or five games a week puts us in a tough situation," Kropf said.

EGR 18
Lowell 7

Coaches always talk about winning ugly, however, Kropf had little to say about his club's ugly loss to East Grand Rapids.

"There's not much to say. The game was ugly. We had several poor performances defensively. Mentally the kids were out of it. Let's leave it at that," Kropf said.

The Lowell coach pointed to dropped pop-ups, poor communication between the infielders and outfielders and pitchers hitting batters and throwing wild pitches with runners at third to support his points.

"Unfortunately, we crunched the ball against one of the better teams in the league. That was wasted though, because of our poor play," Kropf said.

Lowell led 4-3 at the end of one inning. East then strung together three strong offensive innings, scoring 15 runs. The Pioneers scored four in the second, two in the third and put the game out of reach with nine runs in the fourth inning.

Lowell's pitchers combined for eight walks, two hit batsmen, three wild pitches and three pass balls charged to Red Arrow catchers.

The loss dropped Lowell to 4-5 in the league and to 9-9 overall.

Lowell finished the week at 4-5 overall.

Acetylene, the gas used for welding, was discovered in 1836 by English chemist Edmund Davy.

Ooout, was the call at second, as Lowell nailed a runner trying to steal.

Lowell's Greg Jannenga races for third in high school baseball action last week.

LOWELL CHARTER TOWNSHIP NOTICE

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the Lowell Charter Township Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on Richard Cooper's request to develop a site condominium subdivision on property located at 1960 Parnell, SE (41-20-05-370-002 and 41-20-08-100-025, approximately 58 acres). The hearing will be held at 7:00 P.M. on Wednesday, June 9, 1993 at the Lowell Township Hall, 2910 Alden Nash, S. E., Lowell. A copy of the Zoning Ordinance and a map of the proposed subdivision may be examined at the Township Office during regular office hours.

Red Arrow girls defeat EGR & Belding; drop 2 at Central

It's the kind of defensive play that softball games are turned around on.

There's a Ranger on second, the batter sends a single to center, and the runner at second is waved home. Lowell center fielder, Krista Posthumus, picks the ball up on the bounce and fires a one bounce strike to the catcher, Amy Stauffer, who blocks the plate and tags out the sliding runner.

The play definitely turned around the inning, however, behind the strong pitching of Ashley Vyverman, the league leading Rangers, were able to hold off the Red Arrows 1-0.

FHC scored the winning run in its half of the seventh on a Lowell error with a throw to first. The overall sent the runner to second. A bunt got the runner to third, who then scored on Lowell's second error of the inning.

"Vyverman is a very good pitcher and Central's catcher, Ashley Meier, makes her even better," Lowell coach Kelly Drake says. "Our girls played well. You've got to be happy when your club plays right with the team who is winning the league."

Drake added her club continues to make big plays, but then hurts itself on a routine ground ball. Lowell managed just three singles off of Vyverman. The singles came off the bats of Amy Stauffer, Tammy Stauffer and Jeni Francis.

Lowell's Ashley Olin gave up one run on two hits while walking seven and striking out three.

"Ashley kept the Rangers intact. She pitched well," Drake said.

In the nightcap, Vyverman tossed another shutout as the Rangers rolled to a 12-0 win.

Jessica Jones got her first start of the season for Lowell. She gave up five runs on five over five innings.

"Jessica did okay. She just needs to realize that you don't always have to throw hard," Drake said.

Lowell was held to just two hits in game two. They were singles by Amy Stauffer and Erica Hertzler.

Lowell 17
EGR 7

The Red Arrows had no problem making contact against Pioneer pitching.

In their best offensive performance of the year, the Red Arrows pummeled EGR pitchers for 14 hits, including two home runs and a triple.

"That is the best we've hit the ball all year," Drake said.

Amy Stauffer led the way with three hits in four at-bats, including a triple and a two-run homer in the Lowell five-run sixth inning.

Brenda Bittrick went 2-for-4 with a home run and an RBI. Her solo shot came in Lowell's seven run seventh inning.

Kerry Nugent also had two hits and knocked in three runs.

On the mound, Olin gave up seven runs on seven hits while walking three and striking out two.

Lowell 13
Belding 5

Lowell avenged an early season loss to the Redskins as it overcame a 4-0 deficit and rallied for the win.

"Since our first meeting, I think we've gotten better and Belding has remained the same," Drake said.

Lowell scored two runs in the third to cut the deficit in half at 4-2. The Red Arrows took the lead with three more runs in the fourth. A four run fourth and a four run fifth inning put the game on ice for Lowell.

Erica Hertzler eyes first as she reaches for the ball in action against Central. Lowell was defeated twice by the Rangers, 1-0 and 12-0.

Lowell & Rockford exchange concerns and processes

Thirteen years ago one worked as a city planner and the other worked as the administrative assistant to the city manager in Garden City (near the Detroit area).

Thursday night at the Mayor Exchange Dinner at Deer Run, Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale and Rockford City Manager Daryl Delabbio were together again.

The dinner was the conclusion of a day-long visit by Rockford City officials to the City of Lowell.

Lowell has participated in the Mayor Exchange Day the past nine years. Rockford has been a participant for the past 10-12 years.

The annual event gives cities of relatively the same size an opportunity to share successes, processes and concerns with one another. It also provides the cities an opportunity to discuss how City matters are handled.

Rockford's Betty Combs, in her first term as mayor, said she was taken by how gracious a host Lowell was. "I thoroughly enjoyed our visits to Chadalee Farms and Atwood. Also, I have never seen a more clean and tidy antique store in my life."

Combs said both Rockford and Lowell are both interested in providing their respective cities with the finest streets, sidewalks and water.

On Proposal A, Combs said it is wonderful for the individual land owners, but it presents enormous problems to cities like Lowell and Rockford. "Where are the funds for City programs going to come from?"

Combs and her husband, Tom, run the Colonial Motel in Rockford.

Delabbio was impressed by Lowell's wastewater facility. "We're putting in a new sewer line because we've run out of capacity," he says. "I'm also very much interested in Lowell's street sweeping program. Lowell does its own, we contract ours out."

He concluded by saying the biggest problem facing both communities is how to effectively deal with growth.

Rockford's tour of Lowell included a walk through the City Hall and Police Department; a tour of Lowell Cable TV and Light and Power; a tour of Chadalee Farms; lunch at the Look Memorial Fire Station; a tour of Atwood; a tour of the wastewater treatment plant; and a tour of the Flat River Antique Mall.

Former Rockford mayor, Glenn Rottier Jr. said he found the Lowell Police Department's student auxiliary to be unique. "I haven't seen that in any other town."

Lowell Mayor James Maatman presents Rockford Mayor, Betty Combs with a plaque commemorating her visit to Lowell in celebration of Mayor Exchange Day.

Community Improvement is focus of Township agreement

To help with public improvements Lowell Township signed an agreement with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to qualify for Community Development Block Grants.

Lowell has been a participant in the program since its inauguration 11 years ago and has received assistance for many local projects.

The grants help provide Lowell with funding to undertake public improvements, such as site improvements, sidewalk improvements and the removal of accessibility barriers as well as single family housing rehabilitation activities.

In the past, Lowell helped fund additions to the Lowell Senior Neighbors Center and provided improvements to low income housing.

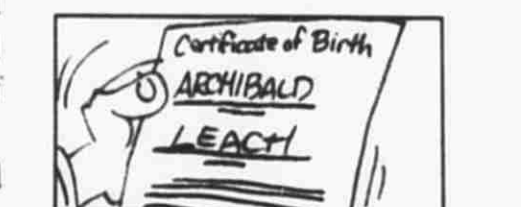

The township qualifies for approximately $30,000 a year in block grant funds.

This year the township hopes to donate an estimated $4,500 to Lowell's Historical Committee for renovation of the Graham Building.

The grant also helps fund planning projects, these include developing township zoning maps and developing plans to upgrade the business section of M-21.

Township Supervisor John Timpson sees the grants as a way to improve the aesthetic quality of Lowell. "If anyone has seen the business section in Standale, I think they'll agree it looks great. Lowell could also look that good with the right funding."

Cary Grant's real name was Archibald Leach.

Large section of community attends spring tour of new High School

A little over 500 school district residents took an opportunity to view the progress that has been made on the new $26 million state-of-the-art high school on Sunday.

"I'm glad because it is very nice, and it doesn't have all the frills," said Kolleen Scheid. Sunday's spring tour was the second tour held by the school. It held a fall tour last October.

"This serves as an update to show the community the progress that has been made since the ground-breaking ceremony back in May of 1992," said Dick Korb, Director of School and Community Services. "It was an opportunity for local taxpayers to see their money at work."

The tour was approximately 60 minutes in length. There were 35 separate tour groups taken through the new school from noon until 5 p.m. Korb said there was an average of 15 people per tour. "We were very happy and enthused by the turnout," Korb said.

Matt Howard of Lowell was most impressed by the technology that will be available to students. "The plan from what I could see is right in line with that of the major universities," he said.

A few facts about the new high school site:

* The square footage for the new high school site is 223,725.

* The student capacity will be 1,200 students. Future student capacity could reach 1,600.

* The new auditorium will seat 725 persons.

* The main gymnasium will seat 1,800 people. The auxiliary gym will seat 1,200 people.

* The football/soccer stadium will seat 2,800 people on the home side and 1,200 people on the visitor's side.

* The total number of parking spaces add up to 1,023 (east, west and stadium lots).

* There was a total of 370,000 cubic yards of earth moved. There was no dirt moved off the site or brought onto the site.

* 16,000 bags of mortar cement have been used.

* The average work force runs from 80-100 people every day. About 10 percent of those people are from the Lowell area.

The tour gave area residents an overview of the west concourse and building entry points; the chemistry room and science lab; of a typical classroom; the media center and related technology areas; the outdoor grounds looking toward the athletic facilities to the south; the student services and administration offices; the food service facilities; the physical education facilities; the computer lab and related technology; and of the auditorium and related technological services. There was also an opportunity for those people interested, to tour the outdoor stadium facilities and the Alden Nash Road entrance.

"I think people were very impressed," Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch said. "I would like to see another tour planned for the fall."

Esch added that he has enjoyed watching as the prints become reality. "It has been fun watching the new high school take form, shape and color."

Following her tour, Treva Johnson said she wished she could go back to high school. "The new high school is going to be great," she said.

Ralph Howard had just one question after going through the tour. "Where's the brick with my name on it?" he quipped.

His son, Tim Howard, added that it looked as though the district was doing things right.

Craig Willison, job superintendent for the new high school project, said that they are currently two-three months ahead of schedule. The new school is scheduled to open in the fall of 1994.

Over 500 people took the Spring Tour of the new high school on Sunday.

Ralph Moxley, WBDC, takes a group through station number four.

Muster event cancelled

At a meeting of the Civil War Muster committee on May 4, the group reluctantly decided to cancel the event scheduled for May 29-30.

Fallsburg Historical Society President Priscilla Lussmyer said the main reason for the decision is that there is no sponsoring group of re-enactors.

"The group we used last year disbanded," Lussmyer said. "A sponsoring group is essential in the protocol of reenactments."

Lussmyer added that while the weekend may be very quiet at Fallsburg, it is a busy one for re-enactors.

The Society has phoned and mailed notices to those few who had already signed up for the event.

"We're brainstorming for other possibilities," Lussmyer said. One possibility is the celebration of the re-dedication of the Covered Bridge.

Other Fallsburg news includes the changing of hours for the Museum.

The hours have been changed to 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. They were 1 to 5 p.m.

Lussmyer said the reason for the change was that almost nobody visits before 2 p.m. and often visitors come in just at 5 p.m. "The hours will also be easier for museum volunteers with church and meal obligations," Lussmyer concludes.

Burkhardt addresses students at academic dessert

On May 4, 105 Lowell High School students were honored by the administration and faculty during a special evening featuring dessert and awards.

The annual Academic Dessert honors students who have achieved certain cumulative grade point averages during all previous semesters. The 35 seniors who were invited had earned at least 3.500. The 25 juniors had earned at least 3.500. There were 19 sophomores who had achieved the minimum of 3.650 and 26 freshman, who had earned 3.667 in their only semester completed so far. Dessert for the evening was prepared and served by members of the LHS faculty, staff and administration.

Each year an alumnus of LHS is invited to deliver an address to the students and their parents. Guest speaker for the evening was Sheila Nugent Burkhardt, class of 1983, Director of Member Relations and Public Affairs of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

Burkhardt congratulated the students and urged them to keep up their hard work in college. She looked back on her own years in high school and college and offered the students advice based on her experiences.

She suggested that they not only work to keep their academic averages high in college, but that they also involve themselves in other activities as well. She suggested both students organizations and volunteer activities as good uses of time during college.

Other speakers for the evening were Superintendent of Schools, Fritz Esch, Principal Jim DeWeerd, Assistant Principal Scott Vashaw and Academic Boosters president, Carol Schuster. The Booster Club gave each student a carnation and a pen.

Deweerd read the names of the honorees, while class sponsors gave each a certificate of merit and a pin. In addition, several students earned Academic Letters for achieving a certain grade point average. Students earn an academic letter only once in their four years. Receiving these letters in their sophomore year for a GPA of 3.850 were Nathan Livingston, Anastasia Luyk, Dustin VanStee, Kerry Nugent, Rebecca Cattanch, Benjamin Knudstrup, Brent VandenBosch and Kevin Nugent.

Juniors who earned their letters for a GPA of 3.75 were Micah Skidmore, Carl Moore, Jennifer Idema, Kevin Vezino and Debra Wieland. Earning their letters as seniors with 3.65 GPAs were Brett Carlson, Melissa Hobbach, Sarah Scoles and Julie Fox.

The evening was capped with the announcement of the top ten of the Class of 1993. They included: Valedictorians, Andrew Breimayer and Anna Lietzke, Salutatorian, David Johnson and Rachael Neile-McGrew, Karla Gerst, Melanie Langridge, John Roudabush, Heidi Kaeb, Elisabeth Thaler and Carrie Sadler.

Juniors: Elizabeth Arnold, Shannon Bennett,

people in America's schools."

Students who are members of the NHS are selected because of their leadership, service, academic ability, and character. Neile-McGrew joins four other Lowell High School NHS members who have received scholarships in the past five years. This number for only one chapter speaks highly of the degree of leadership and service involvement of the students at Lowell High School.

Neile-McGrew served her classmates as president of the Student Council this year. She was also president of the Art Club and the Young Democrats. In addition she served as captain of the tennis team. She is graduating fourth in her class. In addition to the NHS scholarship, Neile McGrew is a State Finalist in the Shell Century III scholarship contest and a Regional Scholar in the Coca-Cola scholarship program. She will attend the University of Chicago in the fall.

The National Association of Secondary School Principals has recently announced that Rachael Neile-McGrew, Lowell High School senior, will be awarded a National Honor Society Scholarship in the amount of $1,000.

The NASSP awards 250 scholarships each year to members of the nation's National Honor Societies. Each chapter can nominate two members for scholarship consideration. In announcing the award, Dr. Timothy J. Dyer, Executive Director of the NASSP, says, "Rachael Neile McGrew has demonstrated outstanding ability in her academic work and service to her school and community. U.S. Achievement Academy bestows honors on Staal and Rollins

The United States Achievement Academy has announced that Shelly Staal and George Rollins, III have been named United States National Award winners in history and government.

Staal, who attends Lowell Middle School, was nominated for this National Award by Art Bieri, a history teacher at the school.

She is the daughter of Ken and Janice Staal. The grandparents are Jack and Jean Staal, of Lowell and Leon and Lynnette Vandawater of Dutton.

Rollins, who also attends Lowell Middle School, was nominated for this National Award by Rita Pratt and Art Bieri social studies teachers at LMS.

He is the son of George and Karen Rollins, Jr. The grandparents are George and Janet Rollins of Lowell and Bob and Audrey Boonstra of Ada.

Both students will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Yearbook, published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history. Certainly United States Achievement Academy award winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interests and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

really nice to see kids encouraging one another while rehearsing," Niemi said.

The fifth-grade students have music just one hour a week.

"The DARE graduation program provided a perfect opportunity to integrate two different curriculums. It was especially rewarding that we were able to coordinate that with a community service provided through the police department and especially Jim Valentine," concluded Lowell's Jim White, Director of Curriculum and Instruction.

To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I have seen the recent advertisements in your paper touting "progress" that might be coming to Lowell Charter Township. It is safe to say, that more scams have been run in the name of "progress" than anything except "God" or "The People."

As for the "J" word, "jobs," if you think the Grooters Development proposal up for grabs at the polls on June 2 is about jobs for the Township, let me pump a little sunshine. First, there is no way a local unit of government can tie job creating to a rezoning decision. No can do, as a performance standard. Second, if you think that there can be a jobs set aside for local residents, then there are some Federal Court decisions you won't enjoy reading.

Maybe the deep thinkers on the Township Board do not know that, or do not care.

As for me, when I consider how much money is not coming from the State of Michigan to subsidize this thing, I will be voting "no." That's the "N" word.

May you both rest in peace. Randi & Joe and families.

My words cannot express how I feel yet today, Tears still fall as if it was just yesterday.

I look at your picture and see a smile on your face, I look up to the sky and know you're in a beautiful place.

Someday will come when I can touch your hand, Maybe that day I'll begin to understand.

But until then I'll cry and cry, But each day I'll try to hold my head high.

I long for the time that I will see you again, So we can relive our memories from beginning to end.

Love and miss you, Jamie

High School contracts students for landscaping needs

Originally it was part of the building and site fund for the renovation work at the high school which will be turned into a middle school by August of 1994.

It was moved to the contingency list after the cost for the landscaping was figured.

"The contingency list is made up of items we wanted to do, but as the project progressed the money wasn't there for its completion," said Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch. "So, it is put off until we see that money is available."

One of the items on the contingency list was taken off last week, not so much because money became available, instead, because a Lowell High School instructor, 52 of his students, and a 1992 LHS graduate could be counted for their labor and pride in spreading 90 cubic yards of shredded bark and implanting 300 plants (flowers, trees, shrubs and evergreens) on the grounds of Lowell High School.

"Pete Siler and his Landscaping and Soil classes saved the school district a lot of money," White said. "They also provided this district with some good quality work."

In turn, the students received some valuable hands-on field experience.

"The work the students did is marvelous," Esch said.

After being approached with the project, Siler's Landscaping students planned for nine weeks.

On Thursday, as Siler took a break from the work at hand, he noted the magnitude of the project. "I don't think we realized the magnitude of this project," he said. "It's been a lot of work."

Work is something Siler's Landscaping classes know something about. Over the last seven to eight years, Siler's classes have performed landscaping tasks at the Bowne Township Hall, Alto Elementary, and the Alto Fire Barn.

White said the work done by Siler and his students saved the school at least half of what the project would have cost.

"Money was made available for the purchase of plants and shredded bark because there wasn't a lot of cost overruns last summer," White said.

Siler credited Don Garvin, Cornerstone Landscaping, for his generous time in working with the students

Pete Siler's Landscaping and soil classes spent two days doing landscaping work around the high school.

City and police reach agreement

It was an open and shut case for the City of Lowell in its salary negotiations with the Lowell Police Officers Association.

The City is entering into the second year of a three year agreement with the Lowell Police Officers Association. This year had a re-opener clause where only salaries needed to be negotiated.

The negotiations brought about an agreement whereby a four percent wage increase for the police officer and sergeant positions would be given.

Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale stated that, as adopted in the police contract last year, the equivalent of an added one percent of anticipated wage increases are contributed toward the upgraded MERS retirement plan.

The wage re-opener agreement was ratified by the Council. The new wages will begin as of July 1.
