School board election draws the interest of only 13 percent of the registered voters

••• Jousma, Gustafson and McClain gain the approval of the 1,592 who voted.

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

Warren Jousma, a Lowell resident for the past 28 years, knew he had supporters, but even Jousma was surprised by just how many following Monday's school board elec-

from 52 percent of the voters. liked the message." A small turnout of 1,592 registered voters or 13 percent of the 12,300 registered vo ters made their way to the polls on Monday. Jousma's 830 votes easily won him the right to finish out the unexpired one-year term ending in 1995 and made him the biggest vote-getter.

"I'm surpised by the number of supporters I had," smiled Jousma. "I made one campaign promise - that is, I would hold the line on spend-Jousma garnered support ing. The vote shows people

The Lowell resident, of 10527 52nd St., was opposed by Ann Mulder (incumbent) and Wendy Southwell. Southwell received 527 votes while Mulder collected 177.

Winning the two four-year seats were Pete Gustafson Ellen McClain. Gustafson received 687 votes and McClain tallied 486 votes.

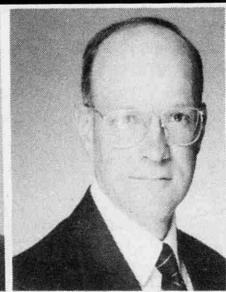

McClain's (3755 Country View Dr.) campaign was run fully on the platform of the Citizens for Quality Education. McClain, who was in Lansing, was unavailable for comment. However, Shawn Eshragh, president for CQE, said McClain is a multi-talented lady who can apply herself to many situations. "Ellen's primary concern will McClain's election to the board was a moral as well as political mandate. "We were disappointed when Ellen was not appointed before, but we are very happy about tonight's happy to earn a seat on the board. "I'm also disappointed that not more seats were open. Through the process I've come to meet and know many of the candidates. A lot of good people ran for a school

McClain and Gustafson Eshragh added that replace Chris VanAntwerp and Ray Quada. The two board members had 16 years of experience. VanAntwerp served the past 12 years on the board and Quada has served the past four years.

"I think each one of the Gustafson, 12213 Bailey candidates who won a seat Dr., said he too was very have strong attitudes about the framework of the district," Quada said. "I hope they keep open minds and keep the district moving forward."

Lowell Superintendent Fritz Esch said the success of the new board will depend on how well it works together. This will be dependent on whoever merges as the new board president.

The school board election was one of the most heated contested elections in recent history. The number of candidates (11) running for three seats showed an unusually high amount of interest as compared in years past.

Issues that will face the new-look school board will include school finance, the selection of a new superintendent, and the opening of the new high school.

Heintzleman questions process which may have detracted from his vote count

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

While gracious in defeat, board candidate Tom Heintzleman was also critical of the voting-day process.

Heintzleman, 11024 Bennett St., showed up at Precinct I (Runciman Schools) and paced off 110 feet. Rules state that neither a candidate nor his/her signs or literature can be within 100 feet of the building.

"The chief election inspector came out and told me I could not be as close to the building as I was. I informed her I was 110 feet from the building which is within the rules," Heintzleman said.

The chief inspection officer also told Heintzleman he could not pass out literature. The candidate said he had the right to pass it out and that he wasn't forcing anyone to take it and read it.

"The inspection officer said she had the right to take the literature from the voters before they entered the Process, cont'd., pg. 8

Vergennes Township to schedule public hearing in effort to raise millage rate

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

In a move to raise some additional funds, the Vergennes Township Board will schedule a public hearing to discuss raising the township's millage from .9459 mills to 1.100 mills.

Vergennes Township Supervisor Jim Cook said this will be the first time the township will schedule a public hearing in order to raise the millage.

"In the past we levied the millage based on what we were allowed, but now that we can generate some more funds, it's probably a good time to ask for a millage increase," said Cook. Last year the State Equalization Valuation for Vergennes

Lowell Education Association agrees to 5.75 percent increase over 3 years

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

Extended contracts for four employee groups in the Lowell School District were ratified Monday night following a short, closed session.

The contracts were for food service, support staff, teachers and school adminis-

Food service and administrator extensions were for two years.

Support staff and teachers' contract extensions were for three years.

Teachers will receive a base increase of 1.5 percent for 1994-95, 1.9 percent for 1995-96 and 2.35 percent for 1996-97. This does not include step increases which are approximately 1.5 percent each year for those who qualify.

Support staff employees (custodians, building secretaries and para professionals) will receive pay increases of 18 cents an hour for 1994-95, 23 cents an hour for 1995-96 and 28 cents an hour for 1996-97. This will represent a 5.75 percent increase over the three-year period.

Support staff and teachers will also maintain MESSA Super Care I insurance coverage for the three eyars of the contract. In the third year of the contract, employees

Attwood Corporation is the recipient of a $43,763 economic job training grant

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

For the second consecutive year, a Lowell business will be the recipient of an economic job training grant.

The grant, which will total approximately $43,763, will Millage, cont'd., pg. 8 be used by the Attwood Corporation to increase workforce skill levels and teamwork participation in order to keep pace with new product introductions and acquisitions due to decline in marine industry, severe pricing competition from domestic and overseas competitors, and a need to better utilize production capacity.

Training courses and competencies will take place in basic plastics molding, plastics technology and ultrasonic welding, material handling, machine maintenance, supervisory training and team training.

The grant is a collaborative effort on the part of Lowell Area Schools, Lowell Community Education, Kent Intermediate School District and Attwood.

Training will be provided Industry, cont'd., pg. 8

A good friend of mine has been staying with me since last Wednesday. He lives in Florida now, but lived here in Lowell most of his life. One of his sons graduated from high school this spring. The purpose of this visit centered around a combined open house for the graduate and several kids he went to school with in Lowell before the family moved to Florida. That's why Jim was here. However, this is the guy who got me hooked on flying about seven or eight years ago. He's still a sucker for anything with wings, and now, thanks to him, so am I. We did make it to the open house, but that and a little sleep were about the only things that kept us on the

I told him last night I wished I wrote for an aviation publication so I could document all the flying we'd done over the past four days. I explained that I find it cumbersome to write about aviation for the general public. There are so many terms, abbreviations, airplane types, etc. used by pilots that writing about it is almost like writing in a foreign language. However, since that's all I've done for the past few days, I guess I'm stuck with giving it a try. It was either flying or the mystery of the pink eyebrows someone painted on my dog. I know pink eyebrows on a big yellow Lab are riveting material, but until I know who did it, and why, I don't think I can stretch the story to a column of proper length.

bunch of friends. Jim and I gave rides in the Stearman until dark. I didn't know it yet, but that was phase one of what was to be my biennial flight review, or B.F.R. A B.F.R. is a competency test pilots must go through every two years with a certified flight instructor. It usually amounts to a short oral

The next day, Friday, I ducked out of work in the early afternoon. Jim and I threw some camping gear in the floatequipped Cessna 180 I own a share in. We headed for a weekend floatplane "splash-in" 150 miles north at Otsego Lake near Gaylord. We looked over all the floatplanes, talked with the other pilots and went to bed reasonably early. The next morning we struck camp, threw the gear in the airplane and were airborne by 8:00. I told you the only thing that kept us on the ground was a little sleep.

We were on a mission. Jim's other son, Jeff, lives in Madison, Wisconsin and we were off to pick him up for the open house. The weather was nearly perfect and our route of flight took us over scenic upper Michigan, a placid Lake Michigan and the farmlands of Wisconsin. It was beautiful.

We ate, looked at airplanes, talked with other pilots pilot's license, and Jim is his instructor. They flew for the and headed back to Lowell. Jim and I spent a leisurely better part of the afternoon. Not many modern student pilots afternoon changing the oil in the Stearman, cleaning it up a can log instruction in an airplane that WWII pilots got their little and performing some other minor maintenance. All the while we were of course talking mostly about airplanes and That evening we had a cookout at the hangar and invited a flying-related stuff. The oral part of the B.F.R. I still didn't know I was going through.

About 6:00 that evening we loaded Jeff in Jim's Aztec and I was offered the left seat (pilot's seat). Never having flown a multi-engine aircraft, I jumped at the chance. The weather was still beautiful as we climbed out over Lake Michigan exam and a brief flight test. This was to be an extraordinary heading back to Wisconsin. My first ever multi-engine landing at Madison was no prize, but I didn't bend anything. We had a pop, got Jeff a cab back to his apartment and headed back to Michigan. My second multi-engine landing was much improved over the first.

> That night Jim asked me if I needed a B.F.R. I checked my logbook and found that my last B.F.R. was just a few months away from expiration, so Jim went to work. He managed to cram a synopsis of nearly fifteen hours of flying, in three very diverse aircraft, onto one page. The entry included notes on aerobatics, cross country flight, various forms of navigation, instrument flight, short field takeoffs and landings, water taxi techniques, docking, multi-engine training, retractable landing gear instruction, etc. When he was done, he laughed and chortled, "There! That's gotta be the most extensive B.F.R. on record!." He's quite a guy! I just wish he'd fess up to painting those pink eyebrows on my dog.

I made an interesting rediscovery this past weekend. My father actually knows what he's talking about. Don't you hate when that happens.

On my most recent trip home, I was asked for the umpand then I go through the list of things that need to be done. On this list I happened to mention that my ceiling fans shake, wobble and/or vibrate when they run at full speed. I went on to say that at some point, I would probably have to take them apart and reconstruct them in an effort to eliminate the shake.

My father, overhearing the conversation, stepped up and said, "Son," (not really, but at 8 a.m. it has a ring to it) you don't

Saturday night, after returning from dinner with a friend and his son, we were sitting in the living room talking about the day's events (stripping and refinishing the dining room floor). I went to my bank and got out some change and grabbed a roll of masking tape. We tried a penny on one blade. We then put one penny on two blades ... it wasn't working.

Eventually we came to the concensus that something with a little more weight was needed. So we tried using nickels. One nickel showed a slight improvement and two nickels on that same blade nearly took the shake right out of it. With just

In America today, only lawyers have a reputation worse than that of politicians. While most citizens like their own legislators, the American people distrust the political process and suspect the system as a whole is less than honest. Knowing that, I knew I would face the same skepticism if I ran for office. I did anyway, wanting to make a difference and hoping to change public attitude through my own actions.

In my service in the state Senate, I have made a concerted effort to support policies that benefit the state as a whole and improve our quality of life. I have also followed through on promises I've made and done my best to carry out the wishes of my constituents. But there is only so much I can do as a single lawmaker to give the political process credibility While I believe most public servants are doing their jobs with the people's best interests in mind, the best way to change public attitude about the political system is to change the system itself; to make it more accountable and open to those who truly run it--the people.

Last September, the Michigan Legislature formed a bipartisan, bicameral committee to do just that. Called the Joint Legislative Ethics Commission, it has recently made four major recommendations to current policy that I and the other leaders of the House and Senate have agreed to act on this fall. Together, I believe these changes will make a significant positive impact.

First on the list is the elimination of Officeholder Expense Funds (OEFs). OEFs are made up of contributions made to groups. Under this recommendation, these groups would be lawmakers by anybody who wants to give them. Lawmakers can use the funds to pay for things incidental to holding office. Many lawmakers spend the dollars for travel costs, meals, books, subscriptions--anything they feel they need to do their been too many questionable expenditures in recent years. For example, news stories have detailed OEF spending for lavish gifts, tickets to sporting events, alcoholic beverages, redecorating, etc. This sort of abuse shakes the public faith in lawmakers and the legislative process. I'm now convinced the best way to eliminate these questionable expenditures is to eliminate OEFs altogether. That is now our goal.

Second is a ban on all cash honoraria, which means legislators could not accept cash payment for speaking engagements. While public speaking does take time, it is part of our jobs to inform the people and make ourselves available. Citizens already pay us for our time through their tax dollars. However, lawmakers could still accept an award such as a trophy, plaque, certificate or memento.

A third recommendation would jam the revolving door by prohibiting lawmakers from resigning to become lobbyists Under current law, a legislator can resign in the middle of his or her term and immediately take a job as a lobbyist or lobbying agent. This creates a problem because the lawmaker is in a position to potentially push proposals throughout the process that could benefit the special interest group he or she hopes, or plans, to work for. Although I don't believe this has happened, the potential for it does exist. This creates a perception among the public that can further lead to cynicism about officeholders. This is not healthy in our democracy. By prohibiting lawmakers from resigning to work as lobbyists, we can help to change this for the better.

The fourth recommendation requires the reporting of travel and lodging expenses paid by associations or special interest required to report any travel and lodging expenses provided to a lawmaker and send a copy of that report to the affected

When associations invite a lawmaker to attend and speak at a conference in a different city or state, for example, the While most lawmakers use OEFs responsibly, there have group may cover the cost of that trip. However, there is no reporting requirement in the law. So, the public is unaware This change would better inform the public and make lawmakers more accountable to their constituents.

The great majority of officeholders--Democrat, Republican and Independent--are ethical, hard-working people trying to serve their constituents in the best way they know how These changes, however, will help make our system more accountable and, in the long run, create more confidence among the public that their elected officials are doing their jobs without undue influence from special interests.

The most important aspect of accountability in our system lies with you and I as voters. Through the election process, we can hold our elected representatives (including myself) accountable. We must be aware of the candidates' integrity and where they stand on issues before we vote. Fortunately, our forefathers created a system in which the voter has the last say

Dear Editor:

In writing this letter on Friday, June 10, I have no way of knowing how the School Board Election will turn out on Monday, June 13. It has certainly been a challenging, interesting and eye-opening experience to have run for a seat on the Board of Education. Elected or not elected, however, it is important that the citizens of the Lowell District are aware of the most recent events leading up to Election Day.

The most intense experience of the campaign was working with the media. In a one-month time frame, there were three forums, two interviews with The Ledger and two interviews with The Grand Rapids East Press. With this "whirlwind" of activity, perhaps it was bound to hap-

Retin-A, a derivative of Vitamin A, has been advertised and promoted lately as being effective in erasing skin wrinkles. Glowing early reports were followed by less promising research results suggesting that Retin-A merely plumps up wrinkles temporarily, by irritating the skin.

The results of the study were striking: Those in the Retin-A group had 80 percent more of the collagen-forming protein than they did before treatment, while levels in the untreated group fell by 14 percent. This tells us that Retin-A is actually effective in forming collagen, and not just "plumping-up" the

The question still remains: Can the patient tolerate Retin-A? Many patients complain of a harsh burning sensation when using it. It also may make the skin more sensitive to ultraviolet light, and thus more susceptible to sun damage. Retin-A must also be used indefinitely; if it is discontinued, any positive effect that has occurred will vanish. The best advice remains the same: to avoid wrinkles, stay out of the sun and/ or tanning salons.

TO RECEIVE PUBLIC COMMENT ON AN APPLICATION FROM THE LOWELL AREA SCHOOLS TO AMEND THREE OF THE CONDI-TIONS SPECIFIED IN THE SPECIAL EXCEPTION USE PERMIT UNDER WHICH THE NEW HIGH SCHOOL IS BEING CONSTRUCTED AND THE PROPERTY DEVELOPED.

On February 10, 1992 the Vergennes Township Board approved the application of the Lowell Area Schools for a Special Exemption Use Permit, subject to nine specific conditions. As provided in the Vergennes Township Zoning Ordinance, the Lowell Area Schools are asking for reconsideration of three of these nine conditions by applying for an amendment to their Special Use Permit. The three conditions being appealed are:

*That the construction well drilled on the property be closed upon completion of construction. The Lowell Schools wish to continue use of this well for lawn maintenance.

*That the Lowell Area Schools submit additional technical information from a qualified source that its proposed maintenance plan for drainage runoff is adequate to protect against contamination of the aquifer and the local private wells used for potable house-

MAYO CLINIC DEBUNKS STROKE MYTH

In a comprehensive study, the Mayo Clinic has put to rest the notion that chiropractic manipulation of the neck is dangerous or causes strokes. Recently, a T.V. show, The Crusaders, dishonestly and maliciously portrayed Doctors of Chiropractic as causing strokes with manipulations.

The Mayo report said the risk of stroke from a chiropractic cervical adjustment, unlike many common medical procedures, was statistically insignificant.

ONE FAT CHICK

Chicken cooked on a rotisserie is only slightly lower in saturated fat than fried chicken. The fats are simply reabsorbed back into the meat in rotisserie chickens. Chicken tip: White meat is always lower in fat than dark meat.

PARENTS ALERT: CIGARETTES FOR YOUNG FEMALES

Cigarette companies are making special efforts to hook young female smokers, this according to a report from the University of Berkeley in California. The rate of female smokers will equal that of men early in the nxet century, causing taxpayers billions in sickness and death related to smoking. It will also cause many more deaths in females. Congress has not yet labeled cigarettes as containing a dangerous and addictive drug, nicotine, despite medical researchers proof to the contrary. Parents should take extra care to protect young women from this serious health threat.

Area residents may write to Dr. Tuthill at DOCTORS CHIROPRACTIC, 11829 E. Fulton, Lowell or call 897-4999 for free copies of scientific studies on medical and chiropractic treatment options for low back pain at no charge.

The Biggest Building Project He'll Ever Tackle Is Right In His Own Backyard.

Men spend a lot of time on the job building things. Building houses. Building cars. Building business.

But some of the most important building men do isn't done at work. It's done at home when they help their kids learn to take responsibility. When they teach them the difference between right and wrong. When they encourage them to strive for excellence.

Some of the most important building men do is building character in children . . . and building bonds that last forever.

The Lowell High School Class of '94 Senior All Night Party theme was Rockin & Lockin the Doors of '94. It was a great success, with over 90% of the class attending. The first stop of the evening was the new High School, where dinner was served. Everyone enjoyed the Karaoke sing along, and the baby picture contest kept everyone guessing who's who. The next stop was the East Hills Athletic Club for swimming, basketball, tug-of-war, tennis and a chance in the casino. Students also were able to make a video Fun Flick. The last stop of the long night was Larkin's Other Place for dancing and more food.

On behalf of the Senior Parents and the Class of '94, we would like to thank the following merchants, organizations, churches, foundations, and individuals that donated to this great event. You have helped us provide our young adults with a fun and safe celebration of an important milestone in their lives.

Have I got a fishing story.....

Cody Merklinger, eight-years- old, was the envy of all fishermen Sunday night when he reeled in a 24-inch, 3 1/2 pound walleye from the Grand River. Merklinger was fishing with his father, Dale Merklinger, on the upper car bridge. The Alto School youngster was fishing with crawlers. It took him four to five minutes to land the walleve.

To My Patients:

After 33 years of serving your medical needs, I have decided to retire at the end of July, 1994. Although I've certainly enjoyed my years as a physician in Lowell, I will be spending my time pursuing some hobbies, relaxing after a very demanding career and also serving some medical needs. I will be working a few hours per week at the Baptist College in Grand Rapids attending to their students' medical needs and have also been accepted into the World Medical Mission hoping to do some mission work in Africa or other areas of the world.

Joining Dr. Evenhouse and assuming a large portion of my practice will be John R. Mogor, M.D. Dr. Mogor will begin here on August , 1994. He is completing his training as a specialist in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics in Dayton, OH.. This dual certification is a real plus for total family care here in Lowell. Dr. Mogor is married to Ann and has two children. I am sure that you will find Dr. Mogor competent, caring and ready to meet your needs.

Although we are hoping Dr. Mogor and Dr. Evenhouse will be able to handle the load, they would like especially to service the Lowell community. If you live outside the Lowell area, for example, Grand Rapids, Ionia, Cedar Springs, etc., I would encourage you to find a family doctor closer to your home. This will be more convenient for you, as well as helping Drs. Evenhouse and Mogor better meet the needs in their own community. Blue Care Network and Priority Health members will need to change their primary care physician to Dr. Mogor.

It has been a pleasure to serve you for the past 33 years; I wish you the best of health!

Sincerely,

Donald G. Gerard. M.D.
