· · · 75 tons of home was moved Saturday from the United Methodist Church to three-quarters of a mile east on Main Street. The move took just under 4 hours, the labor of 14 men and the cooperation and understanding of both city residents and businesses on the east end of town.

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

It was the biggest move of Greg and Deb Canfield's lives.

For two hours on Saturday, the Canfield's watched as their newly acquired 75-ton house was tugged slowly down Main Street. The 3/4 of a mile trip was filled with intermittent stops so that power lines could be moved from harms way.

Lowell Light and Power Supervisor Paul Christman said there were 30-plus lines taken down and then put back up so the house could be transported to its new location at 1126 E. Main St. The move was Grand Rapids.

The house served as a parsonage to the Lowell First United Methodist Church from 1907 until February of this year. A Shepard Dr.

The move of the 90-year old home caused a number of homes and businesses on the east end of town to be without electricity most of the morning. Many of the residents turned spectators.

"The move was quite a spectacle," Greg Canfield said with a laugh. "Charging admission would have helped me cover my moving cost."

Canfield paid the church $5,000 for the home. He said the cost for disconnecting the power and telephone lines was around $11,000.

"The move may have been an inconvenience for some, but we saved the house," Deb Canfield said. Keiser's Chris West carried out by Rollaway Movers Inc. of said Saturday morning was probably the worst morning not to have electricity.

The downed power lines were cause for Keiser's Kitchen to be closed for one hour and 45 minutes. "Saturday is probably our new parsonage is now located at 640 busiest morning. But everyone was real nice. Parsonage, cont'd. pg. 8

Building boom bodes well for Vergennes Township's future

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

The building boom continues to hit Vergennes Township and most of it can be contributed to the new high school.

The latest additions to the trend include a site condo project located on Burrows and an eight home development on Vergennes Avenue, almost directly across from the high school.

Developer Kevin Rude, of Ada, said his eight home development, located on 55 acres of land zoned rural agricultural, will be called StoneRidge and has only five lots remaining.

"We expect the lots to go fast because of its location to the high school and the fact that the homes don't sit next to each other," said Rude.

The development consist of three-three acre lots, four-10 acre lots, and one-six acre

"The lots are heavily wooded and you won't see your neighbor when you look out your window," said Rude. "We're building a rustic log cabin on one of the lots and as the others sell we'll develop those."

Rude said the lots will sell for approximately $60,000 per 10 acre lot and $30,000 per 3 acre lot.

The site condominium project in development wasn't something that Ron Blain, developer and owner, just happened to think of one day, it's something he has wanted to do for more than 20 years.

"I've had my eyes on that property for 20 years and when it finally became available I jumped at it," said Blain.

The project, called River that the parcels are big enough Bluff, lies on 120 acres of land zoned residential I and will be constructed in two phases.

Phase I, which is currently under way, will call for the development of 32 lots. Phase II will also consist of 32 lots to be developed, but will not happen until the first phase is completed.

"Right now were taking reservations and working on the private road. We expect to have the road finished in three weeks and then will begin to develop the land," said Blain.

Blain said phase I of the project will place condominiums on 1-2 acre parcels, while phase II will place them on 2-8 acre sites.

The starting price for lots is $19,900 and can go as high as $36,000, depending on the size of the lot and its location.

Blain, a resident of Vergennes, said his River Bluff development will remain mostly "timbered" and will look a lot like his other site condominium development Flat River Forest in Vergennes Township.

Plane crash prompts discussion of fire and rescue availability between Boston Township and city

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

In the mid-evening hours on June 14 a small plane, carrying three passengers and its pilot (Stuart Erbentraut), crashed in Ionia County, near the Lowell Charter Township border.

Nobody was seriously injured in the crash, but as a result of the incident Boston Township officials and the Saranac Fire Department have discussed coming to an agreement with the city of Lowell's fire and rescue teams.

The agreement, which is still in its infancy, would have Lowell's team respond to an incident near the border.

Lowell City Manager Dave Pasquale said nothing formal has been submitted to the city, but is aware of the discussions.

Boston Township Supervisor Bob Dunton said his board hasn't formally discussed the matter, but expects to do so this Wednesday night.

New statute makes Finkler case unique

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

A Lowell man was bound over to the Kent County Circuit Court on a charge of second-degree vulnerable adult abuse under a new statute that has not been used in Kent County.

"That is what's unique about this case," said Assistant Kent County Prosecutor Helen Brinkman. "Prior to the new statute, there was not a law protecting vulnerable adults."

> The well of thoughts has run dry.... Hold it, there is one more. President Clinton may not get elected to a second term (I still think he will) but his critics can never say he didn't try tackling the tough issues. With a little more than a year before the election many would have left the diplomatic relations issue with Vietnam on the back burner. At the time I write this t seems Clinton will open up diplomatic relations with Vietnam. A tough call at any time, a tougher call when an election looms in the not so distant future. Is it possible here's a man putting his conviction and beliefs above politics?

WARTS

Common warts are due to infection of the skin by a virus. The virus enters the skin through a small tear in the surface. This is why warts are found most commonly on the hands and feet - those areas exposed to the most trauma.

Although common warts are considered contagious, they aren't spread easily from one person to another. Once the virus enters the deep tissue of the skin it triggers growth of a benign skin tumor - the wart.

Most warts are harmless and do not need to be removed unless they are unsightly or painful. Most warts will disappear spontaneously within a year or two. Once the immune system recognizes and destroys the offending virus the wart resolves. This natural resolution accounts for the popularity of many folk remedies to treat warts. If you choose not to treat a wart, it is no more likely to spread than if it was destroyed. Remember, it's not the wart that causes other warts but the virus within

If you choose treatment for a painful or cosmetically unappealing wart, there are many options available. Daily application of topical acids are useful for single warts. Destruction of the wart by cryosurgery (freezing), electrocautery (burning), laser (vaporization) and excision are all useful modalities that can be performed in your physicians office.

Oh, we almost forgot, there is no truth in the myth that warts are caused by handling toads!

TIMOTHY E. HARMON, Minister

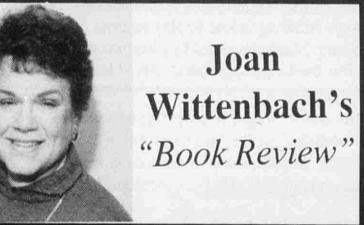

When divorced parents have trouble collecting child support from their former spouses, they usually turn to the Friend of the Court (FOC). As many of you know, the Michigan Friend of the Court acts as a "mediator" of sorts between parents and sets up a system for child support. Well, in the past several years, there's been strong evidence that our FOC system isn't running as smoothly and effectively as we had hoped it would.

To help find some solutions to the problems surrounding the FOC, the Senate appointed a committee to review the system. And last year, the Senate Subcommittee on the Friend of the Court held 10 public hearings across the state to allow those who both depend on and work within the system to share their experiences and make suggestions for improvements. By the end of the first hearing, it was clear changes are absolutely necessary. Individuals who use the system complained of slow turnaround, missed support checks and major backlogs. Those who work for the FOC said they are understaffed and overworked. The testimony was the same at every hearing.

After two years of research and hearings, the Senate last month introduced a comprehensive 40-bill bipartisan package to totally revamp Michigan's Friend of the Court system. By putting common sense into practice, the package would ensure more children would be able to spend time with both parents

"Hey, let's go to Africa!" The two children jumping on the trampoline looked up in smiling recognition. "Yeah, whyte," a disgusted, overly warm voice bounced off in my direction. "It's just as hot here as in Afwica."

"Ah, come on Kourt," my grandson velled, "Grandma's working for the courts less harrowing.

If enacted, the legislation would put Michigan at the nation's forefront with the strictest laws against deadbeat parents. It would also give the courts the power to make the custodial parent accountable for exactly how child support dollars are being spent. That provision not only evens up the scales of justice, it also makes sure children are getting the support they need.

Another part of the package—perhaps the most controversial element in the plan—would transfer of FOC jurisdiction to the county boards of commissioners. This change would improve parental access and provide for more direct accountability. However, before this change is made, there will be much discussion among the judicial and legislative branches of government, as well as by current FOC officials and county commissioners.

Other bills in the package would:

Establish electronic fund transfers of child support pay-and when she felt hopeless, she remembered something else that her grandfather had told her: "Follow the afternoon herds; they will lead you to the river. Home is on the other side." All through that hot afternoon, they followed a herd of zebra. (The two page spread of that scene called out to Kourt: "Oh, Grandma, look—there they are. They look so little.

and receive the financial support they need, as well as make define the custodial parent as fiduciary, making the custodial parent accountable for spending of child support payments to bench warrants for costs of their arrests and use those funds Clarify that paternity is a civil proceeding;

• Require Michigan to join the Uniform Interstate Family Support Act to assist with collection of interstate child support · Require employers to report new hires; and · Make FOC information easy to understand.

As you can see, we have a lot of work ahead of us. Without question, the FOC system is a complicated one. However it is also an extremely important source of assistance for families and children. Coping with divorce is tough enough without subjecting families to problems with the court system. It's time to make a change.

As I mentioned, the packaged has been in the preparation • Clarify public education of children residing in more than stages a long time and the committees expect to begin another series of hearings by this fall with full Senate consideration by the end of the year.

In the end, we will get a package that will make the system work better for FOC staff, parents and —most importantly—

As darkness settled on the two travelers, and weariness overwhelmed their bravery, Jamina once again remembered something her grandfather said: "If ever you are in danger, never lose hope." Sometime later, she awoke to the deep, gentle murmurings of a herd of elephants. Lovingly she pushed the baby toward them saying, "Take this little one, and keep him safe."

Jamina's mother found her sometime later sleeping in the grass. As they walked toward the village, she whispered to herself, "I will never be a hunter."

By this time my grandchildren had nestled close beside me, into the heart of the story. It was then a little voice whispered to me-"Oh, Grandma, read it again."

Council approves Thomet's variance By Thad Kraus

Lowell Ledger Editor

Lowell City Council acting as the zoning board of appeals approved a variance for the construction of a garage across the street from Alfred "Duke" Thomet's residence at 412 N.

According to the zoning ordinance, accessory buildings may not be built upon any lot in which there is no principle building or structure, except when an accessory to a principle use on an adjoining lot in common ownership.

Thomet wanted to construct the garage across the street from his own residence. This raised the question as to whether the lot would be considered adjacent. The Lowell Planning Commission ruled it was not adjacent and that a variance would be needed.

Thomet said he intends to construct a garage approximately 32-35 feet by 50 feet in size, large enough to house his motor home. The structure will be located at the northeast corner of

FOR THE WEEK OF JULY 21 THROUGH JULY 27

The cast of ER includes Noah Wyle, Sherry Stringfield, Anthony Edwards, George Clooney and Eriq LaSalle (from left). Dr. Lance Gentile, a veteran emergency room physician, serves as a staff writer and medical consultant for the Thursday show, helping make it NBC's biggest hit of the 1994-95 season.

Do you agree with security advisers draft that recommends that the President restore full diplomatic relations with Vietnam thereby closing a bitter chapter in American History?

Dan Wingeier Jr. I do agree with the recommendation. Instead of holdlet's move forward. This idea. might provide a better chance of something positive coming Jeff Videan If it will help us get more information on the MIAs and ing it over Vietnam's head, POWs than I think it is a good POWs than definitely do it.

Roxane Hill If it will help get us information on the MIAs and

Board member Ellen

Dan Jackson It's a good idea. Let history be history - learn from it and move forward. A lot of bad has happened between the two countries, if we can learn from that then maybe some good can come from it.

Probably I do. Let history speak for itself and move on. As long as Vietnam continues to divulge information in regards to POWs and MIAs.

Steve Risner

McClain said.

Bleke said he felt tion was best for the district at Calvin Kamphuis I'm against it. They have never been helpful and I don't believe they ever will be.

Louise Kamphuis If it will help to set families' minds at ease as to the fate of their sons, then I'm in favor of it.

NOTICE OF REVIEW OF APPORTIONMENTS

The Lowell Ledger-Wednesday, July 12, 1995-Page 17

James Moran

No. It's great that some strides are being made, but strides over one, two three and even five years doesn't rectify what happen over a decade ago. Diplomatic relations should not be used as a way to start a relationship with Vietnam, instead it should be used as a way to end it. Vietnam Veterans were slapped in the face when they returned from the war. I think providing diplomatic relations after a couple years of cooperation is just another slap in the face to the veterans.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that on Monday, the 24th day of July, 1995, at the Kent County Drain Commissioners Office, 1500 Scribner Ave., N.W., Grand Rapids, Michigan, 49504, County of Kent, or such place and time, I, Roger G. Laninga, Kent County Drain Commissioner, may adjourn, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the "WINSLOW DRAIN," and the apportionments thereof will be subject to review on the above specified date only, from 9:00 A.M. until 5:00 P.M. Also on this date, the computation of cost for said drain will be open for inspection by any interested parties. You many also review your apportionments by phone at (616) 336-3687.

WHEREAS. You are further advised that, pursuant to Section 155 of the Michigan Drain Code of 1956, as amended, any owner of land within the Drainage District or any city, village, township, district or county feeling aggrieved by the apportionments within ten (10) days after the Day of Review of Apportionment by making an application to the Kent County Probate Court for the appointment of a Board of Review.

AS A PROPERTY OWNER WITHIN THE DISTRICT, YOU ARE SUBJECT TO A SPECIAL ASSESSMENT FOR A PORTION OF THE COST OF THIS PROJECT.

The following government units and permanent parcel numbers of the parcels of land within the Special Assessment District of said drain will be assessed: 41-20-31-400-004, 007, 011, 013 and 015 to 017, 41-20-32-300-006, 008, 010, 011, 014, 016 and 017, 41-24-05-100-002, 006 to 008, 015, 022, 023, 038 and 039, 41-24-06-200-004 to 008, 010 and 011, 41-24-06-301-001 and 002, 41-24-06-326-001, 41-24-06-400-013, 015, 034, 036 and 037, County of Kent, Township of Bowne and the Township of Lowell.

NOW, THEREFORE, All unknown and nonresident persons, owners and persons interested in the above described lands, and you: Terry L Land, Clerk of Kent County, Christian Wenger, Supervisor of Bowne Township, John R. Timpson, Supervisor of Lowell Township and Jon Rice, Managing Director, Kent County Road Commission, that at such time and place, as stated above, the apportionment for benefits and the lands comprised within the Winslow Drain Special Assessment District will be subject to

AND EACH OF YOU, owners and persons interested in the above referenced parcels of land, are hereby given the opportunity to appear at the time and place noted above to review the apportionments and be heard with respect to such special assessments and your interests in relation to them, if you so desire.

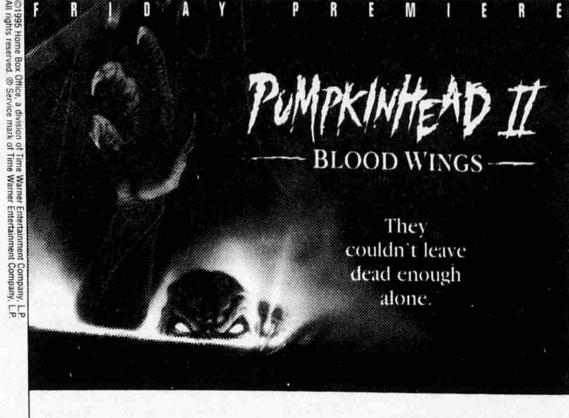

Dated this 12th day of July, 1995.

Roger G. Laninga, Kent County Drain Commissioner

The Lowell Board of education approved school superintendent Bert Bleke's recommendation of appointing Scott Vashaw high school principal and Jim Harden middle school principal for the 1995-96 school year. "It is my hope that these appointments do not say to people that Lowell Schools is accepting the status quo," Bleke said, "Lowell Schools is open to change and will continue to push for raised expectations."

Bleke said that Vashaw has the capability, passion and most importantly the ability

Veen's "dream" celebrates its 25th anniversary and continues to reveal wonders

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

Forty-five years ago James C. Veen had a dream. A dream which came true, but unfortunately a dream he never saw. His dream was to build an observatory in Grand Rapids from which people could view the "wonders of the stars." "It took 20 years after Mr. Veen's original idea for the observatory to be built. It took a lot of support from several individuals, but it finally was opened," said Paula Blumm. "We just wish Mr. Veen could have been with us when it happened." To celebrate the occasion, which took place on June 21, 1970, the Grand Rapids Amateur Astronomical Association (GRAAA) conducted an anniversary celebration.

"It was a nice turn out. More than 150 people came out for the celebration and to view the wonders that the sky reveals at this time of the year," said Blumm.

Although some of the sky highlights from that day have passed, Blumm said many more still exist.

Astronomy buffs hoping to get a peek of the seasons highlights can do so at the associations upcoming open house.

The annual open house will take place from dusk until approximatley 11:30 p.m. between August 5-12. Blumm said the open house will allow visitors to look through the observatories big telescope and any number of smaller telescopes which will be made available.

"We'll conduct the open house every night of the week regardless of the weather conditions," said Blumm.

Weather permitting visitors will have the opportunity to view Pleiads meteor shower, Jupiter, and a Saturn with its rings by its members. in an unusual edgewise position.

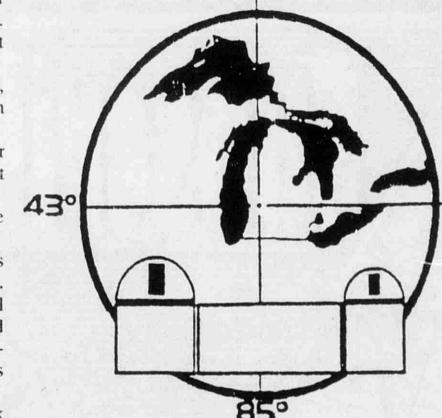

Other sites include the nebula, and star clusters.

"Normally during the meteor shower you could see as much as 100 meteors in an hour, but because we expect a full moon that amount probably will not be viewable," said Blumm. "However, we still expect to see a lot of meteors... so it will still be quite a show."

The "show" Blumm refers too is just one of the many activities the observatory has hosted during the past 25 years. In its infancy the observatory was a "labor of love" for members of the GRAAA.

The materials and labor that went into the construction of the project took five years to complete and were volunteered

"In the beginning water and other items had to be carried up the half mile hill everyday," said Blumm. "Everything was donated and overseen by volunteers and it remains that way to Constructing the observatory may have been difficult, but paying for it was made much easier thanks to James and After searching through most of Grand Rapids the association found the perfect spot at the perfect price.

The Marron's agreed to lease the land to the association for 99-years at the cost of $1 a year.

"The Marron's have been very generous with the association and have put up with a lot of activities that goes on over there and they need to be thanked for their efforts," said

Blumm said the fact that the observatory has held true to its roots is also a remarkable accomplishment.

"Other than funds for some big ticket items, everything that goes into making the observatory a fixture in the community is done so by volunteers," said Blumm. "This is probably one of the best privately owned observatories in the Midwest." The volunteer effort, backed by some very technical members, has also managed to keep up with the changing times. One of the observatories telescopes is now computer controlled. Blumm said visitors can now either view the stars through modern technology or "do it the old fashion way."

"Looking through a computer is nice, but it can't replace the real thing," said Blumm. "Viewing the stars first hand gives an individual this incredible sense of movement. Sometimes we forget that the earth is in constant rotation of the sun, telescopes help remind us of that fact."

Besides the open house, the observatory is open every other Saturday, weather permitting. Following the open house it will be open every Saturday, from dusk until approximately 11:30 weather permitting, until mid-October.

Blumm said visitors should bring insect repellent and expect to walk a half mile up the hill.

"We have some parking, but it's limited to handicapped individuals," she said.

Gene Ellens hired by school to build an elementary art program

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

The presence of Chris VanAntwerp was missing from the Lowell School Board meeting Monday night, but it is safe to say, with the hiring of an elementary art teacher, VanAntwerp's spirit was clapping his hands and stomping his feet.

The hiring of Gene Ellens, as the elementary arts teacher begins to fill a void in the art curriculum that VanAntwerp felt was long overdue. School board secretary Norm Byrne concurred. "I'm very pleased we were able to bring an art teacher to the elementary level. I'm just sorry it took so long," he said.

Ellens was chosen from a list of 75 candidates by the interview team of Mary Ann Schramm (Alto Elementary principal), Louie Dudeck (Bushnell Elementary principal) and Bill Markovich (Cherry Creek Elementary principal).

"Gene is responsible for building art programs at South Christian Schools and in Africa and he's done that well," Markovich said.

DeJong named new keeper of Oakwood Cemetery

By Thad Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

Finding markers and acclimating himself to the approximately 20 acres that make up Oakwood Cemetery filled Don DeJong's first week as the new city sexton.

"Right now I'm just getting a feel for where markers are located and how they are numbered." DeJong said. "That and I'm learning what my perceived role is."

DeJong, who came to Lowell in 1985, worked seven years at Honey Creek Christian Homes as director of the building and grounds.

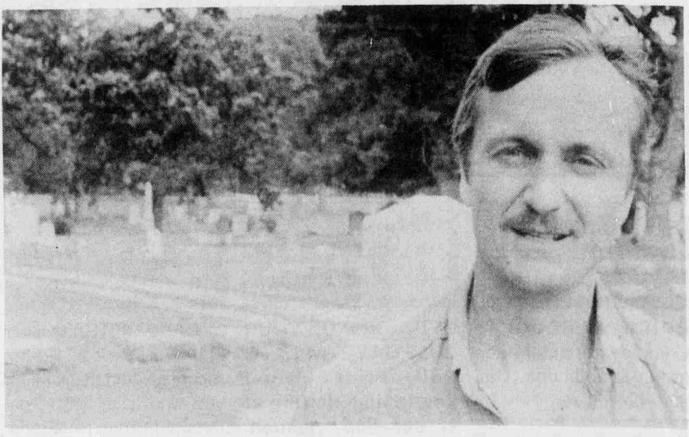

"It was a shame to see a ministry with such a good purpose wither away and die," DeJong said. "I spent the couple of years after that filling in with side jobs, but it's nice to have job stability again."

DeJong's new job will also include helping with plowing city streets and shoveling city sidewalks. "In the fall and winter I will help the public works department. My job is both diverse and flexible."

His hobbies include gardening, woodworking and operating an old-fashioned letter press which was given to him from his grandfather.

"I print thought-provoking sayings, stationery for gifts and return address labels," DeJong said.

DeJong and his wife Marianne have three children: Ben, Luke and Joyanna.

Don DeJong is Lowell's newest sexton.

IN THE SERVICE

Navy Seaman Darren K. Shockney, son of Larry K. and Mary D. Shockney of Ada, is halfway through a sixmonth overseas deployment to the Persian Gulf aboard the guided missile frigate USS sailors aboard the ship which departed Yokosuka, Japan, in February for the six-month assignment with the Middle East Force. Shockney has been operating in the Persian Gulf helping conduct maritime interceptions of merchant ships suspected of violating the international embargo against Iraq. Shockney and fellow shipmates have been questioning and searching ships in international waters suspected of smuggling prohibited materials to and from Iraq in violation of the Shockney also participated in several multinational exercises with forces from Great Britain, Kuwait and Thailand. In the Persian Gulf, Shockney's ship trained firing its large and small caliber guns at targets and conducting choke point operations. In an area where more than half the world's oil is transported by merchant ships through narrow choke points such as the Strait of Hormuz, ships like Shockney's play an invaluable role in providing security and stability to the region. Equipped with sophisticated radar, sonar and weapons systems, Shockney's ship can combat submarines, ships and aircraft.

Shockney's ship represented the United States at the International Defense Exhibition in the United Arab Emirates, in which the U.S. Ambassador to the United Arab Emirates and Secretary of Defense William Perry visited the ship.

While spending most of the deployment at sea, Shockney has also visited Kuwait, Singapore, and Thailand.

Shockney's involvement in the deployment is an example of how U.S. sailors are serving aboard ships, submarines and aircraft carriers around the world from the Persian Gulf and Western Pacific Ocean to the Mediterranean Sea. Whether projecting power or delivering humanitarian assistance from the sea, these highly trained naval forces provide a unique forward presence and crisis-response option, which can be withdrawn quickly when no longer needed.

Vergennes Township adopts cemetery ordinance

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

Non-residents of Vergennes Township hoping to purchase a cemetery plot within the township limits will find the going a little rough since the township board has adopted a new cemetery ordinance.

Residents of Vergennes township will still only pay $30 for a lot, but non-residents fees have been raised from $200 to $300 per lot.

"We're trying to discourage non-residents from buying a lot because we don't have many of them left and we don't have a perpetual care fund to maintain them," said Vergennes Township Clerk Mari Stone.

Stone said taxpayers pay for the upkeep of its four cemeteries, therefore they should be the ones to benefit .

However, Stone said in some cases an exception can be made.

"If somebody has siblings buried in one of our cemeteries and they want to be next to them, then we could probably make an exception," said Stone.

The provisions of the ordinance also discourages the selling of lots to funeral directors, doesn't allow current lot holders to sell their lots to others, and allows current lot holders to leave a lot vacant for only 40 years.

"We're not going to rip the plots from owners at the end of 40 years, but we're trying to discourage them from holding them for hundreds of years," said Stone. "After 40 years we will send owners a letter in which they have 60 days to reply or the lots revert back to the township."

Currently the township has only two cemeteries which remain active.

Fox Cemetery, located near Lincoln Lake Drive and Vergennes Avenue, and Krum cemetery, Vergennes and Cumberland Drive, are not in use, but are maintained by the township.

Bailey and Fallasburg cemeteries still allow for more lots, but the number is limited.

"Bailey's old section is no longer in use, but its new section is still available and there is property set aside for future use," said Stone.

Stone said Fallasburg still has lots, but because of its rustic appearance it isn't as popular as the Bailey Cemetery.

Other provisions of the ordinance include limiting the amount of markers to one per site, stipulating that markers must be made of stone or other durable materials, and allowing only flowers to be planted next to a grave site.
