Gift to school opens doors for students to global world of internet

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

The largest resource library is now at the fingertips of Lowell High School students.

Accessing this information will be as easy as surfing the internet. Students can now surf the internet not only in Kent County but worldwide for business information, daily stock market updates, on line magazines, financing programs, word processing programs and utility programs - to name a few.

This global information opportunity became available when Dale Wilcox, owner of Wings BBS (Bulletin Boards Systems) Inc., offered the Lowell Schools a free connection to the bulletin board system as well as an internet connection.

"The beauty of the internet in public schools is it provides up-to-the-minute information on a variety of subjects from American universities," said Lowell Schools technology coordinator Mark MacDonald. "This will give our students the opportunity to communicate with other internet users (schools across the country)."

Wilcox said being a Lowell High School graduate and having a daughter who currently attends LHS led him to his decision to offer Lowell High School this free connection.

"I think it is important that children have access and learn about the internet," Wilcox said. "Those students who don't learn about it now will be computer illiterate when they are adults."

In addition to this, MacDonald said by Christmas-time the school will also be hooked up to a router which will allow for multiple users to the bulletin board systems.

"Dale's gift to the school allows for him to showcase his service and it allows our students to browse the internet free of charge," MacDonald said. "Lab policy will require students to be under supervision when connected to the internet."

As part of the original technology bid award, MicroAge will connect the school to an internet provider which will also allow for multiple users on the internet.

Beginning in October computer labs will become available after school to K-12 students. Currently high school students have access to computers after school. MacDonald said the labs will be open until 4:30. "This is due to the volunteer efforts of school instructors," he said.

This coincides with the high demand there currently is for computer use and training at all levels.

This demand is addressed in Lowell Area Schools' 1995-96 technology plan.

MacDonald and curriculum director Jim White presented this year's technology goals to the board of education at its September meeting.

Included in the list of goals were training elementary and middle school teachers to do electronic grading; offering at least one satellite class/course for enrichment to each school; developing a master list of existing software, site licenses, etc; surveying what other districts are doing in technology at a special MACUL forum; reviewing and recommending changes and updates to the computer and applied technology curriculums and reviewing existing technology in each building.

Sunshine befalls Fallasburg Festival

Record crowds attended the Fallasburg Fall Festival this weekend under sunny clouds that took an early autumn chill out of the air. Eleven area food booths worked hard to provide festival visitors with plenty of food. Winning the booth design prizes were the Alto Lions, the Vergennes United Methodist Church, and the Lowell Rotary. Artists were happy with a continuous crowd which challenged the Lowell

High School FFA with their parking needs. The festival concluded on Sunday afternoon with the annual raffle.

The grand prize, a quilt designed and hand-quilted by Dolores Dey, was won by Will Beaton of Grand Haven. There were 68 other prizes awarded, all donated by the festival artists. These prizes can be claimed at the Lowell Area Arts Council Center at 149 S. Hudson between 1 and 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday.

School begins process in deciding what should be done with remaining bond monies

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

There are two fundamental ways the remaining balance from the bond issue can be spent.

The time has come to make that decision.

The process, proposed by Lowell Superintendent Bert Bleke and agreed to by the Lowell Board of Education, will take three months.

"I believe and am hopeful that the board will be able to make that decision at its December meeting," Lowell Superintendent Bert Bleke said. "I think three months is enough time to discuss our options and to have our questions answered."

To insure the board and public have all the relative information to make a knowledgeable decision, Bleke has planned the first of two forums for Tuesday, Oct. 3, at 7:30.

At that meeting will be Brian Lefler of A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc., out of Okemos. He will give a presentation at the forum discussing the board's options. Following the presentation Lefler will answer questions from the board and public.

Lefler has spent the past nine years assisting Michigan school districts, municipalities and authorities to issue more than $2 billion of tax-exempt debt for capital projects.

In addition to experience in bond structuring, documentation and financial analythe blood drive were baked by Theresa Mundt. The Lowell Fire Department organizes four other community blood drives throughout the year. They are held during the months of March, May, July and December.

The 1995-96 school year is Christine Tulley's lucky year. The '95 graduate from Aquinas College landed a job at Lowell Middle School immediately after earning her English degree.

When her first year as a teacher winds down the first week of June, the Constantine native will be anxiously awaiting her June marriage.

"I decided at a young age that I wanted to teach," Tulley said. "As kids my brothers and sisters and I used to play school."

Tulley is employed as the new middle school reading teacher. The position emerged following staff realignment upon the retirement of Arnie Kimball.

Her bachelor of arts degree comes with a K-5 endorsement in all subjects, a sixth- thru eighth-grade endorsement in language arts, and a K-12 reading endorsement.

Tulley was a cross country and basketball star at Constantine. She is helping Tom Harper with this year's cross country team.

The daughter of Paul and Shirley Tulley said she believes a good teacher is someone who is dedicated to teaching, getting to know students as individuals and the community, and who loves teaching.

Homespun Devotions

By Pauline Spray

Dearly beloved, these are you, strangers and pilgrims, abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul (1 Peter 2:11).

It has often been said that a rolling stone gathers no moss. People who constantly shift from one place to another do not accumulate much of this world's goods. But, some individuals cannot be content to remain in the same place for any length of time. They are always on the go. The grass looks greener on the other side of the fence. Instead of establishing a permanent dwelling place, they like to be foot loose and fancy free. Confinement to a certain locality is torment. Other people look on this way of life as entirely undesirable. Getting their roots down is in utmost importance to them. Our society would not stand long if it were made up entirely of those who move about vagrantly. However, Christians have been described as "strangers and pilgrims" on their way to their true abode, the Celestial City. Fellow Christians, we have been admonished to avoid becoming too "deep-rooted" in the affairs of this life. Spiritual things must always hold the uppermost place in our affections; eternal values are of "primary importance."

Prayer: Precious Jesus, Thou art dearer to me than all the allurements of the world. Help me to live on this earth so I shall be ready to live with Thee eternally in the Celestial City. Amen.

Take the world, but give me Jesus. Sweetest comfort of my soul: With my Saviour watching o'er me, I can sing through billows roll.

Women's club inducts high school members

At the first meeting of the GFWC-Lowell Women's Club on Wednesday, September 13, 1995, nineteen senior high school girls were inducted as new "junior" members.

Each girl is sponsored by a LWC member. The girls will attend each meeting and are responsible for presenting a monthly mini-report on subjects of home life, public relations, the arts, conservation, international affairs, Michigan history and education. In addition, the girls help with all fund-raising activities, do support activities for Girlstown, a residential treatment center for young women near Detroit, and host the March luncheon with the foreign students as guests of the club at that meeting. The Lowell Women's Club presents scholarships to three of the girls at its last meeting in May.

Officers of the GFWC-Lowell Women's Club for the 1995 year are: president Diane Thomas, 1st. vice president Barbara Zandstra, 2nd. vice president B.J. Thompson, secretary Betty Yeiter, treasurer Marj Harding.

to donate but couldn't give for whatever reason and the volunteers who worked. However, I was a bit disappointed in the community. Not having current population figures at my fingertips, I may be off a little here, but I'd guess less than five percent of the eligible donors in the Lowell area showed up to donate. Come on Lowell, we can do better than that.

My first, and by far my fondest experience with blood donation dates back a long, long time ago. Back in the olden days, when I was a kid, I spent a lot of time in the summers at my grandparent's farm. I loved it.

My Uncle Seymour, or Sy, as everyone called him, farmed with my grandfather. I must have been about nine or ten and very impressionable when this little incident happened. I remember it quite vividly. Uncle Sy was a hard working, in-shape farmer who seemed almost godlike to a young city kid watching him toil away like he did. I grew up knowing only one thing for sure. I knew I didn't want to be a farmer and have to work that hard the rest of my life.

On this particular day, Uncle Sy went to town and donated a pint of blood during lunch. That afternoon we were baling hay. It was hot. My grandpa was driving the tractor. A cousin and I rode the wagon and dragged the bales from the baler back to Uncle Sy, who then stacked them. Two of us could barely drag the bales and Uncle Sy would toss them high over his head with apparent ease. Like I said, I was always impressed by the guy.

This went on until we dragged a bale back and Uncle Sy was not there. My cousin looked at me. I looked at him. We both leaned out to look back behind the wagon stacked high with hay bales, and there lay Uncle Sy. Out like a light. My grandpa was hard of hearing from being around the farm machinery and my grandmother all his life. We hollered, but he didn't hear us. We jumped from the wagon and ran up ahead of the tractor to finally get grandpa's attention. He shut down the equipment and we all ran back to Uncle Sy.

By this time, Uncle Sy had regained consciousness, gotten to his feet, but was still plenty wobbly. He drank some water, rested in the shade of the wagon for awhile and we went back to work. Apparently the heat, the exertion and being a pint low combined to knock old Uncle Sy's socks off. I was impressed, and grew up thinking this blood donation business was serious stuff. If it could make a physical specimen like my uncle pass out and fall off a hay wagon, I was pretty sure I didn't want any part of it.

I first gave blood while in army basic training. We were promised a half day off duty if we donated, and a twenty-mile hike if we didn't. I overcame my fears and took the lesser of two evils. My fellow donors and I spent the afternoon in the PX drinking 3.2 beer and playing pool while the wimps tromped around the back roads of Ft. Knox. I found out giving blood wasn't such a bad deal after all.

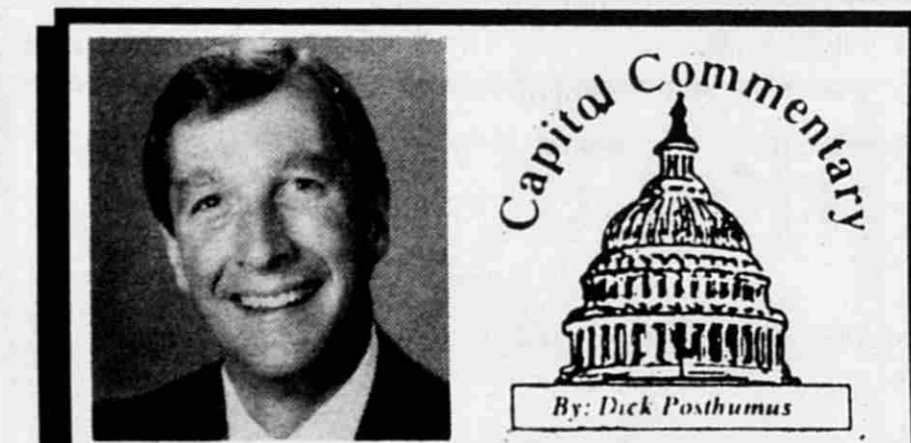

The Lowell Fire Department will be sponsoring a blood drive in a few months. If you've never been a blood donor, why don't you begin psyching yourself up for it now? I can't guarantee you'll get the afternoon off to drink beer and shoot pool after you've donated blood. But, I do know this much...It will be winter by then, so I'm positive you won't fall off a hay wagon.

Shark and Kawasaki and cost anywhere from $4,000 to $7,500.

The alarming accident rate that seems to accompany this, the fastest growing segment of the boating industry, is the main reason why many legislators, like myself, support this legislation. The legislation will require purchasers to receive a safe boating presentation as well as Department of Natural Resources (DNR) prepared safety rules for PWC, and require operators aged 12 through 15 years to present a DNR safe boating certificate, while continuing to prohibit children under 12 from operating a PWC.

Among other provisions of the legislation is the placement of further time restrictions on the operation of PWCs - they couldn't get on the water until a half-hour after sunrise, and would have to be off a half-hour before sunset. Operators would have to observe a slow, no-wake speed within 100 feet of any of the following: a shoreline of a lake, river, or confined channel (measured at a vertical distance), a vessel that is anchored, or moored by a person, as well as docks, rafts, and buoyed or occupied bathing areas.

Michigan and its waters should be enjoyed by one and all. It is part of my responsibility as your state senator to do my part to help ensure the safety of residents and visitors alike. It is with this in mind that I lend my support to the legislation, not for the additional restrictions that it would place on the individuals who enjoy these watercraft, but for the heightened level of safety that it will provide, not only for the operators, but also for other boaters and swimmers.

Personal Watercraft Safety

As summer draws to a close here in Michigan, the legislators return to Lansing, and we will be looking carefully at many pieces of proposed legislation. One of these focuses on personal watercraft or, as they are known in the boating industry, PWCs.

Michigan boasts the greatest concentration of fresh water in the world - the Great Lakes, accompanied by more than 3,000 miles of shoreline and 11,000 inland lakes. If you, and your family and friends, were fortunate enough to spend any amount of time on the water this summer, you are probably familiar with personal watercraft.

They have been called "summer snowmobiles" by many, can easily reach speeds of 50 mph, and have been involved in nearly half of Michigan's boating accidents. They go by such brand names as Sea-Doos, Polaris, Yamaha, Wet-Jet, Tiger

By Ellen McClain

Cost reduction through efficiency is the opposite of a budget-cutting, "austerity" exercise—it means implementing new technologies and complementary organizational designs to achieve given results at ever-declining cost." Lewis Perelman, School's Out.

I attended a forum last month hosted by the local school board association which invited several Michigan legislators to provide a panel discussion of school issues. These eight legislators spoke knowledgeably and courageously regarding education reform and funding: "there can't be flexibility and equality."

Before Proposal A, many districts that were lucky enough to be growing coupled with rising real estate values opted to keep local tax revenues and spend them on their own schools, that allowed them flexibility. Other districts (most notably inner city districts) which may have had static growth or worse yet, experienced both declining population as well as land values, had less students each year and declining revenue. This created inequality in per student spending. In fact, this week it was announced that the city of Detroit may not be eligible to collect a 3 percent city tax because the population may have dropped to below 1,000,000. The revenue picture is not a promising one for more government spending. Yet large, inner city school districts face mammoth fixed expenses just in maintaining old buildings and equipment, not to mention increasing costs of staff and benefits. Thus the dilemma, the few growing districts want to keep the ability to raise and retain local revenue. However, the reality is that a majority of communities would never be able to gain voter approval to raise local taxes.

The legislative solution offered, and arguably not perfect, was to begin to get the schools out of the millage business by leveling out "the playing field." Over several years the per student "foundation grant" (educational lingo for the money received per student) was to be equalized out. Higher spending districts would receive incrementally less, and lower spending districts would receive more, until the two are equal.

The legislators admitted that cost reduction would now be forced into the education arena as has happened to the rest of government and business for years. Senator Posthumus suggested that we would have to become creative in the use of our resources by such things as interactive classrooms that would use one of the county's best science teachers to teach science to hundreds of eighth graders in our county. This would maybe provide funds for something such as smaller kindergarten classrooms consisting of six children.

Unfortunately the local school board association published and distributed only the papers presented by the seven local school board members and not the responses given by our legislators which provided vision and insight for true education reform.

Third art gallery adds youthful flavor to administration offices

By Marc Popiolek
Contributing Writer

The Lowell Area Arts Council's newest gallery holds many distinctions which officials hope enthusiasts of all ages can enjoy.

From 6-8 p.m. on Thursday the LAAC will unveil its newest gallery site to the public.

The new gallery "300 High" is not just your run of the mill gallery; this gallery is located in the administrative offices of the Lowell Area School District.

Besides giving Lowell a third gallery, which is almost unheard of for a community of this size, the new gallery gives children an opportunity to experience the world of art up close.

"We've already gotten favorable comments from the staff and students," said David Davis, LAAC director. "We're looking forward to a long relationship with Lowell schools."

The idea of the project was conceived by Davis and school administrator Jim White. The duo started discussing the possibility of a third gallery in May.

"We wanted to have a gallery which gave the impression of somebody walking into a private collection," said Davis. "We wanted it diverse, but still exciting. I believe we've accomplished that."

The gallery consists of several exhibits geared toward the youth and produced by local artists.

Utilizing oil, acrylic, and water colors, along with metal and wood sculptures, the artists created images of their youth and of things that the young at heart find enjoyable.

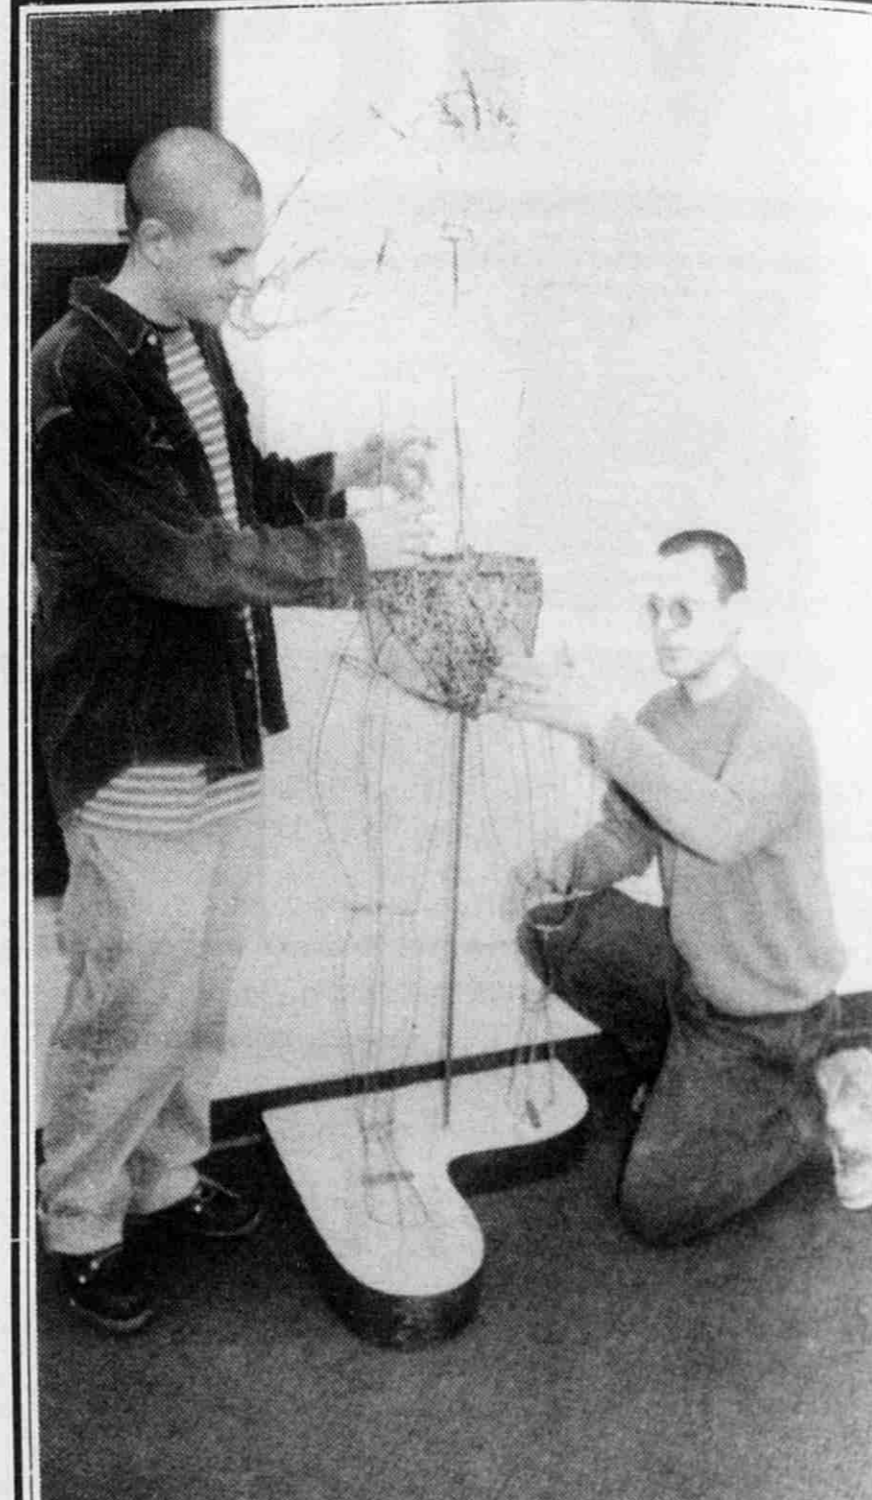

"I don't know how we got it all in, but we did and it looks great," he said. Unlike the LAACs other two galleries, its FMB location and arts center on Hudson Street, the "300 High" exhibits will not change on a monthly basis.

Davis said the gallery will introduce new work about every six months. "300 High" gallery hours are the same as the administrative offices, 7 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and are open to the public.

"We want to invite the public to see the exhibit," said Bleke. "It's a great collection and we really enjoy having it in our offices."

"We've had artwork of kids in offices before, but never local artists and not in a gallery setting," said Bleke. This is really unique and it's a great way to promote art and artists to the youth.

The amount of space at the offices lent itself to a gallery of this nature and Davis was quick to utilize as much of the space as possible.

Aaron Taber, left, high school intern, and artist Martin Hueter set up one of several works of art on display at "300 High," Lowell's newest gallery.

Eastgate residents face high water bills; township still hopes for a reduction

By Marc Popiolek
Contributing Writer

Residents of Eastgate Woods hoping for some relief in their water bills will have to wait a little longer.

The Lowell Charter Township Board approved sending bills to Eastgate residents in the next couple of weeks.

The bills will reflect usage in July and August. It's expected that the average cost would be between $35 and $43 a month, depending on how much water is used.

Township clerk Carol Wells said the township is still hoping something can be worked out between the township and the city of Lowell.

"How much the school uses is not a factor in the rising cost," said Wells. "The school has gone out of its way to cooperate with us in this situation."

Facing a deficit the township approved a 15-cent increase in this situation.

"If something changes and the cost is reduced, residents will be credited," said Wells. "But at this time we don't know if or when that might happen."

It was originally thought that the high cost was a result of the high school not using all of its allotment, but Wells said that is not true.

Wells could not speculate on what caused the increase in cost.

Health With Drs. Paul Gauthier, Jim Lang & Donette Bish

THE "FLU" VACCINE

The new influenza vaccine is now available for the 1995-1996 flu season. In today's column we are going to review some of the latest recommendations regarding the "flu shot."

The vaccination is recommended by the Public Health Service for anyone with chronic lung, heart or kidney disease. It is also recommended for anyone over the ages of 65 regardless of their health status. Every year, thousands are hospitalized with complications that can be attributed to the flu. Immunizations will decrease the likelihood of getting the flu or its complications because it leads to production of protective antibodies.

The "flu" is caused by infection with a virus. Almost everyone has experienced flu symptoms at one time or another. Symptoms include fever, muscle aches, headaches, nausea, vomiting, weakness, runny nose and a cough. Most people are sick for a couple of days, then recover completely. However, in other individuals and in those with chronic medical problems, complications of the flu can lead to severe respiratory infections, including bronchitis and pneumonia.

Large flu outbreaks usually begin in December and can last into early spring. Protection from the vaccine will last about six months and begin about two weeks after receiving the immunization. We usually administer flu immunizations in late September through November. As stated previously any individual with chronic disease should be vaccinated. Anyone that provides medical or home care to chronically ill patients should also be immunized. All those over age 65 should probably be immunized. Actually, anyone who wishes to reduce their chance of acquiring the flu can get the vaccine although it is usually not given to pregnant women.

Side effects of the vaccine may occur, but are uncommon, and include local redness and soreness at the injection site lasting a day or two. Nausea, fever, chills and muscle aches, beginning six-12 hours after vaccination and lasting one to two days rarely is experienced.

Annual vaccination is the single most important measure used to prevent widespread flu epidemics. In past years only about 20 percent of the high risk population has been immunized. Until we increase the number of high risk patients immunized, we will continue to experience serious complications from the flu.

Rotarians seek area professional people for Caribbean visit

Rotarians of Rotary District 6290 are seeking four outstanding business and professional people to visit the southern Caribbean Seas area during the spring of 1996 through the Group Study Exchange Program of the Rotary Foundation.

The program strives to improve international understanding by enabling people from different countries to learn from each other on a personal level. The awards involve exchanging teams of business and professional persons for four-to-six-week visits. The dates will be March 26-May 8, 1996.

While abroad, team members stay with Rotarians to observe their host's way of life and study the economic, social, and cultural characteristics through travel and discussions within participating Rotary districts. Team members also have the opportunity to meet their professional counterparts.

Some 27,000 people from over 100 countries have participated in the GSE program since its inception in 1965, at a cost of more than $46,000,000.

For an application, please contact Sylvia Taylor, 120 N. Broadway, Lowell; 897-9949. Application deadline is October 10, 1995.

Players from the past...Do you remember?

These pictures were brought into the Lowell Ledger office by Ivan Blough. He was given the pictures by Lorna McClure of Clarksville. Her father William Lott was one of the players. The time period for these pictures is 1909-1911. Anyone who can identify any or all of these Lowell football players is asked to either mail or bring in the names to the Ledger office.

Brandner brought in as congregation's first pastor

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

From a two-year grass-root development effort on the part of families in the Cascade/Grand Rapids area, a new Lutheran Church congregation has grown.

Now with approximately 50 members dedicated to the development of the Emmaus Lutheran Church, the Division for Outreach, an employee of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, has called Pastor William Brandner to lead them.

Brandner spent 13 years in Stephenson, MI, prior to accepting the position in the Grand Rapids area.

While his calling takes him into the Cascade/Grand Rapids area, Brandner and his family will call Lowell their home.

"My job over the next couple of years will be to see that the church congregation doubles in size," Brandner said. "The Division for Outreach would like the church to serve Lowell and the west end of Cascade and Ada."

The Division for Outreach studied what had been done without a pastor, and then decided to support the congregation's effort.

"It will be my job to make no less than 100 new contacts a week or 2,500 new people over six months," Brandner said. "This is going to be like a home missionary."

In Brandner's contacts with people, he tells them who he is and what the church is about. "The conversation is less than two minutes. I don't bug people if they already

Homecoming week "A Midnight Walk on the Sand"

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

The homecoming week football game with Forest Hills Central is sure to be a little more arduous than the activities during the week leading up to it.

This year's homecoming theme is "A Midnight Walk on the Sand."

Homecoming week starts Oct. 2. Throughout the week students will be asked to demonstrate their level of spirit through dress and scheduled activities.

On Monday of homecoming week, students will be asked to come to school dressed in their favorite college shirt and/or hat. Tuesday will be beach/Hawaiian Day. At midweek (Wednesday) high school students will celebrate 80s day. Twin day is scheduled for Thursday and red, white and black day is slated for Friday.

Throughout the week there will be lunch time games for students to participate in.

On Wednesday evening at 7:30, the annual Powder Puff football game will kick off at the stadium. There will be a bonfire following the game.

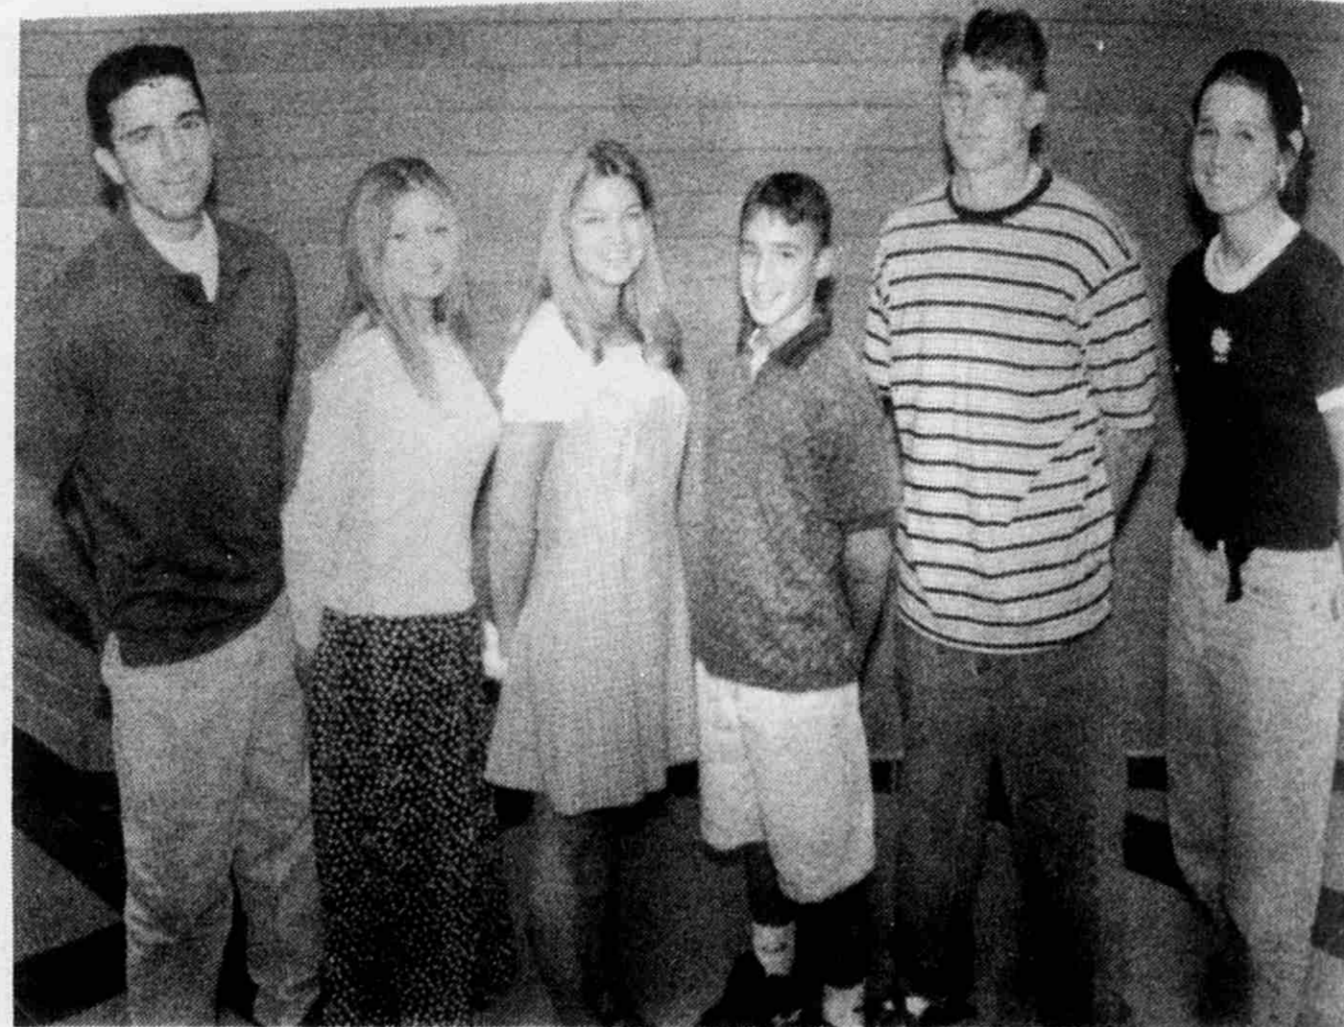

Friday afternoon at 1:30 students will be let out of class for a pep assembly. At this time the homecoming king and queen will be announced.

Following the assembly there will be a tea party for the court and its parents.

The homecoming parade is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. at the Lowell First United Methodist Church.

The World Studies Council will be sponsoring a homecoming cookout from 4:30 p.m. until 8 p.m. The cost is $5. The council will be serving brats and burgers, sauerkraut, baked beans, chips and a beverage. The homecoming dinner will be served at the east entrance of the high school.

Kickoff for the homecoming game with the Rangers is October 6 at 7:30.

Bridal show scheduled for Saturday

The Saturday, Sept. 30 "Love is in the Air - A Bridal Affair" will be held at Larkin's "The Other Place" from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The areas covered in the bridal show will include decorations, announcements, stationery, purchasing a home, and catering as well as make-up and skin care, hair styling, cakes, balloon decorations, jewelry, glamour photographs, music and tuxedos.

Dawn Patrol "fly in" at Lowell City Airport

The weather cooperated beautifully Sunday for a "dawn patrol" fly-in at the Lowell City Airport.

Approximately 50 aircraft stopped by during the event. A pancake breakfast was enjoyed by over 400 people. Approximately 80 visitors took advantage of airplane rides offered by five area pilots.

Kids scrambled over the helicopters flown in by the Michigan National Guard and Grand Rapids Aero-Med unit. Also five antique Stearman biplanes were in attendance and proved a big hit with visitors.

Jim Pfaller, airport board member and chairman of the event, was pleased.

"We netted $1,600 from the pancake and airplane rides...not bad for a first attempt at a project like this," said Pfaller.

The proceeds will be used to help pay the remaining debt of approximately $10,000 from last year's $44,000 runway paving project.

The Lowell Airport Board has been planning the event since early in the year.

The board members, their families and friends, staff from Cornerstone College's Flight School and the Grand Rapids Chapter of the Experimental Aircraft Association all pitched in to make the event a success.

Jim Pfaller, airport board member and chairman of the Roger Brown, chairman of the airport board, said he would like to thank all those who worked so hard to pull this event off.

"I'd like to name you all here, but at the risk of leaving someone out I'll leave it at a simple thank you and congratulations on a job well done," said Brown. "I would like to publicly thank Henry VandeVennen from Vennen Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth, Jeep/Eagle for providing a new van used for transporting pilots and passengers who wished to visit the Fallsburg Fall Festival."

Two biplanes over-fly the Lowell airport during Sunday's fly-in.

Road commission receives go ahead from Lowell Charter Township on Pratt Lake project

By Marc Popielek Contributing Writer

The Kent County Road Commission will perform engineering work on Pratt Lake Avenue after receiving authorization from the Lowell Charter Township Board.

The authorization for Pratt Lake Avenue is the second engineering project for the county on Lowell roads this summer.

Earlier in the summer the township board authorized a study for a portion of Timpson Road.

The Timpson Road project consists of improving the intersection of Timpson and Grand River Avenue.

The latest study will look at a two mile stretch of Pratt

Lake from 28th Street to Cascade Road.

No time frame has been given for the completion of either engineering study.

A petition drive, conducted by Al Grover, 3429 Pratt Lake Avenue, revealed that 42 residents wanted the paving project to be done.

The signatures represented all but two home owners on Pratt Lake Avenue.

Safety concerns and increased traffic were just two of many reasons given by the residents for the paving project.

The engineering study will determine what kind of improvements will be done and how much it will cost.

Township clerk Carol Wells said the township's share of the cost will be split 55/45 with the county. The township will be responsible for 55 percent of the costs. The cost also includes the engineering study.

"If the township decides not to pursue paving on either road, then we (the township) will be responsible for 100 percent of the cost," said Wells

Census bureau to survey area households

The Commerce Department's Census Bureau will visit selected area households beginning Oct. 1 to conduct its Survey of Income and Program Participation (SIPP).

Dwight P. Dean, director of the Census Bureau's Detroit regional office, recently announced.

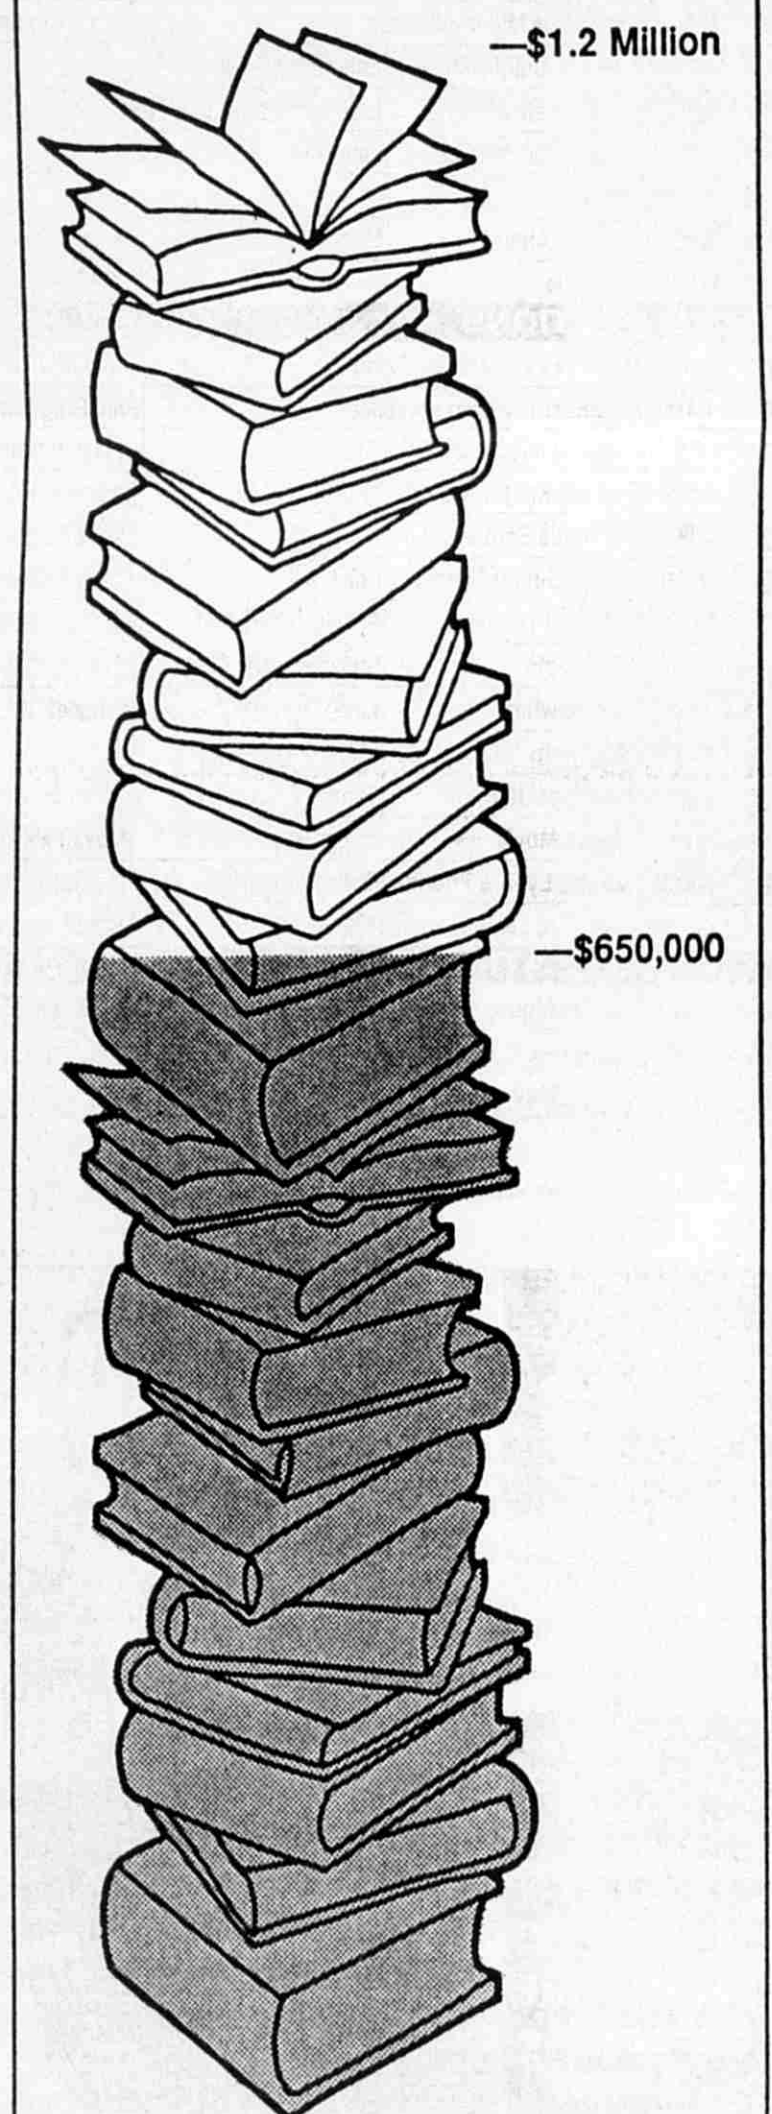

SIPP is a continuing nationwide survey in which Census Bureau representatives interview a sample of 5,000 housing units out of a national total of 109 million. Results will provide information on such wide-ranging topics as jobs, earnings, unemployment, disability, and retirement.

SIPP results also include information on participation in programs such as Social Security, Medicare, Medicaid, food stamps and pension plans.

Census Bureau representatives will send a letter from the director of the Census Bureau to households to be surveyed before contacting them.

Boys cross country team still has work to do if it's to catch Zeeland

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Mark Reinardy's Zeeland Chix cross country team barely had time to catch their breath following their 24-31 win against Lowell at Johnson Park when he reminded them that the victory assured them of nothing.

"This is just one of three big conference races," Reinardy said. "Next week we run against Wyoming Park, and on paper their times have been better than ours in the first two weeks."

For Lowell it was a bitter-sweet afternoon. The Red Arrows' top five runners all recorded season best times. However, it still leaves them with work to do if they are to catch Zeeland at the conference meet.

Before the league meet, Lowell too must run against Wyoming Park (Oct. 18), a club that beat the Red Arrows at the Sparta Invitational. "Our boys ran a great race."

Lowell netters display strong play against Chix

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Coaches are often heard using the overused phrase, "The score doesn't indicate how close a contest was."

The phrase could not be more aptly used than in the case of Lowell tennis player Cheryl Anderson.

"Cheryl has been playing quality tennis for us all year. However, her scores don't indicate it because she's been playing at number one singles," Lowell tennis coach Wendy Ackermann said.

Anderson was defeated in both of her matches against Zeeland and East Grand Rapids last week.

"Cheryl has the hardest job on the team," Ackermann said. "She's playing opponents who have considerably more years of experience than Cheryl has. She has been playing good tennis and holding her own in a difficult situation."

Anderson led Lowell in its best performance against Zeeland in three years.

"This was a good match for us. This is the best we have played against Zeeland in three years," Ackermann said. "We were in a lot of the matches."

The Red Arrows lost to the Chix 7-1.

Lowell's lone win came at third singles where Melissa Malone defeated Amanda Stoykowski 6-4, 4-6, and 8-6.

Beth Hoag lost in three sets at second singles. She won the first set 6-3 before letting the match slip away to Sarah Laarman 4-6, 5-7.

Anderson fell to Kim Frey in first flight action 6-0, 6-0.

Zeeland's Sio Oang bested Susan Roudabush 6-1, 6-3.

In doubles action, Stephanie Stormzand and Becky Thomas lost to Samantha Heeterderks 6-2, 6-2 in number one doubles. Chix's Andrea Jordan and Zeeland ran a better one." Lowell cross country coach Tom Harper said.

Reinardy said Zeeland's performance was the best they have had at Johnson Park this year. "This is a challenging course. I don't think it is all because of the hills. I believe the hairpin turns also make it tough."

Leading the race from start to finish was Chix Kevin Blacquiere. He covered the terrain in 17:14.

That was 10 seconds better than Lowell's John Wojciakowski's time of 17:24. Ryan Wittenbach was nine seconds in back of Wojciakowski, stopping the clock at 17:33.

"I don't think our front runners are as strong as last year," Reinardy said. "But I think our 4-5-6-7 runners are stronger."

The results of Wednesday's race against Lowell point that out.

Zeeland's John Petty (17:37), Doug Boyer (17:50)

and Joe Michmerhuizen (18:04) came home in a meet clinching fourth, fifth and sixth places respectively.

Lowell's Matt Inman was seven seconds behind Michmerhuizen, stopping the clock at 18:11 in time for seventh place.

Zeeland's Travis Robinson finished eighth in a time of 18:14.

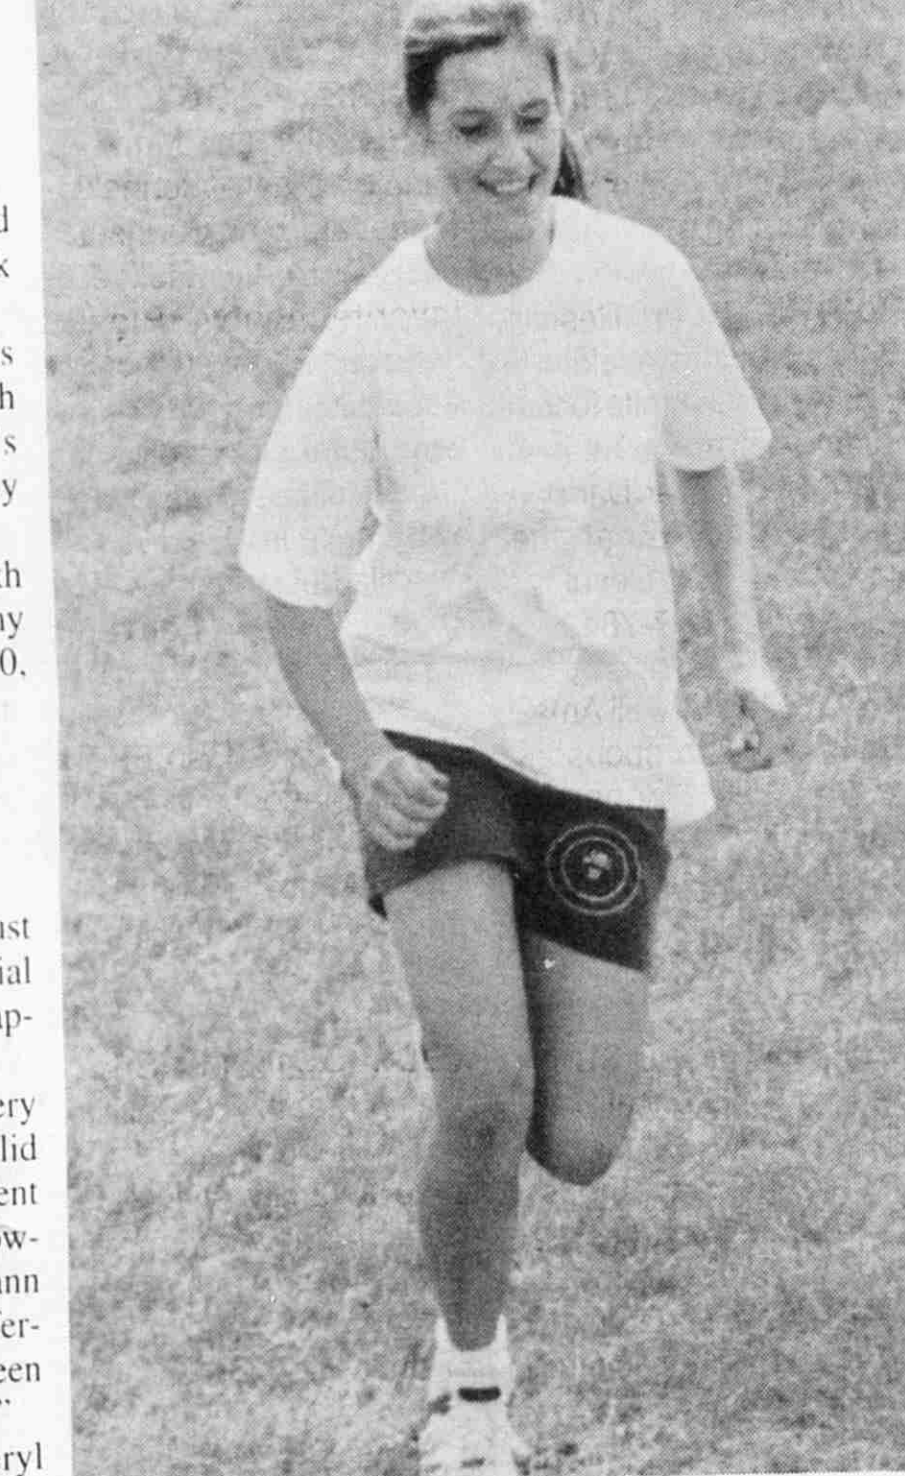

Lowell's Casey Harper and Frank Kirsch were ninth and 10th respectively. Harper was timed in 18:16 and Kirsch finished in 18:21.

"This is Robinson's first year out," Reinardy said. "He's run on guts, but he gets the job done."

Harper said his team knew Zeeland was tough. "Our boys have something to work toward," he said.

Lowell's girls lost to Zeeland by a count of 22-35. Annie Oesch brought home the best time of day among O-K White girls. She stopped the clock at 20:10.

Teammate Andrea Baker finished fifth against teh Chix with a time of 23:50. Andrea Johnson was eighth, coming off the terrain in 24:51. Beth Larabee was 10th with a time

Oesch sprints ahead of OK white cross country competition with dedicated work ethic.

Practice makes perfect

For two years Annie Oesch ran cross country because it was fun and kept her in shape. But that all changed with a single recommendation from her doctor.

of 25:50 and Ann Townsend was 11th, stopping the clock in 26:10.

"We are not real fast yet as a team, but we're learning and growing with each meet,"

Family VanDort tied Zeeland. She finished second behind Oesch with a time of 21:18.

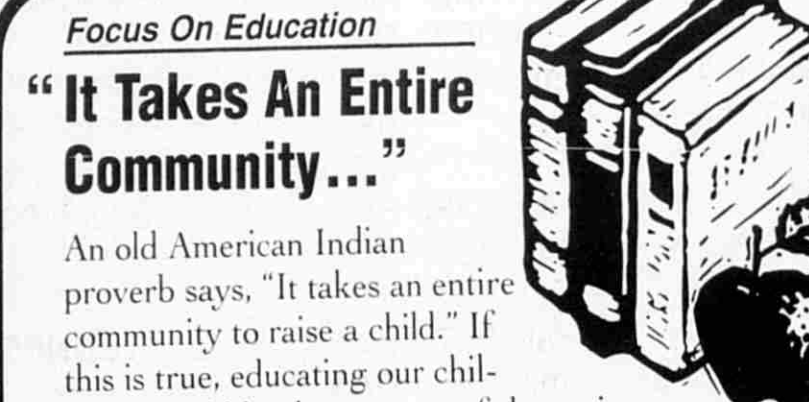

That preparation has vaulted Oesch to the top of the OK White Conference, where she is considered by many to be one of the conference's best runners, if not the best.

"Right now I would say Annie is at the top of the conference," said cross country coach Tom Harper. "In my estimation she is one of the top one or two runners I've ever coached."

Oesch, 15, was told by her doctor that an operation to her jaw would put her on the shelf for at least six weeks.

"When he told me that, I decided not to have it done. And since I decided not to have it done I also decided I should make it worthwhile to be on the cross country team, so I trained harder during the summer in preparation for this year," said Oesch.

Focus On Education

"It Takes An Entire Community..."

An old American Indian proverb says, "It takes an entire community to raise a child." If this is true, educating our children should be the concern of the entire community, as well.

From the bus driver who makes sure students arrive safely at school to the teachers who help turn desire and potential into knowledge. From the counselors who help students select a curriculum that meets their abilities and interests to the custodian who provides a clean, safe learning environment. All of these key players on the educational team are MEA members who strive to deliver the best possible education to all students.

But there is a second team who play an equally important role in educating our children. Its members are parents who encourage their children to participate in class and do their homework, and local merchants who sponsor school events. And when everyone pulls together in the education process, we help mold young adults who are prepared to enter the workforce and assume leadership roles in their communities. And that benefits us all.

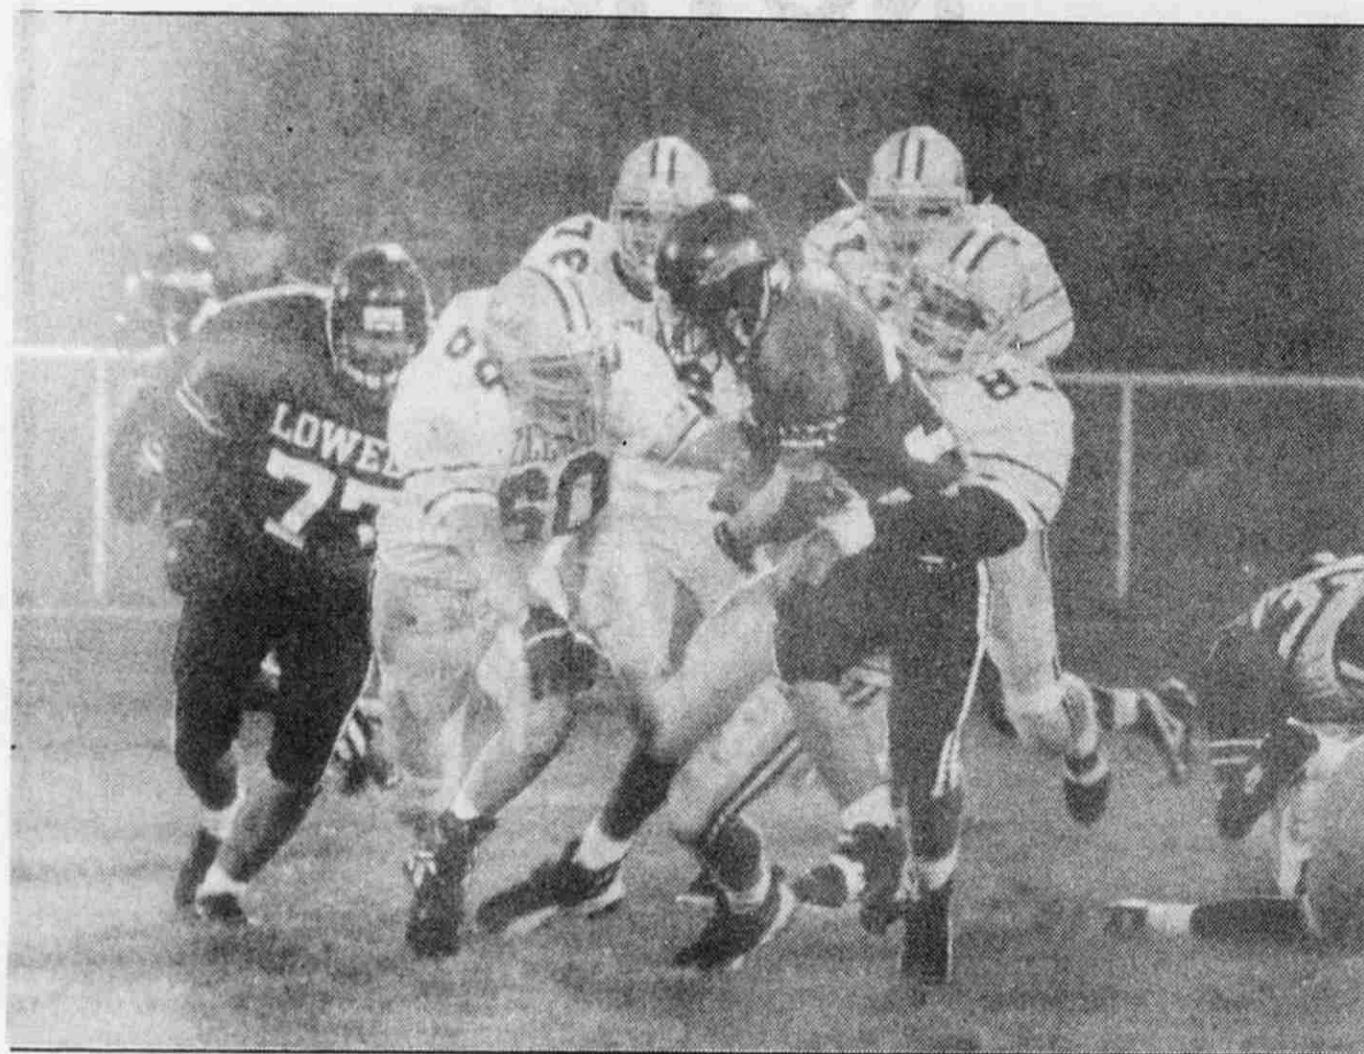

The MEA wants to guarantee our students the best possible education. To that end, we work with local communities to assure that our curriculums are upgraded to meet the needs of our ever-changing world. We support teacher certification to ensure that our educators are equipped to meet the needs of our students. We fight to keep class sizes low to assure effective learning. And we partner with parents and the community to find ways to improve public education in Kent and Ottawa counties.

Look for our articles in future editions of this newspaper, and know that the MEA cares about the future of public education.

Focus on Education is brought to you by MEA members in Kent and Ottawa County.

Mistake "full" Red Arrows drop 33-8 contest to Zeeland

Lowell's Jack Livingston gets swarmed over by a pack of Zeeland defenders in a 33-8 loss to the Chix.

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Zeeland took advantage of three Lowell second half turnovers as it turned a 14-8 halftime advantage into a 33-8 rout over the home standing Red Arrows.

Lowell had possession of the ball six times in the second half. Its longest drive was four plays, while three of them ended in turnovers.

The Chix, who had just two first downs the entire first half, rushed for seven in the second half.

"Lowell was bringing nine men into the box in the first half," Zeeland football coach Stan Jesky said. "We made some adjustments at halftime and were able to run the ball well in the second half."

Leading Zeeland on the ground was tailback Rikki Forgue. The senior rushed for 88 yards in seven carries and scored two touchdowns.

"He's a good one," Jesky said. "He didn't play football last year."

A disappointing performance dropped Lowell to 0-3 in the O-K White and 1-3 overall.

"I cannot explain it. We quitted in the second half," Lowell football coach Phil Christensen said, shaking his head. "I felt we would win the football game at halftime. Zeeland wasn't moving the ball on us and we held them to two first downs."

Despite Lowell's defensive success in the first half, Zeeland scored twice.

The Chix' first score came off a Lowell fumble. The Red Arrows had driven the ball from its own 32-yard line to the Zeeland 10. On first and 10 Lowell fumbled the ball.

Quarterback, Jeff Catlin, takes a shot from a Zeeland tackler in last week's disappointing loss to the Chix.

Zeeland's Troy O'brenovich picked up the fumbled pigskin and raced 90 yards for a Chix touchdown.

"That was a big play and I think it may have taken a little out of Lowell," Jesky said. "O'brenovich made the big play. He's a solid football player."

The senior also had an interception and scored Zeeland's second touchdown of the game on a 41-yard, second quarter TD pass from quarterback Tate Jesky.

It looked as though Lowell might have grabbed the momentum away from the Chix right before half when Jack Livingston scored on a three-yard run. The score was set up by a Zeeland fumble inside its own five-yard line. Atwo-point conversion made it 14-8 Zeeland.

The Chix broke the game wide open in the third quarter on touchdown runs of 41 and eight yards by Forgue. Backup quarterback Eric Petroelje completed the scoring with a seven-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Lowell fumbled the ball six times and lost it three of those times. The Red Arrows also threw two interceptions.

Lowell rushed the ball for 56 yards. The Red Arrows picked up 108 yards through the air. A.J. Huver may have been the lone bright spot offensively for Lowell. The tight end caught three balls for 88 yards. The biggest play was a 56-yard reception.

Zeeland ran the ball for 178 yards and threw for 59. The Chix are now 3-1 overall and 2-1 in the league.

Lowell travels to Hastings on Friday.

That's a lofty compliment considering Oesch is just coming into her own and she is only a junior.

Harper first witnessed Oesch's new-found commitment at the team's preseason camp in July.

"Annie came in here and was running unbelievably. In four days she ran 45 miles," he said. "At that time I knew she would have a great year, so I had her running with the boys and it has really paid off. She's at season ending form."

Oesch's best time this year was a 20:02 at the Bullock Creek Invitational and both Oesch and Harper said breaking the 19 minute mark is her next goal.

"She's got a chance to break 20 this year," said Harper. "If she doesn't do it this year, then next year may be her year."

Oesch said breaking 20 minutes will be a great accomplishment, but right now she is just enjoying having a team to run with.

"Last year we had only three girls and at a meet with East Grand Rapids I ended up running by myself against their whole team," said Oesch.

Oesch may have been outnumbered at the event 15 to 1, but at the finish line she was the day's best runner.

This year's team is 1-3, but Harper said the team's best performances are only a matter of time.

"Right now we're just learning how to run at invitationals," said Harper. "We have five freshmen on this team and once they get some meets behind them I expect them to really compete."

Oesch's accomplishments include qualifying for the state meet twice. She also was an all conference honorable mention her freshman year and made all conference her sophomore season.

Harper expects Oesch to repeat her all conference performance this year and said her future looks bright.

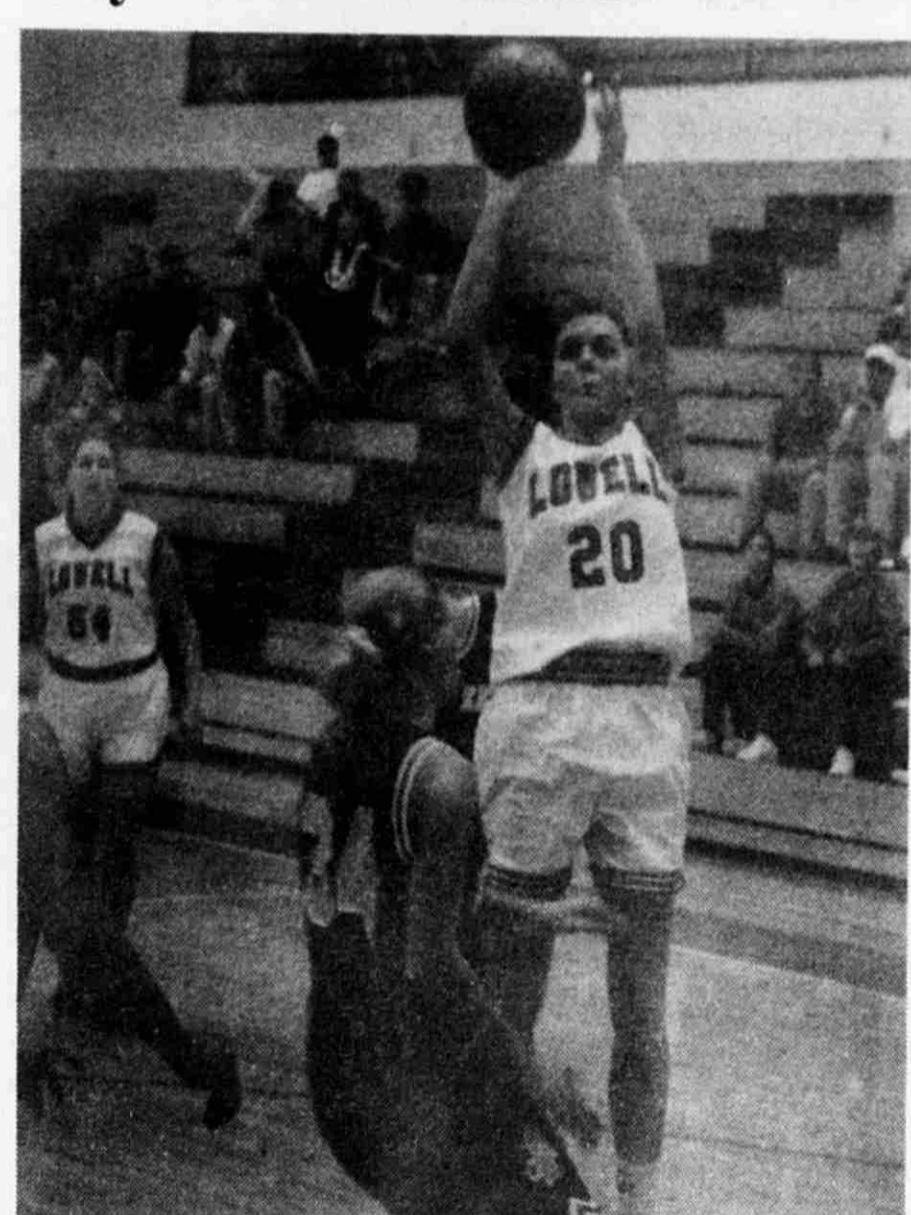

"If she pushes herself this winter and in the summer, then I think she could really be a force next year," said Harper.

Oesch doesn't expect to let this year be a fluke and said the pressure is on to repeat. "I'll have a lot of pressure on me next year because I've won several of the invitationals," she said. "I feel I have to do better and I can't let myself perform badly next season."

Like most juniors Oesch doesn't know what her career plans will be or what college she will attend, but she doesn't know that running will be a part of her life.

"All I want to do is run in college. I'm not after some scholarships or anything; all I want to do is run," she said.

Red Arrow girls basketball team continues winning ways in O-K White

Emily Dunn pulls up for a jump shot against a Zeeland defender. Dunn led her team in rebounds, with 10, to help seal the victory.

A half-court trapping defense got the Red Arrows to do exactly what basketball coach Ken Akers wanted.

Lowell's coach called a timeout with his club trailing by seven with less than eight minutes to play.

"I told them it was time for them to step up and start making things happen on the defensive end," Akers said.

"They responded."

The Red Arrows outscored Zeeland 18-8 in the final quarter in posting a 50-47 come-from-behind win against the Chix.

A couple of threes by Jenny Borg, penetration into the lane by Tammy Stauffer and some fine open-court passing by Red Arrow Melanie Tucker got Lowell even with Zeeland at 43-43 with 4:35 to play.

Red Arrow soccer battles injuries and weather to split in week's matches

Matt Carstens watches a Forest Hills Central player go up after the ball in a disappointing 5-0 loss last week. Earlier in the week Lowell defeated Grand Rapids Central 3-2 in overtime.

By Marc Popielek
Contributing Writer

Injuries and inexperience continue to make things tough for the Lowell soccer team, but coach Dave Wydock hopes the worst is behind them.

"We were expecting to be in a better position at this point in the season, but injuries have really set us back," said Wydock. "We're getting better and I believe we can perform well in the districts, but we need to win every game to be in the fight."

The soccer posted a split last week with an overtime win against Grand Rapids Central and a disappointing setback against Forest Hills Central.

The 3-2 non-conference overtime victory showcased a strong defensive effort, but Wydock said his team should have blown the competition away.

"We had a tough time getting used to their small field and goals," said Wydock. "If it would have been a bigger field the game wouldn't have gone to overtime. We just missed too many chances to score."

Matt Carstens got the Red Arrows on the board with a goal in the second half. Nick Blough and Matt Maatman assisted in the first goal.

Central tied the score six minutes later, but Lowell countered with a goal by Blough, with an assist from Maatman.

Central's game tying goal came when Maatman inadvertently bounced it off himself.

"I told Matt to go back out there and get it back," said Wydock. "And he did by putting in the game winner."

Maatman's goal came 1:30 into overtime to preserve the victory.

Forest Hills Central 5 Lowell 0

On the heels of the overtime victory earlier in the week the Red Arrows came out flat against Forest Hills Central and it showed in the final result.

The Red Arrow offense and defense failed to stop the conference rival which led to the 5-0 defeat.

"It was one of those nights where everything went bad," said Wydock. "No matter what we tried it didn't work. The kids just were not into the game."

Adding to Lowell's struggles was a down pouring rain which made the field sippy.

"Usually when the conditions are like that I feel confident we'll do good, because these kids love playing in those conditions, but we came out flat and never got into it," said Wydock.

Lowell's overall record is 4-4-1 with matches against Hudsonville and Hastings this week.

Wydock believes the worst is behind his club and hopes the team can turn it around.

"We were hit hard by injuries and personnel problems, but I believe those things are behind us and now we can make a run at this thing," he said.

Girls basketball cont'd...From Page 20

For Zeeland it was the second straight conference game where they lost fourth period leads.

"We have leads and then a team makes a run and our girls have played tight," Zeeland coach Shannon Kalmink said. "Lowell picked its play up in the fourth quarter. Their trap rattled us."

Elena Richmond led Lowell in scoring with 12 points. The senior added seven rebounds. Stauffer and Borg each contributed with nine points.

Red Arrow Emily Dunn led the club in rebounds with 10. Tucker added a team-high four steals and four assists.

With the score tied at 43, Lowell's Richmond scored a bucket off an offensive rebound giving Lowell a 45-43 lead.

On its next trip down the floor, Richmond connected on one of two foul shots to give Lowell a 46-45 advantage. Zeeland then took its final lead of the game at 47-46.

In the last two minutes of the game Lowell netted 4-of-8 shots from the line while holding the Chix scoreless.

"We are getting better," Akers said. "I think in our loss to Forest Hills Northern, the girls grew up."

Their success in the league has been a surprise to everyone including their coach. "It's been a great surprise," Akers said. "We have to play hard to beat anybody and we've been doing that."

Akers said keys to Lowell's win against Zeeland include the defensive effort in the fourth quarter, the quality playing minutes off the bench from Shannon Laux, the play of Melanie Tucker and the three-point shots of Borg.

"Tucker sees the court well," Akers said. "Laux has really started to give us quality playing coming off the bench. She scored four key buckets for us tonight."

In its 39-30 win over East Grand Rapids, Lowell erased a 26-25 third-quarter deficit with a 14-4 fourth-quarter scoring advantage.

Stauffer led Lowell in scoring with 16 points. Richmond added 11 points and a game-high 12 rebounds.

Lowell finished the week with a league record of 3-0 and 3-4 overall.

NOTICE OF CONFIRMATION OF SPECIAL ASSESSMENT ROLL FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO BIG CROOKED LAKE

TAKE NOTICE that the Big Crooked Lake Improvement Board has confirmed the Special Assessment Roll for improvements to Big Crooked Lake. Said Special Assessment Roll in the amount of $90,000 has been prepared for the purpose of assessing the cost of aquatic plant control, engineering, inspections, administration, and contingencies over a four-year period (1996-1999). Area golfers will be given the opportunity to golf until their hearts are content in the American Heart Association's first annual golf marathon.

The event will be held on Oct. 13 at Arrowhead Golf Course.

The event calls for golf foursomes to play as many holes of golf as possible from sunrise to sunset in order to raise funds for the American Heart Association in its fight against the nation's number one killer - heart disease and stroke.

The shotgun start will begin at 9 a.m. and each foursome has until 5 p.m. on the course.

Each participant must raise a minimum of $50 ($200 per foursome). The entry fee includes green fees, cart, food and non-alcoholic beverages.

Throughout the golf marathon, foursomes will compete for holes by out-golfing and passing each other on the golf course. A minimum of 18 holes of golf will be played by each team.

A hole-in-one contest will render the winner a one-year lease on the vehicle of their choice from one of the four area car dealers: Harold Zeigler Ford, Inc., Thomet Chevrolet and Buick, Vennen Chrysler, Dodge, Plymouth and Jeep Eagle, and Wittenbach Oldsmobile Pontiac.

Lowell linksters earn first conference win against Hastings

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

So often a team has recorded its best score of the season against Lowell that now Red Arrow golf coach Jack Ogle just laughs.

Lowell was winless as it entered its only match of the week against Zeeland and Hastings in the O-K White. Ogle viewed the match as an opportunity for the Red Arrows to pick up not just their first league win but two conference wins.

"We shot well. The boys bunched up. Our highest score was 43," Ogle said.

Lowell shot a respectable round of 165 at Crestview. That was 10 shots better than Hastings and nine shots behind Zeeland. It was the Chix best round of the year.

"We're used to it," Ogle said with a smile.

That was only topped by the fact that Zeeland was aided largely by freshman Terry CrayCraft's round of 35. Zeeland's coach told Ogle CrayCraft had not shot that well before its match with Lowell. "I told him I didn't want to hear it," Ogle mused.

CrayCraft's score earned him match-medalist honors. Teammate Jason Holland followed four shots back with a 39 and Ben Barnes and Lance Bos finished with rounds of 41.

Lowell's Scott Smith and Tom Roudabush led Lowell with rounds of 40. "Tom played extremely well. He tied for team-medalist honors," Ogle said. "The whole team has become more consistent the last couple of matches.

We're getting better. Now we need to be consistent and shoot lower scores."

Lowell's Nick Kuzmin carded a round of 42 and junior James Vezino came home with a 43.

"However, from top to bottom, for as long as I've been coaching I don't think I've ever seen this league any better," Ogle said. "A good example of this is Northview's club shot a score of 155 a couple of weeks ago; that is an average score of 39 and they went home with two losses."

Hastings was led by Jason Fuller's 41. Adam Gee followed two shots back at 43. Teammates Mike Krueger and Jon Lawrence followed with scores of 45 and 46 respectively.

Malone appointed manager of foreign student enrollment

Dawn M. Malone, program coordinator at Golden Gate University at Beale Air Force Base in San Francisco, CA, was appointed manager of foreign student enrollment in Eastern Michigan University's Admissions Office by the EMU Board of Regents at its regular meeting September 19.

Malone, 28, originally from Lowell, holds a 1994 bachelor's degree from Golden Gate University, where she is pursuing a master's degree.

Prior to joining Golden Gate in 1992, she was an admissions specialist at Brevard Community College in Cocoa, FL, from 1988 to 1990.

As manager of foreign student enrollment, Malone will manage all aspects of the University's recruitment, admission and enrollment of undergraduate and graduate international students.

JV's split close games

The junior varsity basketball team traveled to East Grand Rapids and came home with an exciting 69-68 win in double overtime. Trailing by as many as eight points in the second half, the Red Arrows rallied to tie the score at 52-52 in regulation time. During the first overtime Lowell gained a five-point advantage, only to see East come back to tie the score at 60-60.

In the second overtime the two teams battled evenly with East holding a 68 to 67 lead with two seconds to play. Angela Young, who had several key baskets during the game, took the in bounds pass from under the basket, and under heavy pressure made the winning basket on a 15-foot jump shot at the buzzer.

Lisa Posthumus led Lowell in scoring with 18 points, while Young netted 17. Nicole Arnett 12, and Melissa Sobie scored 10 points.

On Thursday, the JVs played host to Zeeland and once again were in a close game. This time the ball bounced in favor of the other team as Lowell lost 47-44. "This is a very hard working and competitive group of young girls," said coach Wayne Townsend. "So far it has been a very successful season." The JVs currently have a record of 4-3.

VERGENNES TOWNSHIP County of Kent, Michigan

NOTICE OF ADOPTION OF TOWNSHIP ORDINANCES AND SUMMARY OF THE REGULATORY EFFECT THEREOF

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT on September 18, 1995, the Township Board of the Township of Vergennes adopted ordinances to designate certain violations of existing Township ordinances to be municipal infractions and to provide penalties for such violations. The Township Board also adopted an ordinance providing for the issuance of civil infraction citations. The principal provisions of the ordinances can be summarized as follows:

1. CITATIONS FOR MUNICIPAL CIVIL INFRACTIONS.

Vergennes Township Ordinance No. 95-7 provides that the Township Supervisor with approval of the Township Board is authorized to issue citations for violations of Township ordinances designated to be municipal civil infractions. The Township Supervisor may designate the Township Building Inspector or other Township official or employee as an officer authorized to issue civil infraction citations. The issuance of appearance tickets, for violation of Township ordinance provisions which continue to be designated as misdemeanors, is also authorized.

2. WATER SERVICE. Township Ordinance No. 95-8 amends Vergennes Township Ordinance No. 93-6, pertaining to water supply service, so as to make violation of the ordinance a municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses.

3. SANITARY SEWER SERVICE. Township Ordinance No. 95-9 amends the Township Sewer Use Ordinance so as to make violation of the ordinance a municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses.

4. MECHANICAL CODE. Township Ordinance No. 95-10 amends Township Ordinance No. 95-2, the Mechanical Code, so as to make violation of the ordinance a municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses, except that a violation of Section M-117.2, being the failure to comply with the stop work order, shall be a misdemeanor offense, punishable by a fine up to a specified amount or by imprisonment of up to a specified duration, or both such fine and imprisonment.

5. BUILDING CODE. Township Ordinance No. 95-11 amends Township Ordinance No. 95-3, the Building Code, so as to make violation of the Building Code a municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses, except that violation of Section 117.2, being failure to comply with a stop work order, shall be a misdemeanor offense, punishable by a fine of up to a specified amount or by imprisonment of up to a specified duration, or both such fine and imprisonment.

6. PLUMBING CODE. Township Ordinance No. 95-12 amends Township Ordinance No. 95-4, the Plumbing Code, so as to make violation of the Plumbing Code a municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses, except that violation of Section P-117.2, being a failure to comply with a stop work order, shall be a misdemeanor offense, punishable by a fine of up to a specified amount or by imprisonment of up to a specified duration, or both such fine and imprisonment.

7. ELECTRICAL CODE. Township Ordinance No. 95-13 amends Township Ordinance No. 95-5, the Electrical Code, so as to make violations of the Code municipal civil infraction and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses.

8. BUILDING NUMBERING. Township Ordinance No. 95-14 amends Township Ordinance No. 91-1, the Building Numbering Ordinance, to provide that compliance with the Building Numbering Ordinance shall be a requirement for issuance of occupancy permits for all buildings required to have building numbers and which are constructed after the date of adoption of the ordinance amendment.

9. PRIVATE ROADS. Township Ordinance No. 95-15 amends Township Ordinance No. 90-2, the Private Road Ordinance, so as to provide that violations of the ordinance shall be municipal civil infractions and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses. The amending ordinance also provides that no building or occupancy permit shall be issued for the use of any parcel of land served by a private road unless such road has been approved by the Township Board in accordance with the terms of the private road ordinance.

10. ZONING ORDINANCE. Township Ordinance No. 95-16 amends the Vergennes Township Zoning Ordinance so as to provide that violations of the Zoning Ordinance shall be municipal civil infractions and to provide certain penalties for first and subsequent offenses.

11. EFFECTIVE DATE. The above-stated ordinances and ordinance amendments shall take effect October 27, 1995, except that the above-stated amendments in the Mechanical Code, the Building Code, the Plumbing Code and the Electrical Code shall take effect 90 days after certified copies of the ordinance amendments are filed with the State Construction Code Commission.

A copy of the above-stated ordinances may be examined or purchased at the offices of the Vergennes Township Clerk, 10381 Bailey Drive, within the Township, during Township office hours.
