

Community shows support for library at Rotarian auction

•••• Lowell Rotary Club auction meets its $20,000 pledge to the Harold and Mildred Englehardt Library. Over 300 people attended the event and approximately $40,000 was raised.

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

When the Lowell Rotary decided to raise $20,000 for the new Englehardt Library, it seemed to set its sights pretty high, but what they didn't count on was the community setting its sights even higher.

The Rotary hoped to raise the funds at their first annual auction and quickly found out that reaching its goal would be easier than first thought.

More than 300 people attended the auction, conducted at the Charlevoix Club, and raised nearly $40,000 while making it the social event of the new year.

"The fellowship between business people, the community and Rotarians was tremendous," said Wendell Christoff, co-chairman for the event. "This far exceeded what we had hoped for and its all because of the great support from the community."

The event featured several raffles, including one for a new Starcraft aluminum fishmaster fishing boat, a live auction, a silent auction, 50/50 drawings and a balloon game with instant door prizes.

The boat raffle, valued at more than $7,000, was extremely successful with the Rotary selling all of its 400 tickets to raise $8,000.

The winner of the boat, and new fishing aficionado, was YMCA director and Rotary 1st vice president Andy Johnson.

"I couldn't think of a better person to win it," said event chairman Tony Asselta. "Andy has done so much for this event and the community. It proves that those who

The raffle was held during Saturday evening's Rotary auction. The boat was donated by Attwood Corporation and $8,000 in tickets were sold. Township eyes decriminalization of infraction to save time and money

By Marc Popiolek

Contributing Writer

Enforcing ordinance violations may become easier in Lowell Charter Township if officials approve the decriminalization of the guidelines.

The township board approved a motion to proceed toward the decriminalization of ordinances and will draw up related ordinances to make the measure official.

Decriminalizing ordinance infractions will allow the township to issue citations or tickets and have those citations enforced easier and faster by the Kent County District Court.

"It would be easier to write a ticket for say a couple of junk cars and have the court deal with it than have us try to enforce it," said township supervisor John Timpson. "We just have too much to do and can't always get to the violations."

If approved, violators will be ticketed by township officials, but must take their complaint before the district court in order to fight the ticket.

Besides easing the township's burden, the decriminalization will eliminate the need for lawyers to get involved on the township side. "It will greatly reduce our lawyers' fees," said Timpson.

Before adopting an ordinance decriminalizing ordinance infractions, the township will develop a fee or fine schedule and adopt ordinances that will detail how decriminalization will affect each one of its existing ordinances.

Trustee Richard Huver wants fees established in order to keep fines on a consistent basis.

"If you ticket one person for this violation and then next week ticket another person for the same violation, who is to say that the fines will be consistent," said Huver.

The township initially was to have the court decide fines, so they could collect them, but will now review a fee schedule for consistency.

Officials are unaware of any disadvantage to the decriminalization, but will have the township attorney review the process to discuss any problems.

"It's better to do this than to have me sit in court all day because somebody has a couple of junk cars," said Timpson.

High price tag comes with Pratt Lake Road improvements

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

Lowell Township officials have approved one of their most expensive road improvement work orders, but will have only half of the problem solved.

The township was hit with a work order of almost $300,000 from the Kent County Road Commission for the paving of a one- mile stretch on Pratt Lake Avenue. The county will begin work this spring and will pave Pratt Lake up to 36th Street, including the intersection.

The township's share of the project is $162,669, while the county picks up the remaining $133,093.

The work order includes the cost of removing trees, improving drainage, grading and restoration.

HISTORY POURS FROM HUBENET'S BOTTLES

•••• Gordon Hubenet will exhibit his bottle collection to the Lowell Area Historical Association on Wednesday, April 30 at 7 p.m. The public is invited.

By Thaddeus J. Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

Gordon Hubenet has his own Lowell historical library neatly bottled away in his home.

His accumulated knowledge of the history of Lowell has been authored through his collection of bottles. "The history behind the bottles fascinates me," Hubenet explained. "The bottles have brought the history alive for me." The Lowell resident first started collecting Grand Rapids bottles 25 years ago. That changed to Lowell when Hubenet moved here roughly 11 years ago.

"It all got started with the canning jars in my grandmother's fruit cellar," he explains.

It has now grown to include druggist bottles, milk bottles, mineral water bottles, medicine, whiskey and embalming fluid bottles.

The whiskey bottles have been the hardest for Hubenet to find as he has combs the country attending trade shows.

"A person can find whiskey bottles, but what is rare is finding one with the label still on the bottle," Hubenet said. "Those are the bottles you want to purchase."

Hubenet's collection covers from 1870 to 1950. He found his first Lowell bottle in a railroad dump.

In the late 1800s and early 1900s, clear glass bottles were the glass of choice. They could be purchased by the gross and they were cheaper to order.

"Aqua was also a favorite. Amber-colored glass was not ordered as often because it was more expensive," Hubenet explained.

The Lowell bottle collector explained that bottles with nothing on them have no value. "For a bottle to have value, it must have something on it so its history can be traced," Hubenet said.

Lowell medicine maker E.M. Fort sold medicine all over the tri-state area. His bottles (1870) were very recognizable for what they said. Embossed on the bottles' sides was the phrase "good for man, good for beast."

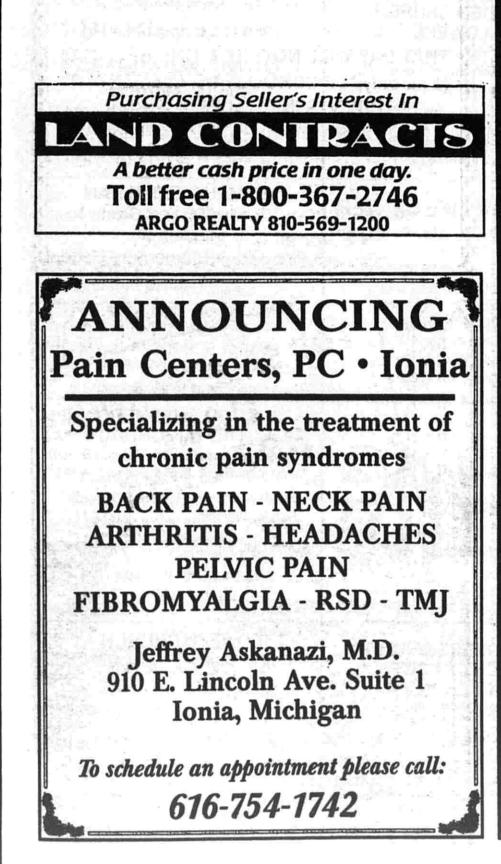

The bottles of Louie Pasteur (the first man to pasteurize milk) stand out for their various nursery rhymes and farm scenes printed on them.

Lowell Creamery's bottles stood out because they offered different types of pyroglazing (painting).

"Lowell Creamery's bottles were some of the nicest. They had label collections painted on the glass," Hubenet said. The bottle most sought after by Hubenet is a Ben E. West company druggist bottle.

A search for any bottle can go unrewarded. "Not all companies spent money to put their name on the bottles,' Hubenet concluded.

Hubenet will have his bottle collection on display when he speaks to the Lowell Area Historical Association on April 30 at 7 p.m. in the Lowell Township Hall.

I've stumbled across three riddles lately that I thought were pretty cool. For lack of anything more interesting than my dogs to write about this week. I'll share these brain teasers with you.

There is another reason I'm taking this less than creative route. It's daylight savings time. Try as I might to overcome it, my body is still running on standard time. Between mashing the snooze button several times and a complete inability to get lots for weekends. Lowell telephone operators return to work on their own, but long-distance calls may not be made until the strike is over. To the Editor: Alice Denny, Lucille Wisner and Mrs. Jack Wingeier did 24-hour shifts until the full staff of 12 operators came back. Over two million hunting and fishing licenses were granted in Michigan last year; the number will increase this year.

General motors now has 93 plants, most in Midwestern small cities and towns.

The spring ferry schedule for the Straits of Mackinac is announced.

my "container" up to speed, I'm looking at a nearly blank computer screen about an hour behind schedule. Perhaps by October I will have adjusted. Just in time to get this hour back.

I don't remember having this much trouble with the time change in the past. Probably yet another indication I'm getting older. Whoever said it was right on when they pointed out, "getting old ain't for sissies." Okay... ready for some riddles?

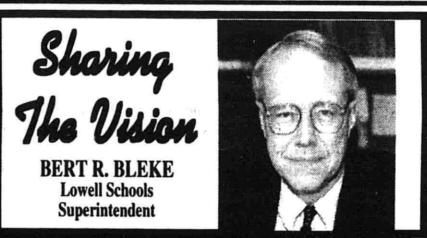

Work this problem as I talk you through it. Begin by can't perform this surgery, this is my son!" How can this be? picking a number between one and ten. Don't tell me what it is! Now, multiply that number by nine. You should know that from the multiplication tables you memorized in third grade. If you're having trouble, get your calculator out, we'll wait! Got it? Good! Okay, your answer should be a two-digit that one awhile. number. Add those two digits together. Now, from that number, subtract five. This answer is your control number. Remember it. If you're confused, go back through the formula, it's really quite simple. That's it for the math portion.

Next, if one is an A, two is a B, three is a C, etc., assign the number you arrived at, using the formula, its appropriate letter. Got your letter? Now, think of a country that begins with that letter. Next, take the last letter in the country's name and think of an animal whose name begins with that letter. Finally, take the last letter from the animal's name and think of a fruit that begins with that letter. You're finished. Remember the country, the animal and the fruit. That's your answer. TO THE EDITOR

There has been some question as to what the legislature is doing about Michigan's roads. I would like to offer what Senate Republicans have done to address this problem. As Senate Majority Leader, I have made it clear that I am committed to improving this important investment but, in order to fix our roads, we need to fix the system. You don't keep filling a leaky bucket. That's why we worked to optimize efficiency and cut waste before going to the taxpayers and asking them to pay more at the pump.

The Michigan Senate has created a package of legislation Lowell Light & Power: that will do just that. Through our reforms, we will dedicate $139 million (the equivalent of a 2.8 cent gas tax increase) Today, in this world of unkindness, it is rare to find people which will be available immediately to fix our roads - all who are thoughtful enough to help others. without asking taxpayers for one cent more. Here's the riddle. Two men, a father and his son, are traveling in an automobile. They are involved in an accident and both are injured. They are taken away to separate hospitals in different ambulances. Both are in need of immediate surgery. The surgeon preparing to operate on the son exclaims, "I Did I say I had three riddles? Well, I just thought of another one. Call it a bonus riddle. This one is really simple. Here 'tis. What is the first thing you know? As a hint, some incorrect answers are, to breathe, to cry, to suckle. Think on

The answer to the first riddle is really a question. If I said, "when's the last time you saw an orange kangaroo in Denmark," would you be shocked? If so, then it's obvious you learned your multiplication tables, memorized the alphabet and paid attention in geography. You can also follow directions. If that wasn't your answer, then you need to take a remedial third grade arithmetic class, or you're some kinda weirdo who would come up with an off-the-wall country like the Dominican Republic or an obscure animal like a koala. Of course the real riddle here is, how'd he do that? I'm going to leave it to you to figure that out.

These Senate reforms are now before the House of Representatives. I challenge them to turn away from the pressures of special interest by passing this package. The time to act is now. The sooner our reforms become law, the sooner we can step-up the effort to make Michigan's roads safer for everyone.

Dear Editor.

I am writing in support of "Lowell's finest," as described in the letter to the editor of the Lowell Ledger dated April 16.

Your help was prompt and we know that it was extra work called in to break up a party was unfortunate. However, we are not living in a perfect world and never will.

I am also a responsible parent of two young children but remember being a teenager. In high school I attended several parties where the police were called and promptly broke up the gathering. No arrests were made or tickets issued. These were parties of teenagers being teenagers. As long as there is alcohol and drugs teenagers will experiment with them. AS a parent I certainly would not condone this behavior with my children. All we can do is try to be responsible parents and educate our children to the best of our ability and hope they act responsibly when mom and dad are not around.

Since the kids were not doing the right thing in this incident, someone called the police. The police responded and The incident that Toni Miller described where the police were I believe did the right thing and broke up the party. I do not know who the unfortunate homeowner was in this incident but I can only imagine the mess that they would have been in if the police had taken any legal action. Charges being pressed against this homeowner will not stop kids from using alcohol and drugs.

At some point you have to trust your children. I assume these parents did and left the children alone and the kids had a party. Obviously, the kids did not do the right thing but, why chastise the parents for the activity that went on without their knowledge. Hopefully, the police notified the parents so the parents could chastise the kids.

TOWNSHIP OF VERGENNES ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Vergennes Township Zoning Board of Appeals has received requests for zoning variances as follows:

- James and Katherine Dernocceur 1200 Fero Road, in Section 18 in the "R-A" District, have requested a variance to construct a horse barn of 34 x 38 feet within the required 150 foot setback from an adjoining property line.
- · Bonita Hauck has requested a variance from required setbacks to build a home at 11501 Lally, in Section 4, the "R-L" District. The lot is 50 feet wide by 100 feet long, and the required front and rear setbacks provide limited space for locating a family home.
- Terry DeWitt, 13612 Downes Road, in Section 13 of the "R-A" District, has requested a variance from the minimum 300 foot lot width requirement in order to construct a new home.

A public hearing will be held on Thursday, April 24th, at 7:00 p.m. at the Vergennes Township Hall, 10381 Bailey, to consider these variance requests. The applications for the requests can be reviewed at the Vergennes Township Hall between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Also to be reviewed is a request from Sandy Onan, 1104 Alden Nash SE, the S.O.S. Salon, for permission to continue to employ not more than three non-resident assistants for her existing home occupation. Zoning Board of Appeals permission is required by Ordinance Section 201.202, Home Occupations.

Lowell bats sizzle in game two against Huskie pitching

By Marc Popiolek Contributing Writer

A first game pitchers' dual in Lowell's softball contest with Forest Hills Northern turned into a slugfest in the second game as the Red Arrows split the doubleheader with the Huskies.

Lowell managed to touch the Huskies for four hits and three runs in the opener, but ended up falling 4-3 despite giving up only three hits.

Lowell's Jenny Miller pitched a strong four innings. giving up two hits and two runs while striking out two.

Down 4-0 into the seventh, the Red Arrows put together three hits to score three runs while generating some excitement, but couldn't tie or win the game.

Laurie Barton led the hit parade in the first game with two and kept up the hot hitting in the second game to propel Lowell to a 12-8 victory.

The Red Arrows pounded the Huskie pitchers for 12 hits that included a fence- clearing home run from Barton, making her only the second player to accomplish such a feat. Coach Bob Rodenhouse said Lowell's second game win came from timely hitting. "We had two hits with two outs. That really made a difference." he said. While Barton was flexing her muscle to drive in three on the blast, teammates Cherelle Weber, Shannon Laux and Amy Larabee also collected multiple hits. Weber had three hits with three runs batted in while Laux and Larabee each had two.

Lowell started the scoring with two in the first and one in the second only to watch Forest Hills score one in the second and four in the fourth.

The Red Arrows answered with four of their own in the fourth and added another four in the fifth to put the game out of reach.

Lisa Murphy got the win by going five strong innings and giving up only seven hits and two earned runs.

Liz Rooker earned her first save of the year by tossing two shut out innings that included two strikeouts.

LOWELL 0 3 ROCKFORD 10 19

Lowell sent only 17 hitters to the plate, two over the ninimum, as the Rams Tracy Jachim shut down the Red Arrows. Shannon Laux collected the only Red Arrow hit while the Rams touched up Lowell pitchers for 11.

A 12-run fifth inning crushed the Red Arrows' second game effort as the Rams collected 15 hits and 13 earned runs.

Laurie Barton had two of Lowell's three RBIs with double and Stephanie Anderson drove in the third run also with a double.

visiting teams from Grandville and South Christian at the second annual Lowell Red Arrow Tournament.

"This was a big victory for us because both teams came in here undefeated and gives us confidence for opening of league play," said Lowell coach Kris Kropf. With games against Northview, Forest Hills, and Hudsonville this week, the Red Arrows are prepared for the challenge. "It shows our guys that we can play with anybody," said

Kropf. "Northview, Forest Hills and Hudsonville were picked to be champions. I believe we can be right there with them. Nobody picked or expects us to do anything, so I like this role as the sleeper."

The Red Arrows opened the tournament with the game against South Christian. The Sailors opened the scoring with two runs in the first off pitcher Willmarth, but that would be their only real threat of the game.

Willmarth went the distance giving up only four earned runs, while striking out eight to secure a 6-4 victory.

"It was important for us to have Brian pitch six or seven strong innings," Kropf said. "This way it saved the rest of our pitchers for game two."

Lowell tied South Christian in their half of the second with a double off the bat of Cory Zemaitis. Willmarth and Scott Hays scored for the Red Arrows and Zemaitis followed two pitches later on a wild pitch.

The Sailors briefly reclaimed the lead in the third with one run, but Lowell bats had not finished

The Red Arrows took a 4-3 lead with doubles by Kevin Teunis and Hays and a single from Brander. They added two more in the sixth when David Luyk bunted in one run with the bases loaded and a 1-2 count.

"You never see a batter bunt with two strikes, but I have so much faith in Luyk I knew he would get the job done," Kropf Luyk's bunt went for an infield single and allowed Willmarth to score the final Lowell run on a wild pitch.

Following the success of game one, the Red Arrows had to prepare to beat defending tournament champion Grandville, April 18 @ Rockford who entered the contest with a perfect 6-0.

The Red Arrows jumped on the Bulldogs early when Brander got a hold of a pitch and sent it out of the park for a two-run home run.

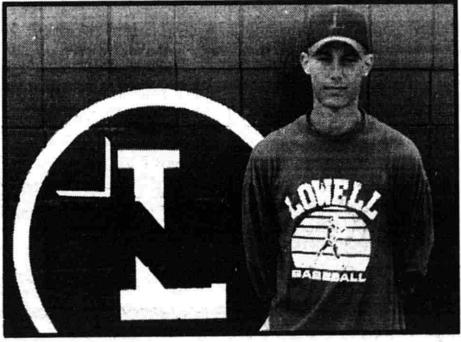

"That was great for our confidence. It sent a message to the team that we could beat these guys," said Kropf.

White believes his team's scores will drop as it matures and learns how to better handle bad shots

"Just because you have one bad shot doesn't mean the entire hole should be bad," he said. "We need to develop some consistency and learn how to make a bad shot a six or seven rather than a nine."

The improvement White seeks will come when things slow down for the team.

"We've played matches every day this week and that doesn't give you any time to practice," White said. "With some more practice, the girls will learn how to turn those bad shots into fairly decent scores for the hole."

Brander added to that message with five solid innings on the mound. Despite giving up three earned runs in the third, Brander got the decision and Zemaitis came in to mop up the Bulldogs with two innings of perfect relief.

Brander, a senior and the son of Fred and Sue Brander, contributed on offense as well as defense in the stretch that saw Lowell defeat Greenville, South Christian and Grandville on the way to winning its own invitational tournament.

South Christian and Grandville entered the Lowell Red Arrow Invitational this weekend with unblemished 6-0 records, but met their match in Lowell and Brander.

Brander, who plans on attending Grand Valley State University, recorded two of the team's three wins during the week on the mound, including one in the tournament, and was the team's leading hitter with an average of .375. His hitting prowess includes three doubles on the season and a two-run home run in the championship game of the tournament, which proved to be a crucial hit.

"Aaron is one of our team leaders who has really displayed that he is willing to do whatever it takes to win," So far this year, Brander has pitched, played third base, short stop and right field flawlessly and without question. "Like all our seniors, Brander will play any position. All this team cares about is getting the w's. There is no selfish-

SHORT AND LONG SOUNDS OF MUSIC

What a day the students had in Lanie Rice's class. To complete their study on short and long U vowels the kids had a first-hand experience with instruments in the band. They visited Bob Rice and the symphonic band and had a chance to touch drums, flutes, trumpets and tubas as well as heard tunes and music. Lots of u words to see, hear and feel. They finished their day with their very own parade - with them as the marching band. They brought instruments from home and played beautiful music. Look at those straight lines ... Mr. Rice would be proud.

ENCORE!

On March 27, the entire eighth grade had the wonderful opportunity of attending + Encore!, a stage production by the Chamber Theatre from Boston, Massachusetts. Their performance was at the East Kentwood Auditorium and included the works of Edgar Allen Poe, Washington Irving, W.W. Jacobs, Guyde Maupassant and Mark Twain.

This theater production has earned rave reviews from educators and students around the country. Lowell students were fortunate to be able to enjoy a performance of this caliber. This was not only an entertaining experience, but also a valuable educational experience.

Part of last fall's Knights of Columbus donation made it possible for two special needs students to attend. The Educational Support Services Department, under the NAME direction of Pam Thomas, is very grateful for this community support of our special education program.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

... A new Eschenbach magnifier will help make reading for the visually impaired library patrons easier.

By Thaddeus J. Kraus

Lowell Ledger Editor

With the addition of the Eschenbach electronic magnifier, the Harold and Mildred Englehardt Library is now equipped with leading vision- available for about eight ary technology.

The closed circuit magnification equipment will allow patrons with vision impairment to magnify pictures and photos up to 70 percent.

that it does not take a long time to train patrons on how to use it.

"Because of the lengthy amount of training time needed, such instruments have not been usable in a library setting," Choryan said.

The reading material is placed on an x-y table which allows patrons to stay on line as they are reading from left to right.

The magnified reading and photo material is displayed on a 13-inch television screen.

NECK SPASMS TORTURE AUNT

New Patients Welcome

The kind of torticollis (wryneck) chiropractic doctors most often treat is caused by abnormal nerve activity brought on by pinched nerves.

This causes muscle spasms on one side of the neck and brings on the painful disorder.

Chiropractic doctors realign the bones in the neck through chiropractic adjustments, which are designed to clear the nerve irritation and the condition.

Tell your aunt she definitely has not tried everything until she has seen a chiropractic doctor.
