City and Pitsch waste little time inking 3-year deal

The city of Lowell has agreed to a three-year solid waste recycling and yard waste contract with Pitsch Hauling and Disposal.

For the past 22 years, the city has been under contract with Denny's Disposal.

Denny's was recently sold to Allied Waste Industries, Sunset Waste, based out of Phoenix, AZ.

Its contract with the city runs out Oct. 15. Denny's asked the city back in August to accept the assignment of the contract to Sunset and to extend the contract one year.

The Lowell City Council denied that request and instructed the council to pursue bids.

Monday night, the council approved the deal which will remain the same over the next three years.

LAAC hires executive director

... Lorain Smalligan begins her full-time duties as executive director on Nov. 1.

The Lowell Area Arts Council announced that Lorain Smalligan will serve full time as its new executive director beginning Nov. 1.

Smalligan comes to LAAC after many years working and volunteering for arts organizations in the Grand Rapids community.

"The Lowell Area Arts Council committee believes Lorain's experience is in line with what the organization needs to be doing and where we want to go," said Chris VanAntwerp, search committee chairman.

The committee looked at 35-40 applications and narrowed the list to roughly 10. "There were about eight to 10 applicants we talked seriously about. These applicants had a huge breadth of experience from around the country."

Upon graduating from the University of Cincinnati in 1995 with a master's degree in arts administration, she returned to her hometown to work at the Arts Council of Greater Grand Rapids in development.

In 1997, Smalligan joined Butterworth Hospital (now Spectrum Health Downtown) as Arts Coordinator, providing arts programs for hospital patients, staff and visitors. In addition, Smalligan has volunteered for the Urban Institute for Contemporary Arts serving on the board of directors and the visual arts committee, and has chaired the education committee.

The need for an executive director grew out of an extensive strategic planning process completed last spring, in part assisted by the financial boost of the Englehardt Community Fund.

The strategic plan focuses on strengthening the foundation of LAAC to support future program growth and development.

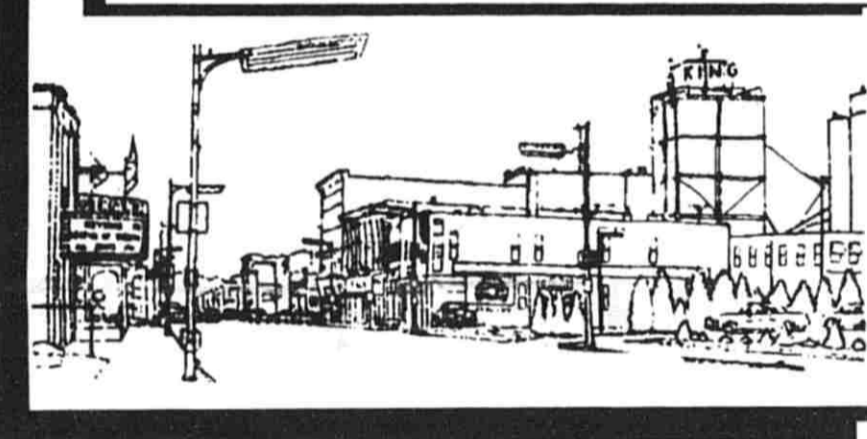

It identifies LAAC as a leader in Lowell's community cultural development by integrating the arts in daily life for all citizens in the Lowell area.

"Having Lorain on board is our first step in professionalizing our organization and moving us to the next level of organizational development," said VanAntwerp.

Smalligan is excited and challenged by the opportunities presented by the position.

"Arts councils serve an important role in any community, large or small. Lowell's community is unique, positioned between a rural business and home community, and a large metropolis," Smalligan explained. "Short- and long-term cultural planning that provides significant community-wide impact requires participation from all individuals within the community. Lowell Area Arts Council's board of directors and members are taking a leadership role in this development and I am very happy and proud to be a part of it."

Lowell Planning Commission approves medical center site plan

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Services that patients had to travel to Grand Rapids to receive, will soon be available in Lowell.

A site plan for a 14,500 square foot medical office building on 3.41 acres of land at the southeast corner of Bowes and West Main has been approved by the Lowell Planning Commission.

The proposed new facility will offer patients the convenience of X-rays, physical therapy and outpatient services.

The facility will be the new office for Lowell Family Medical Center, currently located at 147 N. Center.

It is being built by Andy Dykema, Dykema Excavators, Inc. The cost of the construction is being paid for by Metropolitan Hospital. When completed, Dykema will repay the construction cost to Metropolitan Hospital.

The hospital has then agreed to a 15-year lease on the building. In turn, it will then lease out the building space to Lowell Family Medical Center.

The planning commission's recommendation on the site plan was contingent of signage and lighting approval, three parking peninsulas on both the north and west sides of the building to break up long expanses of parked cars, and on being connected to city water and sewer.

The location as to where city water and sewer would be connected has not yet been determined.

The planning commission said it would not require sidewalk on Bowes Road at this time.

The site of the new medical facility was previously home to the long-standing Lowell Motor Inn (Tanis Motel).

On June 30, 1966, four brothers, Jerry, Ambrose, Larry and Stan Krzykwa entered into a joint partnership to purchase the Tanis Motel which they renamed the Lowell Motor Inn.

Englehardt's Lowell Area Community Fund taking applications for Dec. grants

The Lowell Area Community Fund is currently accepting proposals from area nonprofit organizations for grantmaking opportunities. Proposals are due November 1, 1999, with grant awards to be announced some time in December.

Approximately $265,000 is available from the Lowell Area Community Fund which was established in 1997 through a $12.5 million trust established with The Grand Rapids Foundation in honor of the late Harold Englehardt. Englehardt was a longtime Lowell-area resident and philanthropist.

The Fund is currently valued at $16.5 million; income from the Fund is used to award grants. Since its inception, the Fund has distributed approximately $1 million in grants to the Lowell area.

In keeping with the wishes of Mr. Englehardt, the Fund was designed to award grants to organizations that promote a healthy, dynamic community through arts and culture, economic development, education, environment, health, human services and recreation. A seven-person advisory committee helps uphold the wishes of the Fund.

Grant application materials are available at Lowell Township Hall, Vergennes Township Hall, City Offices of Lowell, Englehardt Public Library, any Lowell Area Schools building, or by contacting Marcia Rapp of The Grand Rapids Foundation at 454-1751.

American Legion Post 175 was named in honor of Sgt. LeRoy L. Dausman who was killed in action in France on October 4th, 1918, just one year to the day prior to the founding of Post 175 in Saranac, Michigan.

Post 175 Historical Color Guard
 founded 1965

One of the interesting highlights of the history of Post 175 was the formation of our Historical Color Guard! Marching for the first time on Memorial Day, 1965, the group was asked to march in many parades around the state and sometime during that summer we were seen by a member of the Democratic party and we were chosen to carry the nation and state colors in the Lyndon Johnson presidential inaugural parade in Washington, D.C. Needless to say, this brought much attention to this group and we were entertained at the American Legion Headquarters and appeared on the 'Today' show which was televised nationwide. After our return to Saranac we later marched in every major parade in Michigan as well as the Schlitz Circus Parade in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. After about five years the group had aged to their mid-forties and the unit was disbanded.

Always an active post, in 1965 the Post Club was built and has been a source of activity for nearly 34 years. Over our history many members have been elected to district and state American Legion offices. Our part in community activities has always been at the front to help Saranac to become an even better place to live.

Today our last World War I veteran has passed on and the ranks of our World War II and Korean War vets are getting thin. This leaves the future of our post pretty much in the hands of our Viet Nam, Desert Storm, and Sons of the Legion to carry on the future of LeRoy L. Dausman Post 175!

Reflections

Of Faith

Dr. Roger LaWarre
First Congregational Church of Lowell

There is a parable of Jesus recorded in the gospels. Matthew 21:33-40 has as its subtitle "The Parable of the Wicked Tenants." "Wicked" because, when the owner of the vineyard (who put all kinds of time, money and effort into making this vineyard) comes to collect his due, the tenants use all kinds of violence to sustain their greed. The parable ends with the question, "Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?"

It is easy to see this parable as something directed to the chief priests and elders of the temple. After all, they are the managers of God's Covenant and the Word of God and they have been greedy for power. So much so that they have made God a little lower than themselves. (Not quite the way the creation stories depict the relationship between God and humankind.)

But, when we think of this parable directed toward you and me, regardless of who we are or how religious we think we are or aren't, then this story takes on new significance and importance. It is no longer a story of long ago vineyards but becomes a story of the good earth.

The master is no longer some over-rich dude who can afford to have property and businesses in foreign countries. It is God who is the master, who is the power behind the development of this beautiful environment with flowing streams, towering mountains encircled with sky and clouds. We become the tenants of the earth and we must answer to our master for the way that we reap from the earth. Our greed for material possessions, for comfort at all costs, and our desire to control, have put within each of us a capacity to be "wicked tenants."

All too often, we resort to violence in our attempts to keep what does not belong to us. We are only the managers; yet, we fill the streams with acid and phosphates, pollute the air and junk up the land. We use and abuse as if we own it and can do anything we want, no consequences. "Now when the owner of the vineyard comes, what will he do to those tenants?"

We can be thankful to the Wege Foundation, The Land Conservancy of West Michigan and the Lowell Public Schools for the commitment to God's good earth and the courage and foresight to set aside land for conservation and ecology education. The Wege Foundation Natural Area for the Study of Ecology will be on Vergennes Road, across from the high school. Perhaps through the work of this nature center, we can generate a renewed appreciation for the "vineyard" of our Master.

Our prayer: O God, our God, how majestic is Your power in all the earth. So enable us to live in that power, that we are transformed to a new and right relationship with You and all You have made. Amen!

Colorburst bike tour, Saturday

This year's Colorburst Tour will take place on Saturday, Oct. 9 at Fallasburg Park, just 2.5 miles north of Lowell. Check-in is from 8 to 9 a.m. with a pancake breakfast served until 9:30. The event also includes homemade cookies at rest stops and hot soup served at the finish line until 2 p.m. All proceeds from the tour are donated to support MADD Kent County.

Over the past 10 years, this event has raised nearly $35,000 for MADD Kent County and has heightened community awareness of the tragic and painful outcomes that result from drinking and driving. Craig Campbell created Colorburst in memory of Donna Ryskamp who was killed by a drunk driver while riding her bike one afternoon in 1982. Ironically, five years later, Campbell was also killed by a drunk driver while mopping the Colorburst '87 bike route.

This is a big weekend coming up for sports junkies. The Redwings season is under way. The Lions are back in action after their bye week. The baseball playoffs are in full swing. High school football is heating up. And last, but certainly not least, Saturday is the Michigan vs. Michigan State fall classic. This year's contest is in Spartan Stadium with both teams going in undefeated. Wow!!!

Enjoy yourself in your recliner with a bag of chips and the remote. I'll be putting steel on a barn roof at my son's place. We're desperately trying to finish that project off before the snow flies. Between his schedule and mine, this weekend is just about our last window of opportunity.

I'm not looking for sympathy. I couldn't tell you the last time I sat in front of a TV and watched a sporting event from start to finish. I simply can't sit still long enough. I feel fortunate to have a project like that barn roof to burn off energy. I know that sounds sick. I realize there are professionals that can help with this kind of illness. I know there are drugs that can offer some relief. There are probably support groups. I just like being busy.

However, I don't bring up the Michigan vs. Michigan State game to talk sports, barn roofs or my mental health. It's a way for me to back into a little bragging about my granddaughter. First we need some background.

My daughter, Angie, and her family live in Chandler, Arizona. Angie spent a lot of her time, and a whole lot of my money, at Michigan State. We didn't come away with a degree, but our investments qualify us as Spartans. Angie's husband has a master's degree from the U of M and is a total geek when it comes to Wolverine football. He cried when they won the national championship a couple of years ago. That alone qualifies him as a Wolverine geek.

Maddie, my poor granddaughter, has been subjected to this maize and blue mentality for the entire two and one half years she's been around. Brad, my son-in-law, dresses her in a U of M t-shirt for the games. She has had to sit with him on the couch and cheer during games. She has been brainwashed to shout "Go Blue", dance to their stupid fight song and perform any number of demeaning U of M oriented rubbish. Meanwhile, my daughter has been forced to endure this behavior, one lackluster Spartan season after another. It has been a living hell.

Sunday night Angie called me with a request. Brad has a CD with the U of M band performing their hokey fight song, alma mater and such. He cranks it up loud on the stereo game days and is completely obnoxious. A typical Wolverine fan. They are hosting a small party during Saturday's game and Angie is desperate for a CD of Spartan music with which to retaliate. So far I haven't had any luck. I tried Grand Rapids book stores and music shops. (Hint, hint readers. Hint, hint. If you have any advice, call me at the Ledger.)

During our conversation Sunday, Angie said, "Dad, you've gotta hear this." She put Maddie on the phone and I could hear Angie prompting her to sing something. Then came the sweetest music I've ever heard. Maddie, in her cute little voice with no "k" sound in her vocabulary, did an exuberant rendition of the M.S.U. fight song all the way through. It was complete with the "Rah, Rah, Rah...Vitory for M.S.U." I clapped and cheered and almost cried, it was so cute.

Angie came back on the phone and asked what I thought. I was ecstatic! Then she told me the best part. Maddie has totally rebelled against anything maize and blue. She refuses to do the chants and cheers her dad has taught her. She runs away when she hears the U of M fight song. Brad is mad, and contrary to what Gov. Jessie Ventura says, there must be a God in Heaven!

Angie has a friend from high school and college who did graduate from M.S.U. ...with honors, no less. Last Christmas she gave Maddie a complete Michigan State cheerleader outfit. Come Saturday, Maddie will be decked out in green and white, singing her fight song and irritating her father to no end. Yes!!! Grandpa will be on a barn roof. I may have to find some green and white to wear. I'll have a radio tuned into the game and I'll be rooting with every fiber of my soul for a "Rah, Rah, Rah...Vitory for M.S.U.!!" Go Maddie!

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

We enjoyed Jeffrey Redmond's front page article about the gypsy moths' survey. If 80 percent of the Lowell people want spraying done, then it should be done! There was another article a week before about the plans for a new high school swimming pool. Supposedly it's going to be a community pool, but other areas like Vergennes are to help pay for it.

Mr. Bleke seems to like sports over education. When he was with Forest Hills Schools, he once hired a new teacher right out of college just to be a football coach's assistant, passing over more experienced and qualified candidates.

If 60 percent of the Lowell people do not want the pool, then they should NOT be taxed or made to pay for it! Don't force things on the public without our consent. This is not what democracy is about. The Ledger does a good job in keeping us informed. Thank you to everyone there.

sports in proper perspective in the greater game of life. Athletic competition touches deep nerves. When children or relatives are involved, the participants are extensions of ourselves. Every parent knows the strong emotions evoked by watching a son or daughter compete. And athletic competition also gives rise to "bragging rights."

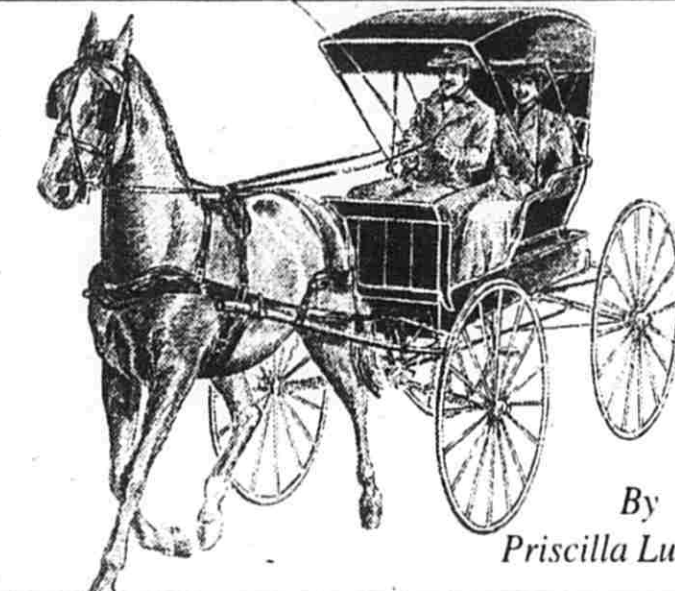

Feelings run deep; the pride and identity we feel in our school, our community or our favorite college team are on the line. We feel personally the joy of victory or the sting of defeat.

It is how we handle these emotions that defines our athletic citizenship, and whether we are proper role models for young people and good ambassadors for our community. For players, parents, spectators and coaches, there are important choices to make. We can cheer for our team, or deride the opponent. We can applaud our players, or belittle the visitors. We can take joy in victory, or mock the loser. We can play fair, or hit below the belt—both as athletes and fans.

Early October presents many opportunities to take either the high road or the low road. Traditional rivalries abound. Spirited competition is wholesome and firm, but mean-spirited behavior is not. Players who "talk trash" have no place in high school competition, and adults who cannot hold their tongues in the stands should root from the parking lot.

The Golden Rule has wonderful application in athletics as in other aspects of life: Do unto others as you would have them do unto you. True sports men and women realize that whether the game ends in a win or loss, "the essential thing is not to have conquered, but to have fought well" and to be humble in victory, gracious in defeat.

Most of us have witnessed boorish, crude and uncivil conduct at sporting events, as often from spectators as from athletes. What brings this out? One root cause is a failure to put

Item #1. ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

A. 743 Grindle - Mark Osburn - variance from hard surfaced driveway and waiver regarding sidewalk requirements - public hearing. Mark Osburn proposed to construct a new house on a back lot (variance given) off of Grindle. Because of its location, a variance from Section 19.03B involving a hard surface driveway measured to the street was requested. Also, a waiver regarding the required sidewalk had been petitioned.

At their August 23, 1999 meeting, the Planning Commission reviewed both requests with the applicant. Based on not meeting criteria D, E and F, the Commission did not recommend the variance involving hard surfaced parking be granted. However, the Commission did suggest the petitioner meet with DPW Director Dan DesJarden to determine the length of driveway pavement necessary to avoid washout onto Grindle. In discussing this with Osburn, DesJarden stated the driveway should be asphalted to 30 feet from Grindle to remedy this condition.

In addition, the Planning Commission recommended a waiver be granted on the sidewalk requirement, since there are no nearby walks.

Tracy Mullins of 901 Grindle noted she had been granted a variance approximately three years ago and questioned if a hard surfaced driveway was needed before gaining occupancy. City Manager Pasquale responded either the hard surface would need to be in place or a bond be issued to insure installation.

Mullins said several new homes in the area did not have paved drives. Pasquale responded this requirement was effective with the new Zoning Ordinance.

Osburn noted the easement through the property in front of his. He stated his property begins 365 feet back from the road. He felt the City was requesting he pave another resident's driveway.

He also mentioned the knoll behind the barn which would be cut to allow the water to flow to the east. Osburn stated the drive has never washed out.

John VanderWip of 1264 Fun St. agreed with the waiver placed on the sidewalk requirement. He did not believe paving 30 feet of the drive would help the run off of water. VanderWip felt increased traffic flow on the drive would create additional soil and gravel in the street. He also believed there was already a problem with run off along James Street and stated City employees have to clean the area.

Wayne Gardner of 901 Grindle stated City employees have improved the curve and removed trees for better vision. He said there are many drives with washout problems.

The Planning Commission suggested Public Works Director DesJarden review the property and determine how much of the drive should be paved. He said the ordinance states a drive must be placed on the property in which the building is located, noting the house is approximately 365 feet from the road. Under "New Construction", the ordinance states the City Manager must request residents place a hard surface drive between the right of way, construct retaining walls if necessary and install sidewalks. DesJarden noted his decision was based on this information and recommended 30 feet of the drive be paved. He stated this would bring the pavement to his property line.

DesJarden mentioned there were no conditions placed on the property at the time the variance was granted and felt paving the entire driveway would cost much money.

DesJarden stated out of the fourteen residents in the area, only four have hard surfaced driveways. He believed there was little run off and noted most of the gravel remained on Osburn's side of the street.

Councilmember Myers asked if Planning Commissioner Hall was present at the Planning Commission meeting when the waiver was discussed. Hall responded yes. He stated the Commission reviewed the criteria needed and did not feel all of these had been met. They suggested Osburn meet with DesJarden to determine what would be an adequate amount of hard surface.

Myers questioned if the Planning Commission would endorse 30 feet of pavement. Hall responded he did not want to speak on behalf of the entire Commission. He was irritated Osburn had mentioned the easement placed on his property, noting Osburn had requested this be located on the property.

Myers questioned who the property owner was at 741 Grindle. Osburn responded his mother, Freda Osburn. Myers asked if he and his mother shared the same driveway. Osburn said yes.

Osburn stated he was never informed a hard surfaced driveway was needed in order to gain occupancy. Myers noted the ordinance was public record and felt it was the builder's responsibility to ensure this was being followed.

Mayor Thompson agreed there was a washout problem on Hillside Court. He stated it costs the City much to clean the street. Thompson also agreed with DesJarden and believed at least 30 feet of the drive should be paved.

VanderWip thought the washout into the road could cause an accident and felt the issue should not be how many feet of pavement is necessary, but how can the washout be prevented.

Councilmember Green noted the following options: 1) grant a variance (no blacktop) 2) enforce the entire ordinance (pave the entire drive) 3) or allow City staff to recommend an extent of hard surface. He questioned if it would be considered a variance if City staff were allowed to determine how much hard surface there should be.

Gardner did not believe paving the drive would solve the problem.

Myers asked if curb and gutter would help the problem. Thompson assumed the drive would be tapered for the water to run off the sides and not down into the road.

Councilmember Blough felt it should be the owner's responsibility to control the run off.

VanderWip, who is a building contractor, did not believe installing a 30 foot paved drive would solve the problem. He felt the City should take initiative and change the grade of the street, noting this could alleviate 90% of the washout going into the road.

Planning Commissioner Hall believed the drive should be paved 20 feet beyond the crest of the hill. He stated then all run off would be coming from a paved, not a gravel drive. Osburn noted the hill behind the barn would be cut down approximately six feet.

Thompson questioned when the drive would be installed. Osburn responded it would be several weeks before this is completed.

Myers asked DesJarden if he considered the incline of the hill when 30 feet of paved drive was suggested. DesJarden responded the crest of the hill was 75 feet from the street. Myers was concerned regarding run off from the hill and believed it may be necessary to pave the drive further.

DesJarden said there used to be a small ditch, where the road curves. He noted the dirt has been accumulating there and suggested digging it out again.

Myers asked if a tile under the drive would help. DesJarden did not believe so. Blough was unsure of what direction should be taken.

Myers asked DesJarden if he could set a grade to allow for a better understanding of what should be done. Myers also stated he would be in support of a motion if the drive was paved far enough back, so that unnecessary washout did not occur.

Pasquale stated the variance request could be deferred until October 4, 1999 when more information was available.

IT WAS MOVED BY MYERS and seconded by GREEN to accept the Planning Commission's recommendation to grant a waiver for the sidewalk requirement at 743 Grindle with the condition a sidewalk may be required in the future.

Item #2. ORDINANCE AMENDING BOARD OF CABLE TELEVISION - PUBLIC HEARING. As previously discussed, a proposed ordinance amendment was prepared by City Attorney Richard Wendt to provide the Board of Cable Television with the same three members who serve on the Board of Light and Power. In accordance with Council wishes, compensation may be established for the Board by City Council resolution as noted in the ordinance amendment.

Thad Kraus wanted the Council to consider expanding the Board to five members. He stated there has been much interest in both Lowell Light and Power and Lowell Cable TV over the past few years. He felt three members was not a very diverse number and not a good representation of a growing community. Councilmember Myers strongly concurred with Kraus and believed the board should be expanded. Pasquale stated the expansion of the Board could be considered a charter amendment and be placed on the next election ballot. Mayor Thompson suggested the Board of Light and Power discuss the option.

Councilmember Blough felt the Board has given several opportunities for residents to give input. He noted the structure of the membership has been in place for a long time. Blough wanted the record to state the Light and Power Board has done a very creditable job for the City of Lowell.

Tom Richards, Manager of Programming and Marketing for Lowell Light and Power and Cable TV, suggested the Council review the request. He noted the board has had no difficulty in obtaining a quorum nor any problem organizing a meeting. He stated there are many complex issues which demand much from a Board member. He also noted the Board was not aware of community interest. He said no interested parties have attended the meetings.

Thompson suggested the Council and the Light and Power Board meet to discuss the proposal. Thompson also noted there are approximately 50 volunteers who are currently serving on Boards and Commissions within the City.

IT WAS MOVED BY GREEN and seconded by BLOUGH to adopt the ordinance amending the Board of Cable Television providing the same three members who serve on the Board of Light and Power.

Item #3. REMOVAL OF FOUR RED OAK TREES AT 605 BIRCHWOOD. Leonard Jackson of 605 Birchwood requested the removal of four red oak trees adjacent to his house on City right of way. He asked the City to contribute funds for these trees to be removed.

Councilmember Myers questioned why he wanted the trees removed. Jackson responded the trees are getting large and starting to die. He noted two of the trees hang out over the street. Myers asked if Jackson felt removing only two of the four trees would make any difference. Jackson was unsure.

Myers questioned if there were other options, beside removal of the trees. Councilmember Blough believed all the trees would die if these were not thinned out.

Jackson stated he would split the cost of removing the trees with the City.

IT WAS MOVED BY BLOUGH and seconded by GREEN to participate at 50% of the lowest bid from Bartlett Tree Experts (Poortenga) at $475 for removal of four trees at 605 Birchwood.

Item #4. PRESENTATION OF KENT COUNTY SOLID WASTE MANAGEMENT PLAN. Richard Herweyer, Supervisor of Grattan Township, who also serves on the Solid Waste Committee was present to discuss the Solid Waste Management Plan. The Solid Waste Committee was formed in order for the County to receive approval from the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) on their landfills and solid waste programs. Herweyer noted a plan was approved for ten years. A solid waste facility plan within Kent County must be completed every five years and be endorsed by two-thirds of the municipalities. The plan involves setting goals and objectives as well as a process for siting a facility, if there is a request. Herweyer encouraged the Council to adopt a resolution supporting the proposed plan. He noted the plan would not raise taxes. He also noted it is a lengthy process in order for a facility to become established in a particular area.

Mayor Thompson questioned how Lowell would benefit from such a facility. Herweyer responded Lowell would be part of the entire plan. It would give Lowell a mechanism for dealing with any request for solid waste. The plan would also provide a goal for household hazardous waste. He noted a pilot program was received very well in Grattan Township.

Thompson asked if this could be done without a plan and be started upon request. He also questioned if the program was another level of government procedure. Herweyer responded the program can be started upon request. He noted this particular plan is mandated by the DEQ and must be presented to the municipalities.

City Manager Pasquale read the following goals:

1. To maintain a viable high quality integrated solid waste management plan, which would focus on protection of public health and the environment.
2. To provide public education and awareness programs for county residents, businesses and industries that promotes hazardous waste management, recycling, reuse and waste reduction.
3. Develop and improve the solid waste database on solid waste management within Kent County to help assess achievement of the Solid Waste Plan.
4. Expand the availability of the hazardous waste programs to households and conditionally exempt small quantity generators.
5. Expand local markets for recycled material by encouraging the development of industry, which uses recycled material as a manufacturing feedstock.

Councilmember Blough did not believe there were any negative issues.

Myers noted this was a non financial endorsement.

IT WAS MOVED BY MYERS and seconded by GREEN to adopt the resolution as presented by Kent County Solid Waste Management endorsing the solid waste plan.

Item #5. DISCUSSION - CITY HALL AND POLICE STATION PROJECT AND PROPERTY ACQUISITION. Mayor Thompson and Councilmember Blough presented an offer to the VFW for the acquisition of their property. Thompson wanted the project to continue, even if the VFW decided not to sell. At this point, the City has acquired two houses for the parking lot on the northeast corner of Monroe and Avery. The school property still must be purchased this section could either be parking lot or possibly the Police Station.

Thompson stated the City is waiting for an appraisal concerning the VFW property.

He wanted the Council to consider the project and if a discussion needs to be held, a worksession meeting can be scheduled. A meeting date was set for Monday, October 11, 1999 at 7:00 p.m.

Thompson requested Police Chief Jim Valentine be present at the meeting.

He also requested an answer be received from the negotiating parties before the worksession meeting is held.

Thompson noted a study to separate the Police Station would cost $3,800. Pasquale was hopeful the study could be completed within the next three weeks.

Councilmember Myers questioned if the plan would be equitable for the taxpayers and if this would be functionable for the needs.

The Council decided to hold on proceeding with a study of separating the two buildings until the VFW has given an answer.

City Manager Pasquale noted he would have an answer from the VFW along with an appraisal before the worksession meeting. He would also include other studies which had been completed. No further action was taken.

Item #6. MONTHLY REPORTS. The following monthly reports are provided:

City Manager Activity	Police
Budget	Fire
Public Works Building

Councilmember Myers noted there were 33% more burials.

Mayor Thompson commented on how attractive the cemetery looks.

Item #7. CITIZEN COMMENTS. Jim Hall of 724 N. Monroe stated Michael's Farm Market is now open and it appears to be a great addition to the downtown area. Leonard Jackson stated the library was a great place for a meeting.

Item #8. COUNCIL COMMENTS. Councilmember Myers commented on the new sidewalks near Cherry Creek Elementary School. He stated there was no sidewalk crossing the creek. DesJarden noted a permit needs to be received from the DEQ before one can be built.

Myers also questioned if any stipulations concerning the compensation of the Planning Commission would be placed on the ballot. Pasquale responded the amount is decided by resolution of the City Council.

Myers noted City Manager Pasquale commemorated 12 years of service to the City of Lowell on August 10, 1999.

He also questioned if the City purchased a new sport utility vehicle for Light and Power and Cable TV. He had seen a white Jeep Cherokee with a Light and Power and Cable TV logo on it.

DesJarden stated it was not related to the DPW.

Myers commented on the representative from Light and Power and Cable TV leaving the City Council meeting early. He believed one should stay for the entire meeting. Thompson responded the department heads were here for their part of the meeting and did not believe each should be required to stay for the entire Council meeting. He noted the employee also has the Light and Power meetings to attend. Pasquale noted he would contact the department with this concern.

Councilmember Green spoke with library staff concerning the restrooms being locked during the Riverwalk Festival. He stated there had been no formal request to use these restrooms. Green stated the Chamber should petition the Council next year for the restrooms to be opened.

Thompson said the restrooms had been damaged in the past.

Green introduced exchange student Ivo Stefanov from Sofia, Bulgaria. He will be living in Lowell with the Green family for the next nine months. Mayor Thompson stated the DPW has done an outstanding job on the soccer fields at Creekside Park. He noted the parks are receiving much support from the surrounding townships noting many of the coaches live outside the City limits. He thanked everyone involved.

ITEM #9. MANAGER'S REPORT. City Manager Pasquale reported on the following:

1. The August 18, 1999 Downtown Historic District Commission meeting minutes were included.

2. The fifth annual fly in is scheduled on Sunday, September 26 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Lowell City Airport. Pasquale stated this has worked very well over the past few years and the Airport has been able to raise funds for improvements to the Airport.

3. At its September 11, 1999 meeting, the Parks and Recreation Commission approved the Master Plan drawing for Recreation Park. The Commission is having a design development drawing of a reoriented ballfield undertaken by Design Plus for a cost of $480 allocated from the project proceeds.

Green stated the football field would be left in the same location. A playground would be added. There would be paving of some parking areas. He stated the Fairboard is very excited about the project. A new boat launch may be improved or at least the existing facility would be repaired.

Also, the Planning Commission is reviewing different locations for a Farmers Market. The Parks Commission was willing to offer the corner of Bowes Road and Hudson as a location for a Farmers Market.

The Parks Commission is also reviewing the possibility of having a boardwalk along the Flat River with picnic shelters.

Thompson stated it is great to see the area improved. He noted the King Memorial Youth Center has been remodeled. There is also the youth football, and sprinklers have been installed on the Burch Field.

Leonard Jackson questioned the status of the house near the fairgrounds. Green responded there have been no discussions with the property owners.

The top non 4-H club was Cooper Creek Riders; it raised $1,567.

"It was a fabulous day and the event continues to be very successful," said Ride-A-Thon committee member Gail Roderick. "We've maintained a level of roughly 300 riders each year."

Susan Clay was the winner of the Western saddle raffle. The saddle was donated by Turn West Western store.

Sponsoring this year's event were Turn West Western, King Milling, Root Lowell, Old Kent Bank, Grand Rapids Western Riding Club, Foremost Insurance and the Kent County 4-H Horse Leaders Association.

The 1999 Ride-A-Thon was co-chaired by Larry Bignall and Steve Grody.

Individuals interested in volunteering their time at the Kent Special Riding program are encouraged to call Connie at 891-8243.

"We need people to volunteer two hours of their time," Roderick said. "We need volunteers for days, evenings and on Saturdays."

Lowell Charter Township to study Metro water/sewer agreement

By Jeffrey Redmond
Contributing Writer

Lowell Charter Township Board is considering a proposal by the Grand Valley Metropolitan Council for a new water/sewer agreement.

It is designed to both increase regional cooperation among local communities as well as continue to fight over-development.

Kent County Supervisor's Association representative Sharon Steffens expressed her concerns about townships finding increased demand for more police, fire, library, water and sewer services.

"As more people move out of Grand Rapids, there will be much more urban sprawl," Steffens said. The latest proposals by Grand Rapids for water and sewer usages were done without consulting any of the suburbs and other surrounding communities in Kent County.

This will mean increases in the rates users have to pay for city services. Connection charges with Grand Rapids will cost other local areas an increase from $2,200 to more than $7,000 over the next several years. But the size of the user will not be a factor, as the same fees will apply equally per each connection.

A small home owner would have to pay the same water use fees as a huge apartment complex on the same sized lot. Developers in places like Lowell will use more wells and septic tanks in their projects, which are less costly than putting in water and sewer lines to and from the city.

This will cause more housing construction in more places, more population, and more traffic congestion, at a much more rapid rate.

Lowell Township supervisor John Timpson has decided to work with the Grand Valley Metropolitan Council in its mediation efforts. These are designed to continue to protect all other areas from any further decisions made just by the city of Grand Rapids itself.

"We were not consulted about any of this, and so I support the resolution by the Council to act on our behalf as facilitators in all further discussions with Grand Rapids," Timpson said.

Gov. Engler declares October Spinal Health Care month

Gov. John Engler, through an executive declaration, has named October Spinal Health Care month.

In making the proclamation, the governor stated that "the proper function of the nervous system and the correct alignment of the spine are paramount to the body's ability to develop appropriately and work efficiently."

Doctors of Chiropractic, who are members of the Michigan Chiropractic Society, and their patients will be conducting special activities during the month of October in observance of Spinal Health Care Month.

Lowell's Doctors of Chiropractic, 11827 Fulton St. E., will offer free computerized spinal checks during this month.

"We are delighted with Gov. Engler's support for chiropractic, demonstrated by this declaration," said Lewis Squires, D.C., president of the Michigan Chiropractic Society.

Vitamins C & E lower risk of heart disease

Much data is being printed currently about the effect of certain vitamins on lowering the risk of heart disease. Vitamins which are antioxidants are known to decrease the likelihood of artery blockage by keeping cholesterol from building up in the blood vessels.

Vitamins C and E are the antioxidant vitamins which have been most studied. They tend to lessen the build-up of cholesterol in our arteries, and may even help our blood vessels to relax and open up more.

To lower your risk of heart disease, you must ingest much more Vitamin E and C than you can get from normal food sources. Your doctor may want you to take extra Vitamin C and E if you have had any of the following problems: heart attack, balloon angioplasty, bypass surgery, high blood pressure, tobacco use.

The current recommended dose of Vitamin C is 500 mg. to 1000 mg. each day. Vitamin E should be 400 IU daily.

Relaxed and confident, Lowell stifles Hudsonville, 14-2

•••• The Red Arrow defense held the Eagles to 101 yards rushing and 64 yards through the air.

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

A relaxed Lowell football coach, Noel Dean, joked about how he asked his defense for a shutout Friday night and settled for a 14-2 win over defending OK White conference champion Hudsonville.

The Red Arrow victory is further evidence of how players in the program have taken on their coach's "expect to win" attitude.

Dean, however, admitted his club may now be rubbing off on him. "This team is so relaxed. I'm beginning to take on its personality."

Lowell pitted its attitude, personality and a well executed running game quite successfully against a highly touted Eagle defense.

After watching Lowell rush for 204 yards, Hudsonville coach Dave Duram wished Dean's speed would have also rubbed off on his players.

Tom Oesch makes his way into the end zone on a seven-yard touchdown run. Oesch led all Lowell rushers with 57 yards. Lowell rushed for 204 yards against the Hudsonville defense.

"I was worried about Lowell's team speed. It took us a quarter to adapt to it," Duram explained.

Josh Brown introduced Hudsonville to that speed on the first play of the game. He raced 69 yards for an apparent touchdown; however, a Lowell penalty nullified the score.

The Red Arrows' opening drive was stalled on its own 22-yard line when Brown was intercepted by Hudsonville's Matt Reagan.

After Lowell's defense held the Eagles to three plays and a punt, the Red Arrows commenced with their first scoring drive. It encompassed 66 yards and 12 plays with Kurt Telman running it in from nine yards out.

"This young team is beginning to show some poise. After we had that touchdown called back, they came right back on the next series and got it in the end zone," Dean explained.

The score remained 7-0 until an errant snap on fourth and nine from the 12 sailed out of the Lowell end zone for a Hudsonville safety, trimming Lowell's lead to 7-2.

It was midway through the third quarter when Lowell scored its second touchdown. The Red Arrows executed a nine play, 58-yard rushing and just 64 yards passing.

The Eagles moved the ball between the 30s but never penetrated inside the Lowell 30-yard line.

"We moved the ball, but then we shot ourselves in the foot with yellow flags," Duram said. "Things may not get any harder, but they won't get easier," Duram said. "We have Hastings next."

Next up for the Red Arrows is a trip to East Grand Rapids.

Lowell boys cross country team loses to Hudsonville

Want to know how tough the OK White cross country teams are this year? Ask the Red Arrows.

"We've been competitive, but everybody in this league seems to have one tough runner and a bunch of decent runners," explained Lowell's coach Clay VanderWarf.

Lowell's latest experience was Hudsonville. The Red Arrows lost to the Eagles 20-39.

"We continue to improve, but other teams seem to be a step ahead of us," VanderWarf said.

Hudsonville claimed three of the top four spots. Ryan Malott took medalist honors with a time of 16:54. Dave Ruthven finished second in a time of 16:56. Teammate Shane Malaski came home in fourth stopping the clock in 18:14.

Pioneers punish Red Arrows

Like many clubs before it, Lowell girls basketball team was hurt between the foul lines by East Grand Rapids' physical play and quickness.

The Pioneers, the state's number two-ranked team, used two transition baskets and three Lowell miscues to balloon a four-point, second quarter lead to 14 in posting a 58-35 win over the Red Arrows.

"East is very physical and quick. It can put a lot of damage on a club between the foul lines," Lowell girls basketball coach Ken Akers said.

The Pioneers outscored Lowell 19-9 in the second quarter to take a 32-17 halftime lead.

Along with the play of EGR, Lowell was hurt by an ankle injury to starting center Amanda Stoutjesdyk in the second quarter.

"I just felt that it was best to take Amanda out of the game rather than risk an injury that might lose her for the rest of the season," Akers said.

East outscored Lowell 26-18 in the second half.

Melissa Burke led all scorers with 14 points. Pioneer teammate Jill Davis and Jessica Hart each added 10 points apiece.

Along with a solid floor game, Lowell received a team-leading 12 points from point guard Bethany Fredline. "She played well. Bethany handled their pressure quite well," Akers explained. "I think she is one of the best guards in the league at handling pressure."

Blair Meyer tallied nine points for the Red Arrows and Shelby Tomczak scored five.

"We're beginning to get better play from Tomczak, Meyer and Heather Posthumus at the two, three and four positions," Akers said. "This team hasn't hit its stride yet."

The loss dropped Lowell to 2-3 in the league and 4-4 overall.

Lisa Wojciakowski was the meet medalist. The Red Arrow freshman finished the race in 20:24.

Lowell's lady netters tie Zeeland; lose to Hastings

•••• Key performances from Kim Meiste, Katie Gunberg and Jenny Gunberg helped Lowell take three of four singles matches against the Chix.

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Lowell girls tennis team just missed posting a second league win for a second consecutive week.

Two weeks ago they were narrowly edged out by Hudsonville (5-3) and last week the Red Arrows battled to a 4-4 tie with Zeeland.

Lowell lost close, telltale matches at second and fourth doubles.

The Red Arrows, however, received solid performances from their top three singles players.

Kim Meiste, first singles, took out Brooke Radney 6-0, 6-4. "Kim played a nice match. It was her second league win of the year," Lowell tennis coach Bonnie Wall said.

The second and third singles duo of Katie and Jenny Gunberg posted wins against their Zeeland counterparts.

Katie Gunberg defeated Beth Geuder in straight sets 6-1, 6-3. "Katie played real well and was in control of the match," Wall said. "Katie moved exceptionally well."

Jenny Gunberg, also in control, dominated Tara Stouten 6-0, 6-2.

Laura Douglass, fourth singles, was upended by Zeeland's Megan Beck 6-1, 6-0.

The Red Arrows continued to get fine play from its steady number one doubles team of Virginia Bultema and Marianna Vieira. The team defeated Karie McMurry and Laurelin Vanginhoren 6-0, 6-3.

Stephanie Ellison and Lindsey Sage (second doubles) lost a tough match in two sets. They were beaten by Chix Beth Bratton and Angela Flaherty 6-4, 6-4.

Red Arrows' Amanda Stouten and Erin Barnes (third doubles) lost to Jessica Gordon and Courtney Bruner 6-1, 6-0.

Amanda Lonick and Karen Riddle were upended in straight sets 7-5, 6-1 by Zeeland's Emily Schoolmeister and Michelle Rosema.

"We had a couple of opportunities at second and fourth doubles but came up short," Wall explained.

Lowell's poor play did not lend itself to opportunity against the Saxons.

"The girls didn't play well or up to their capabilities. I was disappointed with our intensity. They have to want to win more," Wall said.

In singles play, Kim Meiste lost 6-0, 6-1 to Kim Carnes.

Katie Gunberg lost 6-2, 6-0 to Erin Bradler.

Jenny Gunberg, third singles, was defeated 6-1, 6-2 by Jeri Hendershot.

Laura Douglass lost her match at fourth singles 6-2, 6-1 to Amanda VanBuren.

In doubles play, Virginia Bultema and Marianna Vieira were defeated 6-0, 7-5 by Hastings' Laura Hubert and Tonia Myers.

Saxons' Angie Swiatek and Katie Williams defeated Stephanie Ellison and Lindsey Sage 6-3, 6-2.

In fourth doubles play, Amanda Lonick and Kelly Riddle were defeated 6-3, 6-3 by Saxons' Kristen Wildren and Libby Cassell.

Red Arrow soccer team loses 2-1 heartbreaker to Forest Hills Central

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

It is the type of loss that is not only hard to swallow, but never really settles in the pit of one's stomach.

"There is not much to say. It is hard to swallow," said Lowell soccer coach Chris Barlow, following his soccer team's 2-1 loss to Forest Hills Central. "It's one we let go in the last five minutes."

The Red Arrows led for nearly 75 of the 80 minutes before the Rangers got a miracle shot to tie the contest and then squeezed one past Lowell's goalie Jake Billingsley.

"Our defense wasn't challenged by Central until the last five or so minutes of the game. I thought our midfield dominated the play," Barlow said. "On offense I thought we moved the ball around and made their keeper work."

Lowell's poor play did not lend itself to opportunity against the Saxons.

Lowell's longest-standing car dealer celebrates 30th year

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

The white Camaro sitting on the showroom floor of Thomet Chevrolet is a vintage reflection of the late '60s. It is also a reminder of the local car dealers first year

(1969). In September, Thomet celebrated its 30th year in Lowell. Duke Thomet purchased the Chevrolet and Buick car dealership from Joe Azzarello (Azzarello Chevrolet) in 1969. One of his first acts was to hire his daughter Lynn (Thomet) Nauta and brother Stew. That family business partnership remained until the early 90s when Duke Thomet sold the dealership to Lynn and Stew.

"The time has gone by fast. We have enjoyed it," said Stew Thomet. In '69, the car lot was stocked with 30-40 cars (e.g., Caprices, Chevilles, Impalas, Corvairs); today, the lot holds 80-100 vehicles.

"We've gone from using order blanks to computers when ordering new cars," Thomet said, as he reflected back on changes that have occurred. "We've gone from carburetor to fuel injected engines. Mechanics need to be trained in electronics and computers."

The Lowell car dealer identifies front wheel drive and built-in safety as the best improvements the car industry has made in the last 30 years.

In the late '70s, the Thomet building was enlarged. Later, in the '80s, a garage was built in back of the dealership.

While the structures and cars have changed over the years, the soft and easy sales approach remains the same. "Our salesmen greet the customers, help them with financing and deliver the car," Thomet explained.

Stew Thomet opens the door to a 1969 Camaro, the same year Duke Thomet opened his dealership in Lowell.

These days, everyone is interested in saving money. One way to save is to install an energy-saving heat pump to warm your home in the winter and keep it cool in the summer.
Properly sized and installed heat pumps generally use less than half as much electricity as conventional electric systems to heat homes during the winter. In the summer, the heat pump reverses operation to become a central air conditioner, pumping hot air out of the house. No matter what the season, a heat pump can bring a climate of savings to your home.

With variance approved, Habitat ready to begin building second home in Lowell

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Through Lowell First United Methodist Church's work with Habitat for Humanity, Pastor Gordie Barry is aware of the need the organization fills.

"Through the work my church has done with Habitat for Humanity, I know there is a need for affordable housing," Barry said.

With that knowledge in mind, the Lowell planning commissioner recommended approval on a variance for a minimum square footage of floor area for a new home.

The property is currently zoned R-1, requiring 1,500 square feet of floor space.

Habitat for Humanity went before the Zoning Board of Appeals Monday night and received approval of the variance so it can construct two new bi-level homes with 1,050 square feet of floor area at 215 James St. The homes will also have detached garages.

One of the homes will be built for Jill Sloma.

The second piece of property will be purchased within 30-120 days and will be held for a Habitat home in the future.

Thus far, the Lowell community has raised $24,000 and Habitat acquired a grant from the Lowell Foundation for $5,000 for Sloma's home.

The purchase price of the new lots totaled $20,000. The cost of the house project is approximately $60,000.

Habitat worked with the Lowell community to raise an additional $31,000 to complete the project. Most of these funds were in the form of cash or in-kind donations.

"The request for a variance will allow us to keep the project affordable," said Habitat for Humanity executive director Pam Doty-Nation. "It will also keep us within the Habitat International guidelines."

Councilman Chuck

Myers said his property borders the 100 block of James Street. "The 1,050 square foot age fits fine in that neighborhood. In fact, I think it will be an improvement to the neighborhood."

Myers added he felt it was important to make an effort to provide affordable housing.

The city sidewalk requirement was waived by the council at this time.

BOOK REVIEW

By Joan Wittenbach

I accidentally came across the book, The Song of Celestine by James Redfield and Dee Lillegard while browsing in Schuler book store. I thought I recognized the cover artwork, and then when I opened it up, I couldn't help but know that this was one of my favorite artists, Dean Morrissey. I had forgotten, briefly, his name but his artwork is so "other worldly" and yet so real that it amazed me that I would even forget his name.

The Song of Celestine is inspired by The Celestine Prophecy, also by James Redfield. I became impatient with the prophecy book, but I had 15 other books going through my mind at the time, and felt I needed the beauty of Dee Lillegard's poetry and Morrissey's artwork for a respite.

It was more than a breathing space—this time of reflection and quietness. There was an excitement in the "young boy who finds a path but loses his way." Celestine, along the path, hears words that are clues to getting back to the safety of his bedroom.

From words of direction to battles, to flowers, to faces, Celestine's journey especially by way of the magnificent artistry of Morrissey, is an awesome experience. So simple, yet so profound. There is a battle for Celestine, who he is, who he will become, and although thrown to his knees, he is not conquered. I'll not write anymore. I do want you to go to the library and ask for The Song of Celestine. I bought this

Growth brings new look to school buildings

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

One thing is clear following the start of the 1999-2000 school year... change is everywhere. Whether it's the physical appearance of the building, the hiring of new teachers or offering of new classes, change can be detected at each Lowell School District building.

Bushnell Elementary has a new blue aluminum fascia around the bottom of its roof along with new doors and a new sign.

A couple of high school students are enrolled in a micro economics class through Michigan Virtual University on the Internet.

Middle school students are enjoying the cultural experience of a unified arts Spanish class.

Elementary (K-6) students' math curriculum has been revised and is similar to secondary Chicago Style math.

The addition of a new first-grade teacher at Bushnell Elementary required a new classroom, which necessitated dismantling the computer lab, and moving it into the reading center. The reading center was moved into the publication center.

book for the children in the library system and their families. It is to be looked at, wondered at, and listened to, but most of all, it is to be loved in the beauty of the words and the art.

New to Alto is the establishment of a student council and a running club.

Some scheduled changes/additions haven't yet taken place at Alto Elementary.

Alto principal Mary Ann Schramm stated they are waiting on certification of a new third grade teacher as well as the refurbishing work to the staff room.

At Cherry Creek Elementary, an art room was cut in half to create two art rooms; a math room space was reduced to create a small room for the full-time social worker; a wall between two storage spaces was knocked out to create a small special education classroom; a gifted and talented (GT) classroom was converted to special education space and GT was moved to a storage room. Storage areas are being used for special education classes and/or office space.

"There have been adjustments which have been made to accommodate the growth in buildings as well as the "bubble shifts" which occur at a couple of grade levels," Cherry Creek principal Maureen Dorough said.

New student council president wants to play an active role

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

As the new Lowell High

School student council president. Keith Valentine hopes to establish more of a presence in the community for the organization.

"We are a group of able-bodied people. My goal is for us to do something for the community," Valentine explained. "I would like the council to do more activities and make an impact."

Valentine was elected head of the student council last spring. The senior also serves on the officers board for S.A.D.D., is a member of Model U.N. and plays baseball and basketball.

As president, Valentine will serve as student representative on the school board.

"I didn't know what to expect," Valentine said following his first board meeting. "The board members and the superintendent made me feel very relaxed."

As student representative Valentine says his role is to relay student issues to the board.

Board representative and student council president aren't the only new roles Valentine has undertaken.

The senior has also agreed to be an analyst on the Lowell Cable Television access channel's tape delay football telecast.

"It's fun and I'm having a good time with it," Valentine says.

The senior has narrowed his post high school education choices down to Aquinas,

Keith Valentine

Ferris State and Hope College. He will study political science and psychology.

His choice is based on his desire to some day work in law enforcement. "It's either that or teach," Valentine said.

Because Valentine is color blind, he cannot practice law enforcement in Michigan... which may lead him into teaching instead.

"In Michigan, a person in law enforcement cannot use corrective lenses if he or she is color blind; however, a person is allowed to use corrective lenses for sight," Valentine said. "I would have to go out of state to practice law enforcement."

His law enforcement desire is a direct reflection of the influence his father (Lowell chief of police Jim Valentine) has had on him.

"My father has had a big influence on me. My mother (Chery), however, is the one who sees to it that I walk the straight and narrow."

Attempted break-in squelched

By Thaddeus J. Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

A 16-year-old Lowell juvenile and a 17-year-old adult were apprehended late Friday night on an attempted breaking and entering charge at Cumberland Produce Market Place, 11250 Fulton St.

The culprits were caught by county and city officials while attempting to kick the door down to get into the store from the greenhouse, according to store owner Jeff Roys.

"The culprits crawled out of the same hole they used to get into the greenhouse once authorities arrived," Roys said. "They were never able to get into the store."

Lowell Police Chief James Valentine said his department assisted the county on the call about 11:40 p.m.
