Foundation grant heightens accessibility to Milky Way Galaxy

•••• Veen Observatory's new modern computerized telescope allows discovery to take place from school and home.

By Thaddeus J. Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

A technological advanced telescope will enable Lowell residents and students to discover a new asteroid or comet from their home or classroom.

A modern computerized telescope (Meade LX 200 16 inch telescope) and related technical equipment will be added to the James C. Veen Observatory, 3308 Kissing Rock Ave. SE. The purchase was made possible through a $15,650 grant from the Lowell Area Community Fund. The fund was established in 1997 through a $12.5 million bequest to the Grand Rapids Foundation by the late Harold Englehardt. Marcia Rapp, vice president of programs for the Grand Rapids Foundation, said the Lowell Area Community Fund is pleased to help make science more accessible to the Lowell community. "It was definitely the most interesting pitch for grant money that the foundation received," Rapp explained. "It makes the Veen Observatory more approachable and enables residents to use it more frequently in an intellectual way."

Bushnell Students Embody Christmas Spirit

Represented by Susan Barry's kindergarten class (pictured above), Bushnell students collected nearly 2,000 items of food for the Flat River Outreach Ministries Thrift Shop. The non-perishable items were delivered to the pantry on Thursday by Unity High School students. The slogan for the fundraiser was "Show Your Compassion -Just Do It."Along with food, Bushnell students brought in toys which will be distributed to needy children in the Lowell area. The toy drive, which is districtwide, is sponsored by the Lowell Education Association.

Board extends Bleke's contract

By Thaddeus J. Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

Lowell Board of Education has reached an agreement with Lowell superintendent Bert Bleke on a two-year contract extension.

Bleke's new contract puts him in line with his Kent Intermediate School District contemporaries.

"The board views Bert as being the best superintendent in the KISD," Lowell School Board president Pete Gustafson said. "Bert has spearheaded innumerable initiatives both in the school district and in our community."

Auditors give city clean bill of health

By J.N. Boorsma Contributing Writer

The city of Lowell received a clean bill of health on its books Monday night from the accounting firm of Biggs, Hausserman, Thompson, and Dickinson.

The Grand Rapids-based company was hired by the city to do an audit of the city's accounts and records for the 1998-99 year. "This is a clean report, the type of report that you strive to attain," said Tom Dickinson, who was leading the audit for his firm. "Nothing came to our attention that would be a negative for the city of Lowell."

Dickinson had nothing but praise for Sue Olin and Char McNab, who handle the city's records. He noted in his report that the city's accounting records have continued to be handled effectively and accurately. "Maintaining accurate accounting records is vital to maintaining an efficient government operation," Dickinson wrote in his summary report. "Of course, there is always room for improvement.'

Dickinson said his firm did want to point out a few areas the city should be concerned with. The first was the Y2K issue, in which the firm reminded the city how important it is that all systems be capable of recognizing the year 2000. Some computers may turn the clock back to 1900 if not updated. "The city does have a Y2K plan in place and has already gone through and corrected or replaced the computers in question,"

Tolan wins Polaris 500

The Flat River Snowmobile Club of Lowell sold raffle tickets for a new Polaris 500 snowmobile and a 10-foot R&R Northern lite trailer purchased from Nelson's Speed Shop in Greenville.

With 1,000 tickets printed, club members sold tickets up until the raffle at the Santa Claus parade in Lowell on Dec. 4.

LHS honors students-of-the-month

Each month the faculty at Lowell High School chooses several students who excel in a certain area who merit this honor. The students of the month for December are Lindsay Scigliano, Sarah Happie, Troy Gillan and Craig Carpenter.

Lindsay Scigliano was selected by the math department. She is a senior and the daughter of Dave and Nancy Scigliano of Ada. She is active in International Club. Junior Rotary, National Honor Society, SADD and Freshman Academy. She is employed at Meijer and Fry Daddy's East. She was nominated for this honor because she refuses to settle for mediocrity and strives for complete mastery of each topic discussed. She plans to attend Western Michigan University next year.

The Lowell Police Department will be making a concerted effort to curb drunk driving over the New Year's weekend. Additional officers will be on duty during the evening and night hours. It is hoped the high visibility patrols will serve as a reminder and deterrent for those persons considering driving after drinking too much. Additional officers will be on duty for both Friday, Dec. 31 and Saturday, Jan. 1.

Officers will be targeting intoxicated driving and other alcohol related motor vehicle offenses, such as transporting open intoxicants. A high priority will also be placed on speed enforcement and seat belt violations.

New Year's is historically a time of celebration, often associated with over indulgence of alcoholic beverages. The police department is trying to get the message out that operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated will not be tolerated. The concern for law enforcement for this particular New Year's weekend is the possibility of extreme celebrating, because of the Millennium. The ultimate goal of the additional patrols is to prevent tragic traffic crashes associated with drunk driving.

If you drink, do so responsibly. If you do drink, do not drive. Make plans to designate a driver who will not be consuming intoxicating beverages. As an alternative, party hosts should consider serving non-alcoholic beverages.

Item #1. ZONING ORDINANCE AMENDMENT - REC-OMMENDATIONS FROM THE PLANNING COMMIS-SION - ADOPT OR ESTABLISH PUBLIC HEARINGS (12/20). At its November 22, 1999 meeting, the Planning Commission held public hearings and recommended approval on the following three zoning ordinance amendments.

A. Provision of Boarding and Lodging Houses as a Special use in the General Business District.

The Planning Commission had for several months reviewed the issue of boarding and rooming houses as a special use in the C-3 General Business District. After review, the Commission felt this would be an appropriate measure in light of such proposed housing on East Main Street.

Item #4. REVIEW OF PROPOSED AIRPORT IMPROVE-MENTS BY THE AIRPORT BOARD AND REQUEST TO MICHIGAN BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS FOR LOAN. Airport Board Manager James Sowle stated the Michigan Aeronautics Division provides public entities with funds to facilitate improvements to the airport. The Airport Board wishes the City Council to use their full faith and credit to borrow up to $85,000. Sowle recently spoke with the Michigan Bureau of Aeronautics and was told the entire amount may not be available. But, there would be at least $80,000.

Myers inquired how the rent compares to other municipal airports. Sowle responded very comparable.

Sowle stated there will be no negative effect on the surrounding neighbors and actually some very positive consequences for the neighbors to the east and the pilots using the airport.

Councilmember Blough questioned if runway 12-30 was any activity would be shifted to 6-24. Sowle said no more than what is currently being used. He said planes come and go based on wind direction.

Thompson asked concerning the situation with charging tie down fees. Sowle responded there are some airplanes with no engines and others which have been at the airport with no indication of who the owner is. Sowle said the Board intends to find the owners to these planes in the spring. He noted the Board has established a tie down fee of $20 a month.

Thompson questioned what benefits the airport provided to the community. Sowle said an FAA official came to the Rotary club a few months ago and spoke concerning the trickle down effect the airport had toward the Lowell community. He indicated there is approximately one costs $28,000 for an engine change.

Revised ordinance will allow boarding/lodging houses

Looking for a room? Well if a general business owner is interested, he/she can rent one to you.

At its Monday night meeting, the Lowell City Council unanimously approved a revision to its ordinance which would allow. under a special use permit, general business owners to own and operate boarding and lodging houses.

A public hearing was held on the issue at the meeting, but no one came forth to comment. With little discussion among the five-member council (a couple of councilmembers did note the need for having such establishments in the area), the council approved the revision.

Lowell does not have a major hotel chain within the city limits. A boarding house or lodging house, as defined by the proposed ordinance, is

19999 A Year In Review

Year-In Review

1999 authors growth, continued economic boom, land and historical preservation, tragedy, accomplishment and hope for the new millennium.

January 6, 1999

Lowell residents dig themselves out from under a snowstorm which dropped 10-16 inches of the white stuff on the community. It was labeled as one of the worst snowstorms in West Michigan in 30 years.

A New Year's Day fire destroys the home of Renee DeBold and her three children (Chris, Tony and Kim). An electric space heater was believed to be the cause of the fire which started in the living room near the front of the house.

A state grant from the Department of Natural Resources in the amount of $142,000 is awarded to the Lowell Charter Township toward the development of a park.

March of '98, leaves $10,000 in his estate for each of the following: Lowell Rotary, First Congregational Church of Lowell, Lowell Masonic Lodge #90 and the Kent County Humane Society.

January 13, 1999

Cross sections from an old oak tree which once stood on the northwest corner of Bailey and Parnell will be used to highlight a visual record of Vergennes Township history. After the cross section(s) are documented, they will be displayed at the township, school district libraries and Englehardt Public Library.

ation by volunteering to solve Swanson and Chris a problem leads to the decision to move the 1999 graduation ceremony back to the Showboat amphitheater. The decision as to where to hold graduation was put to a class vote. The results favored moving graduation to the Showboat. The 1998 graduation was held at Red Arrow Stadium.

Approximately 50 percent of Lowell High School students make school lunch their daily choice. Caroll Harper, Lowell Area Food Service director, reveals that on an average, 436 high school students eat the school lunch which consists of a combination of components that make up a nutritional meal as defined in the Federal School Lunch Guideline.

Vergennes Township begins discussions on what regulations might be put into a cell tower ordinance.

Lowell's Downtown Development Authority presents a list of projects which could find its way on a future bond issue. The proposed projects include parking lot improvements and the extension of the Riverwalk to the Showboat amphitheater.

February 10, 1999

Kent County Sheriff's Department and medical personnel are called to the scene of a Friday morning fatal car crash involving Lowell High School students, Luke Cunningham departed from school mid-morning enroute to a friend's house.

Swanson, however, failed to stop for the 52nd St. stop sign and was broadsided by a car driven by Scott Parker who was also enroute to the friend's house.

The move, which was unanimously recommended by the Lowell Planning Commission, was approved by the city council, in an effort to maintain the downtown area's historical character.

The potential is here to make Lowell unique, but is the attitude here to develop such an action plan?

That is at the crux of the first Lowell Chamber of Commerce/Lowell Leadership Initiative early bird breakfast discussion.

The concensus which permeated from the room of approximately 30 local business and community leaders was that participation of all is needed in putting together an infrastructure that will help develop the future look of the whole community.

Ron Pederson, sculptor, professor and chairman of the Aquinas College Art Department, is chosen to jury the 14th Annual West Michigan Regional Competition.

Lowell Charter Township Board awards the bid for improvements and further development of Grand River Park to K&S Excavating ($90,000).

The Lowell School Board approves the purchase of four new buses from Hoekstra/Woodland ($235,338).

Lowell fifth-grade students score below the state and county average. Only 15.2 percent of the students taking the test met or exceeded state standards, while 51.2 percent did not pass the test.

Of the eighth-grade Lowell students who took the social studies MEAP test, 43 percent met or exceeded state standards. East Grand Rapids led all KISD schools with 71.6 percent.

Central answers all in 10-point win over Lowell

By Thaddeus J. Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

An old Chinese proverb says "10,000 times answers all questions" ... unless you're talking about who is the best wrestling team in the OK White. That question was answered the first time it was asked Thursday night.

It was answered convincingly by Forest Hills Central. The Rangers were in control from start to finish in posting a 39-29 win over Lowell. It was FHC's fifth consecutive win against the Red Arrows over a four-year period.

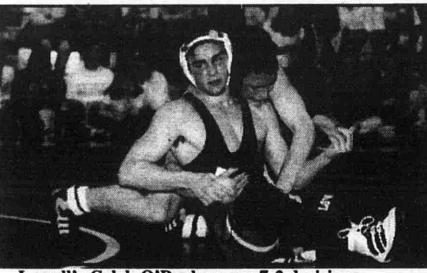

"I wouldn't say it was easy," said Ranger wrestling coach Dave Mills. "Lowell was still on our back at 189. If they win that match, it's a different story."

Central's coach was referring to the P.J. Gordon and Matt Oesch match at 189 pounds.

Going into the match Central led 33-18. An Oesch win would have brought Lowell within 12 points of the Rangers with two weight classes left.

"We felt we had to start strong because Lowell is tough in the middle and strong up top," Mills said.

Gordon's pin of Oesch at 5:05 of the third period rendered Bill Stouffer's major decision at 215 and Ben Vaught's pin at heavyweight meaningless.

Lowell's Caleb O'Boyle won a 7-2 decision.

"I'm very proud of our boys' effort tonight. They wrestled with intensity and heart," Mills said. That was evident early. The Rangers won five of the first six matches, building a 23-6 advantage. "The match went pretty much like last time (Central's 35- end."

33 win at the Michigan Duals)," Lowell wrestling coach Dave Streic explained. "We were never able to get the swing match or point."

Central earned itself some extra points by manufacturing some of its own breaks. Leigh Johnson (130 pounds) pinned J.J. Wilder at 4:19 of the third period. The Ranger decisioned him earlier in the season. Adam Grealish (152) lost a 9-4 decision to T.J. Forward. The Ranger was pinned in their first encounter at the Michigan Duals. "I thought the boys gave all they had. They put everything out on the mat," Strejc said. "I was disappointed because our basic skills were not where they needed to be. The challenge now is ... are the boys willing to do what it takes to correct that. We have to eliminate the leaks and gaffes that I saw out there Strejc said the Chinese proverb provides the answer of

"I know that can be a frustrating approach, but I hate losing, actually I love to win," Strejc said. "If the boys want to turn things around, I'm willing to see them through to the

Red Arrows rally from 11-point deficit in win over Rangers

By Thaddeus J. Kraus Lowell Ledger Editor

The night ended for Forest Hills Central's boys basketball team as it began for first quarter. the Red Arrows.

The Red Arrows, having suffered consecutive losses by five and four points respectively, ended the evening

It didn't start out as if Lowell were on track for its first win of the year. The Red Arrows trailed 11-0 four minutes in the contest.

"Our game plan was to pressure Central, but we didn't score in the opening minutes and therefore couldn't," Lowell basketball coach Pete Bush said. Lowell trailed Central by Andy Curtis's work on the offensive and defensive boards sparked Lowell in the second quarter and helped keep the Red Arrows' stay within reach of Central.

"Andy played extremely well and he hit some key shots for us in the second quarter," Bush explained.

Lowell outscored FHC 13-11 during the second quarter and trailed Central 26-18 by halftime.

"We started out with great emotion and intensity, but didn't show it in the second

Lowell started the third quarter on a 7-2 run. A three by Troy Gillan and buckets by Curtis and Aaron Alsgaard pulled the Red Arrows to within three at 28-25. The Red Arrows' good offensive start in the second half opened things up defensively.

"Tom Oesch did a great job against Anderson," Strejc said.

The match-up between Oesch and Anderson brought the crowd of 1,000 to their feet before the match even started. "That is a great memory," Mills said. "It's amazing to watch how the student-following has grown over the years."

The Lowell junior varsity hockey team lost two tight divisional games this past weekend to Grand Haven and Okemos. Despite the losses, the team played very well in both the second period with an unassisted goal on a brilliantly games and simply had a difficult time capitalizing on numerous scoring opportunities.

On Thursday, the Red Arrows traveled to the Edge Arena the period. to take on Grand Haven, an upper division team. Lowell outplayed Grand Haven for a majority of the game and outshot them by a margin of 29-16. Defenseman Dustin Hofert opened up the scoring for the Red Arrows at the 8:51 mark of the first period with a slapshot from the point. Lowell's Andrew Blanchard put the team up 2-0 early in executed two-on-one. Grand Haven scored their first goal just over a minute later and then tied the score at the 3:47 mark of

The third period was very evenly matched with Lowell and Grand Haven producing eight and seven shots on goal, respectively. Unfortunately, Grand Haven scored with just over seven minutes remaining and held on to the lead for the rest of the game.

A bright spot for the Red Arrows was the play of back-up oalie David Maylone who made 26 saves in his first outing "Defensively, we played a great game," said head coach Paul Jacobus. "Anytime we can hold a team like Grand Haven to only three goals, we know we're doing something right."

"Offensively, we are getting good scoring chances but we just haven't been able to capitalize on them," explained Jacobus. "It's frustrating at times for the kids but they keep working hard and they know that things will turn around."

On Saturday, the Red Arrows traveled to Lansing to face off against Okemos for the second time this season. Lowell won the first meeting by a score of 4-0. In very similar fashion

Lowell's only goal came in the second period when winger Eric Bailey scored at the 7:48 mark on an assist from Maylone. Okemos' first goal came late in the first period and they scored their second goal with just over four minutes left in the game. Goalie Jay Blair had a fantastic game in stopping 22 shots, several of which were on breakaways.

In both games, the Red Arrows decreased the number of penalties per game, increased the number of shots-on-goal and played excellent defensive position.

"The past few games have been a bit of a struggle for us because we are playing good, consistent hockey against some good teams but we don't have much to show for it," explained Jacobus. "The kids have a great attitude and they know that things will start to go our way soon."

The second bucket came tral is still seeking. two minutes later when Koetsier drained a three from in front of the Lowell student section.

The bucket increased Lowell's lead from three to six at 46-40.

"It's a shot where I'm yelling no as he takes it, but after it goes in, 'well, we can live with it," Bush explained.

Down six with less than two minutes to play, Central went to Lettinga. The senior answered with three buckets and pulled the Rangers to within one at 47-46.

Alsgaard hit one of two from the line with seven seconds remaining to increase

YMCA's child care program fills a growing need

The conversion from single-to dual-family income has changed the way YMCAs do business.

It has created a growing need for before- and afterschool licensed child care facilities.

"Up to 10-15 years ago there were only a handful of YMCAs which offered child care," said Will Welch, executive director of the Lowell YMCA branch.

The Y now offers a child development center at the First Congregational Church for infants and preschool children; a K-1 before-, duringand after-school program at Bushnell, licensed to care for up to 21 children and required to have one teacher for every 12 children; and a grades 2-5 after-school child care program at Cherry Creek.

Karen Lezan, site director for the Bushnell child care center, says the program is very structured, allowing time for art, computers, reading, singing, art, field trips and free time.

The before- and afterschool programs at Bushnell are full, however space is still available in its enrichment program during the day.

The full-time rate for the K-1 program is $96; before and after, $58; hourly, $4.85; during kindergarten (on/off days), $70; and half day (Friday), $18.

"We also serve breakfast and snacks, and are allowed to use the school lunch program," Lezan said.

The successful programs are available because of the space provided by the church and two schools.

The Englehardt Lowell Area Community Fund awarded the YMCA a $17,000 grant, funding the startup of the Bushnell program in August. The Y also is a recipient of the United Way and other contributions.

Lezan has a bachelor's urch degree in early childhood education from Central Michiwell gan University.

> "Our goal is to be accredited from the Michigan Education Association of Young Children by 2001," Lezan said. "It's a lengthy process, but it represents excellence."

Fletcher appointed to township board

By Jeffrey Redmond Contributing Writer

The Lowell Charter Township Board has appointed a new candidate to serve on the township Board of Review. Gladys Fletcher of 12632 Grand River Dr. has been voted in unanimously by the trustees to fill for a oneyear term.

She replaces the late John Stubbs and will complete the remainder of his appointment surer Jean Huver is pleased to have Fletcher on the review board.

"Gladys was my deputy treasurer and has good experience with the tax rolls," Huver said.

Supervisor John Timpson was the original motivating force behind the nomination.

"I'm glad her nomination passed unanimously," Timpson said.

LAHA seeks information on servicemen and women

In an effort to preserve the history of some of the area's servicemen and women, the Lowell Area Historical Association is collecting information on its service activity.LAHA will circulate a military records information form to be completed for each service person.

Service activity can be during either war or peace time. "We ask that the servicemen and/or women write as much or little as they like," Judy Straub said. "Photos would be a great addition."

The forms will be placed in an alphabetized record book for current and future research used by anyone.

"We would like to collect this information about our servicemen and women before it becomes lost and unavailable to our future generations," Straub explained.

Forms are available at the LAHA office, 323 W. Main. Completed forms, information and photos may be mailed to the LAHA office (P.O. Box 81, Lowell, MI 49331).

For more information call LAHA at 897-7688 or Straub at 897-7904.
