Lowell helps out neighboring FH district

•••• School transfers 28 acres into Forest Hills district so an environmental school can be developed.

By J. N. BoorsmaContributing Writer

The Lowell Area School District will be a little smaller ... 28 acres to be exact.

At its Monday night board meeting, the Board of Education, in a 5-1 vote, decided to transfer 28 acres of land to the Forest Hills Public Schools. Most of the land is designated to become part of Seidman Park, where Forest Hills school officials plan to develop an environmental school.

"What we did was the right thing to do," said boardmember Mark Blanding during board comments. "With all this talk of character, we stepped up to the plate and did the right thing - not just for our district but for the community at large."

The transfer moves the land from the Lowell Area School District to the Forest Hills School District. The land is not owned by the Lowell district; it was simply within the district's borders so if any houses were located there, the children from those homes would have attended Lowell Area Schools.

The land, located in Vergennes Township right next to Seidman Park, was removed from the tax rolls because it was deemed unbuildable for residential housing. "Therefore," said Board president, Pete Gustafson, "it would never be used for the purpose of housing students."

While it may never have homes on it nor hold financial value to the district, boardmember Pat Nugent said he still had some lingering doubts about changing the district's borders and having a school from another district built so close to Lowell's border.

"I guess I'll make up my mind in the next 30 seconds over how I am going to vote," Nugent said. In the end, Nugent was the only no voter on the issue.

"I don't think anyone on the board doesn't hesitate when we are modifying the boundaries of the district," Gustafson said. "Some of Pat (Nugent's) concerns are certainly shared by the rest of the board."

Lowell had an opportunity to participate in the Forest Hills environmental program but with the development of the Wege Natural Area and the decision to create its own environmental program, school officials decided against

Council appoints ad hoc committee to review maintaining an acceptable cable television system

•••• The committee of nine will meet for the first time on Monday, March 27 to begin discussions.

By Thaddeus J. KrausLowell Ledger Editor

Determining the community's interest to continue offering cable television in the Lowell community will be the charge, between now and May 1, of a recently appointed committee.

In reviewing a number of volunteer applications, Mayor Michael Blough said he selected a balanced cross section of the Lowell residency which included one representative from each entity served by the cable system outside the boundaries of Lowell.

The committee shall be empowered to call representatives of Lowell Cable and the city of Lowell to attend meetings and to provide information to the public about Lowell's cable service and to conduct public hearings or focus studies to determine the community's interest in maintaining an acceptable cable television system.

I welcome an exam of what we're doing and a comparison of the services we provide and the value people are getting for their money. I think councilman Quada (Ray) is right in properly wanting an exam of the system and all we do, and not just of the channels people find offensive.

Tom Richard Lowell Cable marketing and programming manager

"This adhoc committee has been formed to fulfill this one simple charge," Blough said. "The purpose is for an open. worthwhile discussion on all points of view."

From the discussions the ad hoc committee will come back with a recommendation to the city council.

The Lowell City Council approved Mayor Blough's recommendation to appoint Joe Fremer, Dean Lonick, Alan Teelander, David Simmonds, Flo Beggs, Deb Canfield and Jane Bosserd to serve along with himself and councilor Jeanne Shores.

"I welcome an exam of what we're doing and a comparison of the services we provide and the value people are getting for their money," said Tom Richards, Lowell Cable marketing and programming manager. "I think councilman Quada (Ray) is right in properly wanting an exam of the system and all we do, and not just of the channels people find offensive."

Don Green was the only councilman to question Blough's rationale in selecting committee members.

Green noted that Alan Mathews had volunteered to serve

"The progress Adam has made is incredible," Boeve says.

simple "Hi" or even "plastic or paper."

The fact Maynard has been there six months indicates he has not only adapted but is meeting the requirements set forth by Family Fare human resource coordinator Sara Pohler and store director Bob Teitsma.

"Adam didn't want to say 'Hi' at first, but the program has helped him a lot," Teitsma explains. "He is friendly and always smiles and says 'Hi'. Adam does a fine job and we have never received a complaint from a customer."

Maynard works alongside fellow classmate, Sara Bault.

"Since beginning her work at Family Fare, her social skills have gone off the chart," Boeve says.

This year, Boeve has begun placing students like Bault, with fewer vocational skills, in settings with students who have higher vocational skills.

The result: the students have blossomed in the vocational setting while outside of the academic setting. "There is such a change in personality," Boeve adds.

Even more rewarding for the Lowell Community Based Instruction teacher is the perantage of students who end up getting hired for employment. "About 60-70 percent of the students are hired by local businesses after they

The city and Lowell Youth Football renewed their agreement for the operation and control of the concession stand and Burch field facilities for one year.

An escape clause for either party was eliminated because of Lowell Youth Football's investment in the field.

The council asked that LYF draft up its long-range plans for the facility.

Another tragic school shooting in the Flint area, a student with a gun in a high school in West Michigan, and now we must endure a shot by shot report of last year's tragedy at Columbine High School. These news stories focus on the seemingly unending tragedies in American schools. Yet at the same time nationwide statistics clearly show that across the country our nation's schools are becoming increasingly safer for students each year. While this message does not get across to the public because of the mass media, it is a fact. There has been less violence each year in American schools for the past five years.

Over the last several years, Lowell Area Schools has worked very hard to make our schools secure for children. To not have made this extra effort in today's uncertain world would have been neglectful. More important than our extensive work on school security, however, has been our district's efforts to embrace all students in a respectful manner. All students and staff deserve a safe, secure, and respectful school culture in which they can learn and grow. To achieve this goal takes considerable effort and dedication. Clearly we have not yet reached this goal. It is my sense that there remain many students who are uncomfortable, are teased, or feel left out in our schools. This may be our school's single greatest challenge — that being, to continue to find ways in which a human organization (our schools) can increasingly find better ways to meet the individual learning and personality needs of all of our Yes, this is indeed a formidable task. Some would say. perhaps, impossible. Yet a task to which I hope that our schools will become increasingly committed as we work to help each child prepare for their rightful place in our society.

FEWER PEOPLE ENJOYING THE OUTDOORS

These are certainly very stressful times we live in today. It seems that everyone has a cell phone so that no one is ever really alone or out of touch. We have a planner to keep us organized and on task. Everyone in the family who is employable has a job, and younger folks are in school or day care. After work and school it's ball games and a visit to the gym. Then dinner, clean the house, pay the bills, do homework, and finally off to bed.

Now, everyone really needs some recreation to help them to unwind and relax. No problem. When the weekend comes just flop down in front of the large screen TV, grab the remote and select any number of spectator sports to watch. Then, there is the Internet to serf and for some real excitement we can go to a movie or rent a video. Last but not least there is always the

Forest Hills/Lowell swim team 14th at state

•••• Ranger Scott Weir places second in 100 freestyle.

By Thaddeus J. KrausLowell Ledger Editor

Forest Hills/Lowell swim team finished 14th in the Class A boys swimming and diving championships at Eastern Michigan University's Michael H. Jones Natatorium.

It was the best finish of any OK White/ Rainbow I Conference team. Hudsonville (22 points) placed 19th; Zeeland (14) 24th; Forest Hills Northern (9) 28th.

"With everyone returning, we're optimistic about next year," Forest Hills/Lowell swim coach Heather Heritage said. "The boys should be more comfortable and con-

100 freestyle with a time of 46.90. "This is the first time since his first meet of the year against Hudsonville that Scott has swum the 100 freestyle in 46s," Heritage said. "He went out there today and attacked it."

Weir was seeded fifth going into the finals on Saturday

Weir finished fifth in the 200 individual medley finals, stopping the clock in 1:52.96 Teammate Mike Gustafson was ninth overall with a personal best time of 1:56.68.

Weir was named to the all-state team in both the 100 freestyle and 200 individual medley. He will also be given All American consideration in both. The top 50 from around the country earn that honor.

The Rangers' 200 medley relay team of Gustafson, Andrew Klipa, Weir and Brett Ranger Scott Weir placed second in the Goldberg placed 12th overall with a time o 1:41.61. Ann Arbor Pioneers won the event with a time of 1:35, 42.

"I'm extremely happy with the performances of our individual swim and relay teams," Heritage concluded.

Brower finishes season at Hartland

By Thaddeus J. KrausLowell Ledger

When you're competing among the best the state has to offer, just the slightest errors count

Red Arrow Renee Brower closed out her Lowell gymnastics career with a trip to Hartland Saturday for the Division II state high school individual gymnastics tournament. Brower fell twice from the beam in scoring a 7.85, well short of her season-ending mark of 9.0.

"Renee didn't do as well as she had hoped, but I think being it was her first trip to the state tournament was a bit overwhelming," Lowell gymnastics coach Michele DeHaan said. "She competed against the best of the best."

Hartland's Erin Stum won the state championship in the event with a score of 9.6. Brower's senior year performance earned her OK Rainbow all-conference honors.

Youth Fair Royal Court visits state Capitol

The members of the Kent County Youth Fair Royal Court participated in a tour of the state Capitol in Lansing on March 7. There was an opportunity to meet with Lt. Gov. Dick Posthumus at the end of the day. Time was spent discussing our county youth fair, 4-H project areas, and future aspirations.

In June, the members will travel to Washington, D.C. to meet with Congressman Vern Ehlers. Their five-day trip will include visits to the White House, Kennedy Center and the Capitol. Tours of the local sights will be included during this educational governmental event. Members are responsible for funding their own travel expenses. If you would like to make a nonprofit tax deductible donation, please contact Linda Patterson at 897-9537.

City of Lowell forgoes $26,500 in granting tax abatement

By Thaddeus J. KrausLowell Ledger Editor

Tax abatements are often viewed as lost revenue to government municipalities.

Lowell city assessor James Marfia calls that a misnomer. "Cities aren't really losing money. They are agreeing to forgo half of the assessed revenue value for a period of time (12 years)," Marfia states.

The city assessor says a 12-year abatement is pretty standard. "If a corporation meets all the requirements, there really isn't a basis for not giving them a tax abatement," Marfia

Councilman Chuck Myers asked that Marfia provide the council with what the impact of granting the 12-year abatement to Litehouse, Inc. will be, beginning in the 2001 tax year.

"I just felt it is the council's responsibility to know how much money is involved if a tax abatement is granted," Myers

In granting the abatement to Litehouse, the city agreed to forgo $26,500 in revenue over the next 12 years.

"The city has put a lot of money into its downtown. The downtown is only part of our revenue sector," Myers explained. "I think it is appropriate to consider the health and financial livelihood of the industrial area as well."

Litehouse, Inc. applied for an industrial facilities exemption certificate in connection with the purchase of machinery and equipment totaling $2.12 million in improvements to personal property.

The improvements will create five new positions within a two-year period.

School board moves to sell portion of playground to city

By J.N. BoorsmaContributing Writer

It appears the city of Lowell has been able to secure one of the last pieces of its puzzle in property for its proposed new City Hall/police station complex.

At the Lowell Board of Education meeting on Monday night, the board unanimously voted to sell to the city a portion of the Runciman property, 12,870 square feet, for $12,000. The property is located on the northwest portion of the Runciman playground.

"It probably will be enough for us to move the playground and replace the fence," said Superintendent Bert Bleke.

Boardmember Jim Reagan was the only member to raise a concern over the sale ... which was primarily whether the play area would remain fenced in.

Bleke said the current fence would be replaced because of

"I think we will be putting in a five or six foot black vinyl fence," Bleke said, adding that parents using the area could be assured little ones would not be able to race off unnoticed.

The Lowell City Council accepted the $12,000 bid at its

Feb. 7 meeting. With the property, and the recent acquisition of the veteran's post next door, the city will be able to begin moving forward on plans to renovate and add to the current City Hall and police station.

The goal of these plans is to create more room for the overcrowded building by adding a new building for the police department where the current city parking lot is. The additional properties will allow the city to create new parking areas. The two buildings, the new police station and the renovated City Hall will be connected by an annex that will contain a main entrance to both buildings.

Blue Sky project suggests including amphitheater in Riverwalk extension

By Thaddeus J. KrausLowell Ledger Editor

Continued development along the Flat River was a key point of interest in the Lowell Planning Commission's "Blue Sky Project" recommendation to the city council.

"The planning commission would like to see the overall development of the boardwalk incorporate the inclusion of the amphitheater," said planning commissioner Jim Hall.

The Downtown Development Authority's plan took the development up to the amphitheater.

"We suggest that the development run through the amphitheater," Hall explained. "Some sort of development is needed for the amphitheater. It is a pretty ugly thing at this stage."

The planning commission asked that the city council refer its suggestion to the DDA board of directors for their consideration and inclusion into the master plan document and to develop an appropriate time schedule for the project.

"It would be our desire to see a conceptual plan which would show the entire plan for the Lafayette Plaza area from Main Street to, and including, the former Showboat Amphitheater," Hall explained.

The second of three "Blue Sky" project suggestions was the naming of the plaza area. The planning commission suggested that it might be appropriate to schedule the item for a public hearing. Councilman Ray Quada said that possibly a survey might get more of a response from the community.

Hall noted that with the Chamber preparing to relocate its office to the Riverwalk area, it would be nice to have an address. The planning commission recommended "Lafayette Plaza." The council sent the issue back to the planning commission for input.

The last of the three items of interest was the development of walking paths and paved trails.

Paths would be directed throughout the city with no specific area singled out.

The planning commission explained that the path developed from North Center to Foreman and the paths under development at Stoney Lakeside Park all reinforce the overall development.

LHS College Fair, March 21

A College Fair will take place in Lowell High School's central hallway on Tuesday, March 21 from 7 - 9 p.m.

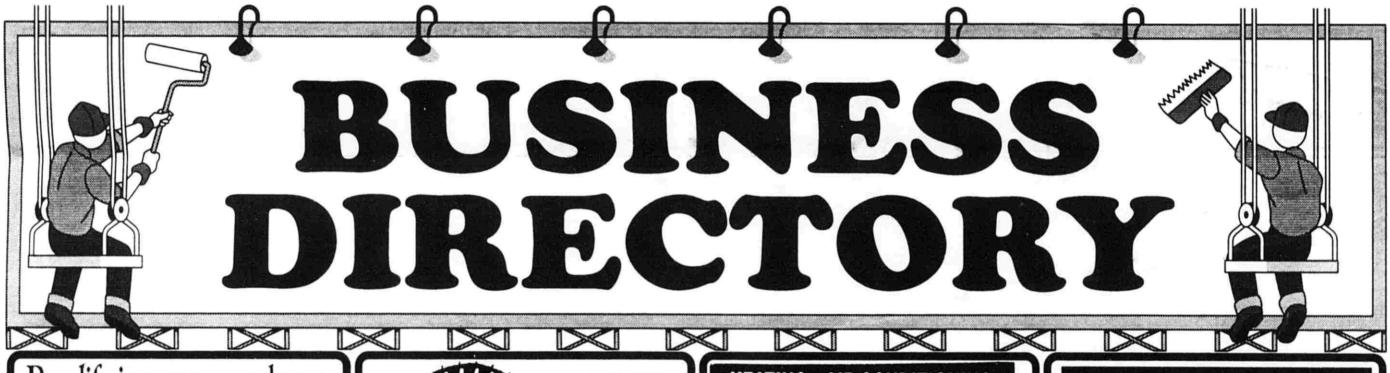

Over 45 Michigan colleges and universities will have booths set up and materials available for students and parents. The military services will also be represented.

Sessions will be offered for students and parents on financial aid, computer programs on college and scholarship searches, and college information from the perspective of parents, current college students and counselors.

Refreshments will be served and college items will be raffled off.

Admission is open to all high school and middle school students and parents.
