Lowell Township Riverfront Park receives $2.5 million grant from the State of Michigan

by Tim McAllister contributing reporter

The under-construction Grand River Riverfront Park North in Lowell Township just received a $2.5 million grant from the State of Michigan. The money will be used to build a bridge across the river to Grand River Riverfront Park South.

"We've been working with [state senator] Dave Hildenbrand for the last year to get a grant to help us with the park and the bridge project and it worked," said Lowell Township supervisor Jerry Hale. "We got a $2.5 million grant from the State of Michigan to help with that project. The bridge alone is going to cost over $2 million and the total project cost is about $4 million. This is a big chunk and it really helps us a lot." Hale said the timing of the grant will make it possible to complete the park a year earlier than planned.

Chief Martin retires from Lowell's fire department after 45 years on the job

by Tim McAllister contributing reporter

Lowell fire chief Frank Martin retired recently after 45 years of service to the community. Martin started in his position back in 1971. Dozens of friends, family and coworkers attended a retirement party at the Look Memorial Fire Station on Wednesday, June 15. Many people had nice things to say about Martin.

"Frank is probably the longest serving fire chief you're ever going to see," said Lowell police chief Steve Bukala. "I hope he enjoys his retirement because he's sure earned it."

"I have worked with Frank for about four years and he's been great," said Lowell firefighter Eric Kelly. "He has a laid back personality and he's a great guy."

"I thank him for his service and I hope he has a great retirement," said Lowell mayor Jeff Altoft. "He's stuck it out so long, that's the biggest thing."

"He was a joy to be around for the short time that I've been here," said Lowell firefighter Katie Rademacher. "I've been here almost a year. I'm sad to see him go. I'm glad he gets a break and gets to move on to a more relaxing time of his life. He was a great guy. I'm very happy to have worked with him. He's very laid back. He doesn't get tense about much."

Martin said that over the years he has worked with about 60 firefighters and that firefighting has changed a lot since 1971.

"Back when I started firemen were just firemen, they didn't go to school or nothing," Martin said. "We didn't have air packs or nothing. We had to share

Two vie for city council vacancy this November

by Tim McAllister contributing reporter

The election on November 8 was not originally going to include a Lowell city council seat, but a political action committee called Forward Lowell petitioned for a recall of mayor Jeff Altoft. According to the official recall language, they are recalling Altoft from the council because "Lowell city councilmember and mayor, Jeff Altoft, voted yes to hire Katherine (aka Kathryn) Henry as special legal counsel on January 19, 2016." "I believe I am put of for a recall election because the new councilmembers unseated people that had always gone along to get along," Altoft said. "I think I was maybe too vocal about my unhappiness with our former city manager [Mark Howe] and many people were shocked by it. I am not a believer in political correctness. I am more concerned with honest answers to questions and solving problems the city of Lowell has to deal with. The reason I am on the recall ballot was because I voted to hire Katherine Henry to help this council legally let the city manager go. Katherine provided the council with the legal information we needed with dignity and professionalism despite being attacked by the people who disagreed with this council about firing the former city manager. I stand by my decision to hire her and feel this city is better because of it. The city and townships are working together now. More people are getting involved with city issues. I think sometimes change is scary but necessary."

"I am running for city council because I feel the community needs leadership that makes decisions for the good of the community rather than their own personal agendas," Canfield said. "In my 25 years as a city resident I have served on various boards and commissions. I have renovated run-down buildings with sweat equity to help preserve the charm and beauty of our historic downtown. I feel these past experiences along with my business experience will help to get Lowell back to being 'the best place to be.' We'll see if the voters agree." <sup>the</sup>leedger gear, now everybody gets their own. The trucks are a lot different. There's more technology in them, they're bigger, they carry more water, they have bigger pumpers, they're more versatile and they can do more things."

Martin's most memorable fire was at a farm about 30 years ago.

"The biggest fire was probably at Timpson Orchards in the 80s," Martin said. "The big barn with all their product in it went up. That was a big fireball, real big. We were out there for a day and a half."

He said he looks forward to spending time with his family without being called away suddenly.

"What I'm really going to enjoy now is when my kids call me up and ask me to go to dinner in Grand Rapids; I don't have to worry about it, I can go," Martin said. "Before I couldn't go. I've turned down a hell of a lot of meals! I need to get caught up on them."

Larkin's Restaurant honored Martin on the day of his retirement party.

Candidate stops by city meeting, new police vehicle ordered

by Tim McAllister contributing reporter

Lowell city council had their latest regular meeting in city hall on Monday, June 20. The council granted a zoning variance to a major taxpayer, bought a police car and more at the meeting. One of the Republican candidates for a seat in the Michigan House of Representatives addressed the council during citizen discussion. Matt VanderWerff is a farmer and accountant who lives in Vergennes Township. He is one of five Republicans running against Democrat Lynn Mason and Green candidate Partv Cliff Yankovich for the 86th district House seat.

"If I get elected to Lansing I would like to put an end to the development grants that are issued to businesses and corporations as well as the tax breaks that are given out to favorites," VanderWerff said. "It is an injustice to give grants to profit businesses."

Stacey Browe, a candidate for sheriff of Kent County, also spoke to the council and to the citizens.

"I am the first female to ever run," Browe said. "If you have any questions, feel free to contact me."

Stacey Browe is running for Kent County sheriff.

Farmer and accountant, Matt VanderWerff, is running against a Democrat, a Green Party candidate and four other Republicans for a seat in the Michigan House of Representatives.

City manager Dave Pasquale reading his "State of the City Address" to the council.

Despite a report from engineering firm Williams & Works clearly stating that five of the six standards for a variance were not met, the council granted a zoning variance to Litehouse Foods. Now the company will be able to add 57 more spaces to their employee parking lot.

"There's a need for some additional parking spaces," said city manager Dave Pasquale.

The council voted to allow Lowell police to purchase a 2017 Ford Police Interceptor Utility vehicle for $29,829. The vehicle is the last of four they purchased with help from a Lowell Area Community Fund grant.

"I will be ordering this tomorrow and it will be on the road in the fall," said Lowell police chief Steve Bukala. "That will replace our last fully marked Chevrolet Impala, which I think everybody in the department is glad to see go."

Pasquale presented a "State of the City Address" to the council.

"These have not been ordinary times, noting the disagreements among the citizenry," Pasquale said. "There needs to be a time of healing, which I hope I have been a part of. [...] Lowell must and will strive to maintain and improve as a business-friendly city. In an era of intense competition Lowell will also continue to operate with greater efficiency."

The council's next regular meeting will be at city hall at 7 pm on Tuesday, July 5.

Hale said. "We've had a lot of business people and private citizens who have donated anywhere from $600 to $5,000. One anonymous local person just donated $100,000. They all add up. We have also applied to the [Michigan] Department of Natural Resources Trust Fund and the Lowell Community Fund for grants and we're working with other sources of money too, to get us there. We're getting a lot closer than we were before this came through."

When completed, the new park will include amenities like walking trails, public restrooms, a historic fur trader's cabin and a disc golf course. Hale said that work will continue on the park throughout the summer, with a completion goal of 2018.

"This summer we still hope to get the bathrooms finished and the playground equipment in, the gaga pit in and we're also working on the disc golf course," Hale said. "We've got to do some clearing for that. We are going to make it happen. We're really excited. You have to dream big, work hard and don't pay attention to any of the people that tell you it's impossible."

Off The Ledge rocks the Riverwalk for first sizzlin' concert of the season

by Kathryn Atwood contributing reporter

LowellArts! and the Lowell Area Chamber of Commerce presented the first Lowell Showboat Sizzlin' Summer Concert of the season last Thursday welcoming the blues infused rockers from Off The Ledge to the Showboat stage.

After a day of overcast skies and light rain, the clouds broke open to welcome music enthusiasts to the Riverwalk for the first of 10 two-hour summer shows. The free event is sponsored this year by Huntington Bank, the Lowell Downtown Development Authority and the Lowell Area Community Fund and supported by more than 25 local businesses.

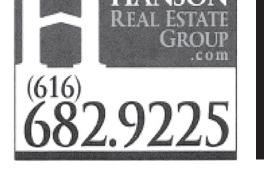

Lansing based Off The Ledge band brought their funk, folk, jazz and rock blend to the premier playing a lineup of catchy sing-along anthems dotted with original works. Bouncing between the classic rock of the 1970s and the Alternative Rock of the 90s, the foursome of musicians offered up a wide range of crowd pleasing mainstream covers. Formed in 2015, the band features lead vocalist and guitarist Matt Shannon, drum master Eric Brandes, bassist Luke Dahlstrom and lead guitarist Tab Wakely. They recently rolled out their debut album Wherever Else We Land at Elm Studios in Lansing.

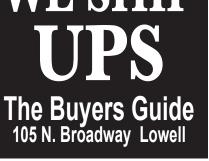

Next week the series will feature the Lansing quartet Steppin' In It who will fill the Riverwalk with their classic American Roots sound starting at 7 pm. Both lawn and bleacher seating are available. Concessions are also available on location.

Music fans turned out last Thursday evening to enjoy the first of ten acts to take to the Showboat Stage this summer as part of the series.

congrats to green candidate

To the Editor,

An article – Yankovich running for state representative for 86th district was printed in the May 18 Lowell Ledger. The article said local business owner Cliff Yankovich has decided to run as the Green party candidate and that he's a former Republican and that he has become unenthusiastic about the current philosophy of the Republican Party.

It must have been hard for Mr. Yankovich to change parties when many of his fellow business owners are Republicans. I for one, congratulate Mr. Yankovich for his ability to see things as they are and his willingness to change. I hope I'm not the only one that wishes Mr. Yankovich the best in his run for state representative.

It was noted in the Lowell Ledger that, because the recall effort by the Forward Lowell political action committee was successful, mayor and city councilor Jeff Altoft's name will appear in the Nov. 8 election. Candidates who wish to appear on the ballot for the special recall election had no later than 4 pm on June 2, 2016 to file. I have yet to see a publicized record of such candidates or it mentioned in a council meeting. When I went to the city hall I was verbally told a constituent's name. I believe there are some in the community that would like to know who is taking advantage of Mr. Altoft's misfortune.

Hopefully the Ledger will investigate sooner rather than later and report their findings of who will appear on the ballot for a special recall election. I don't expect the unknown to come forward until the last minute so they don't have to be debated.

> Sincerely, Jim Howard Lowell

Michigan residents and visitors urged to take safety along for the ride

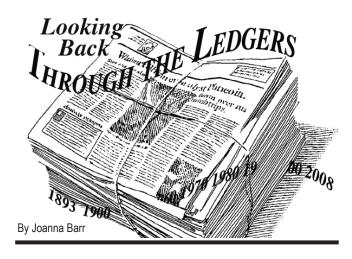

The Michigan Office of Highway Safety Planning (OHSP) is launching the second year of the summerlong campaign, Michigan Summer of Safety today. The campaign supports federally funded seat belt and impaired driving enforcement by police departments, sheriff's offices and the Michigan State Police from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

Through community outreach and social media, the campaign also seeks to raise awareness of bike, pedestrian, motorcycle and child passenger safety throughout the summer. The goal is to reduce traffic fatalities and injuries on Michigan roads by increasing seat belt use and safe summer travel.

"Traffic fatalities and serious injuries on the roadways increase during the summer months," said Michael L. Prince, OHSP director. "Michigan Summer of Safety is a reminder to all of us to 'take safety along for the ride' by always wearing a seat belt, wearing helmets and reflective gear when biking and riding motorcycles, and driving and boating sober."

S a f e t y - m i n d e d organizations across the state will participate in Michigan Summer of Safety by displaying campaign materials and distributing summer-related safety information in their communities. Posts on the OHSP and other state agency social media pages throughout the summer will feature safety tips and the #MiSummerofSafety hashtag to enhance the outreach efforts.

Last the year, Michigan Summer of Safety campaign reached over 10 million Michigan residents and visitors between Memorial Day and Labor Day with help from partners like the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, the Michigan State Police, the Michigan Department of State, the Michigan Department of Transportation and many more.

Monday morning's sensation was a dog fight, which drew a large crowd. The combatants were separated and hostilities dropped.

The Lowell Grocery Co. last Saturday completed the first month of its business career here, and met with success, far exceeding the most sanguine hopes of its founders. For this place, their method of business is unique, they make no accounts, neither buying or selling on credit, so they are in condition to know in a very few minutes just how they stand. They were very fortunate in the selection of clerks, both John Eggleston and Ed. Kinney being deservedly popular. The North Star refrigerator, of which Mr Parks is the patentee, which they handle, is a trade drawer, every one sold being a standing advertisement for others. If you haven't been in their place of business yet, just drop in and see how they have things arranged. A party of tourists, six of them in two boats, passed through Lowell Sunday. They were from Rockford and started at Wabasis Lake, through Wabasis Creek and Flat River, to Grand River and to Plainfield, then across the country, four miles, home. They were enjoying themselves hugely. It takes a week to make the trip. They registered at Island Grove Park Hotel as D. C. Burch, Samuel Webber, Wm. Prescott, Daniel Devendorf, S. Betts and L. H. Wilkinson.

His motive was a robbery which he had been planning during the entire week. No weapons were found on Freeland by the officers. # Bicyclists stop in Lowell during 316-mile fundraising effort

by Kathryn Atwood contributing reporter

Bicyclists invaded Impact Church of Lowell on Monday after beginning their 316 mile trek fundraiser from Rockford to Harrod, OH, called the H.I.S Home 300 benefiting a Haitian orphanage sharing the race's name.

Located in Port Au Prince, Haiti, the H.I.S Home for Children houses orphaned children aged newborn through 18 with a special emphasis on caring for those with special needs. The orphanage was founded more than 13 years ago in an effort to shelter, support and feed orphaned and abandoned children both physically and emotionally. Beyond facilitating more than 250 adoptions abroad the organization also has supportive programming for those who will age out of the system and remain in the sometimes unstable and poverty stricken country.

For the past seven years the H.I.S Home 300, here in Michigan, has been supporting those valiant efforts. Their week-long journey kicked off with leg one on Monday when cycling crusaders the made their first pit stop at Impact Church located at 1069 Lincoln Lake. Host and meal organizer Tony Schering, the church's youth pastor, explained how the relationship between the race and the church began. "Impact became a stop on the line for the HIS home 300 bike ride because one of the bikers, Esther Gordon, goes to our church and is heavily involved. She is on staff in KidZone and has a passion for kids and since HIS Home is an orphanage of over 150 kids those passions coincide," said Schering.

Schering welcomed Gordon and the rest of the group as the church provided momentary respite and a meal to the riders. Schering said that their church family was pleased to be involved as the mission of the annual ride, the Haitian orphanage and the church all line up well with one another. "Our mission as a church is to help others take the next step towards Christ. Helping with HIS home can be and is a next step for some within Impact and if we can help others do that across waters as well, that's awesome. The mission of the bike ride is to raise fund[s], supplies and awareness for HIS home and they stop at multiple different houses and church[es] this whole week to do just that."

After departing Lowell the team of bicyclists headed toward Lake Odessa for their second stop of the day, pausing briefly in Clarksville to take shelter from a passing storm before their arrival. Day one ended in Nashville where they rested for the night at the local United Methodist Church. The remainder of their journey will take them through a variety of small towns where they will continue to receive support from local churches, organizations and private citizens along their route.

Impact Church hosted the bicyclists of the H.I.S Home 300 Monday morning on the first stop of their journey.

Last year the event raised more than $55,000 through donations and sponsorship with 100 percent of funds raised directly supporting the orphanage by providing meals, medical care, adequate shelter and the support of both caregivers and educators to the parentless children of Haiti.

4H group carve canes for Lean on Me project

by Kathryn Atwood contributing reporter

Since Civil the War, wood carvers from Michigan have been making intricately carved wooden canes for wounded returning soldiers. Members of the 4H group Alto Active Achievers recently carried on the respectful tradition by creating their own for the Lean On Me project initiated by the Michigan Wood Carver Association in 2007.

Under the direction of 4H leader Luanne Kaeb, students Jacob Biermagher, Keegan Mebert, Kelton Mebert, Kennedy Mebert, Nathaniel Orlando, Jason Pierce, Marissa Polinder, Eli Reed and Sebrinna Schmidt learned the art of wood carving and created a customized cane as part of their annual projects.

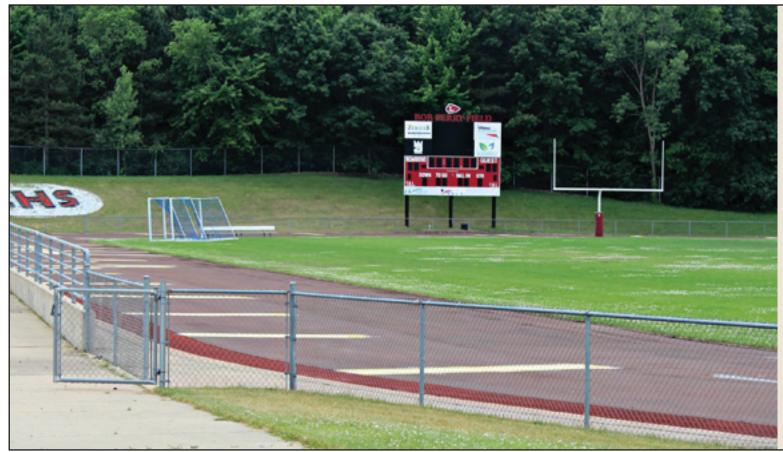

Traditionally the canes have an eagle head and feature information such as station, merits, rank and medals of the soldier receiving the gift. Each also says, "Thank You."

The nine participating students began working on their canes in May after completion of their regular 4H projects. Led by carving teacher Jerry Francis of the Flat River Wood Carvers, the students put their own artistry and heart in their work. "All of the young carvers did a variety of owls, turtles, bears, boots and a pony," said Francis of the work created by the students who range in age from 12-17 years old.

Since the project's inception nearly a decade ago more than 2,990 canes have been finished and delivered at a rate of about 30 per month, according to Francis, who says there are many more needed in order to honor every Michigan soldier returning home with physical challenges due to their brave service of our country. "We need more members. If you want to learn you can contact me at 616-897-9763 to learn more."

Jerry Francis displayed the cane handles at the Ledger office.

New track at the high school

Red Arrow Stadium will be closed to the public for several weeks as repairs begin on the aged track. Renovations kicked off last Monday and are expected to take a month rendering both the track and football field inaccessible to the public.

The current red track is being resurfaced due to a mounting need for repairs and will be replaced with a smooth new black finish providing a better platform for the athletes who utilize the space. The new surface is scheduled to be completed on July 15 dependent on weather.

McMahon was unable to estimate the damage to the new generating unit being installed but said if the generator itself was injured by the fire which blazed around it, the damage might run to several thousand dollars. All damage, McMahon said, was covered by insurance. Service of the village was resumed after about 2 hours as the result of the quick work of Light and Power employees in covering the two generating units and the switchboards with canvas, coupled with the quick work of the firemen, preventing costly damage. Mr. McMahon had only words of merit for the firemen for keeping water out of the switchboards. If this had happened service would have been shut off for at least 24 hours. Lodie Shear, volunteer fireman, narrowly escaped injury when ropes holding a derrick on the roof of the new structure burned off and the heavy derrick crashed down near Shear, narrowly missing him and knocking a hole in the roof of the building next to the plant which is occupied by Percy J. Read and Sons. It is indeed fortunate that it was possible to subdue the flames promptly. Had the three diesel engines, the building, switch boards and other equipment been destroyed the loss would have been close to a quarter of a million dollars.

Pure bedlam reined in the YMCA parking lot on Monday morning, June 20, as nearly 60 boys and girls from Lowell arrived with bedroll and baggage to board the bus for a week at the 'Y' camp on Barlow Lake.

Beech Street group is protesting proposed water main extension. An unofficial hearing on the need for a water main extension on Beech Street north of Foreman was a major portion of the council meeting on Monday night. There were four citizens present at the meeting, three of whom were opposed to the water main extension past their property. This same extension was so vigorously protested last year that the council declined to make the improvement. The problem seems to be that in order to serve a new real estate development the water main must be constructed a full city block past homes already served by city water or citizens satisfied to use their own wells. The discussion lasted for over an hour and the date for the official hearing was set, to be held on July 5th when the cost of the project to the property owners would be revealed.

Modern day "pioneer" Texas-bound from N. Y. to visit Lowell in July. The Ledger Office received a postcard Monday morning from "Pioneer Jim" mailed from Sarnia, Ontario, Canada, saying that he planned to 'camp' in Lowell, July 16. He has been on a trip to awaken the spirit of pioneering —by challenging America to pioneer in love and concern for their fellow men. "Pioneer Jim," 'faithful', his Appaloose Horse, 'Wolf,' a friendly wolf; and 'Patience' and 'Tribulation', a pair of zebra mules, left Amarilla, Texas, in April 1963 and arrived at the World's Fair, in New York, April, 1964. He and his entourage are now on their way back to Texas, visiting cities on the way. On the postcard Jim says, "tell the folks I'm looking forward to meeting 'em."

Music disagreement results in shooting of 19 year old Lowell man. An argument over the loudness of music at an open house/graduation party resulted in a Lowell man getting shot in the abdomen Saturday night. Pete Gerkin, 19-years old of Lowell, was listed in good condition Tuesday at Blodgett Memorial Hospital after being shot by a Grand Rapids man Saturday. According to Kent County Sheriff's Department Detective Bob Start, shortly after four black Grand Rapids men showed up at a graduation party at a private drive off of Bailey Drive, an argument over the loudness of their music ensued. The argument led to a fist fight between James Russell Whitney, 25, of Grand Rapids and other guests at the party. "During the fight, Whitney produced a handgun and fired it into the air," Start said. "As he then tried to get back into his car, Whitney felt it necessary to fire the gun once more, the second shot hitting Gerkin in the abdomen." Whitney and his three male passengers then attempted to drive off. In doing so he hit two others in attendance at the party and ran into a number of other cars on his way out. Start said, "Whitney and his passengers were invited by two female members at the open house/graduation party. Whitney was arraigned Monday on charges of carrying a concealed weapon and carrying a felony firearm, the latter charge carrying an automatic two-year sentence, if convicted. The other three passengers were retained, questioned and released. Whitney's bail was set at $5,000. Start said the case is still being reviewed with the preliminary exam set for July 3. Gerkin's father, Rev. Joe Gerkin said his son was fortunate in that the bullet missed all major organs. 39 youths compete in 5th annual "Andy Kooiman" Kids Fishing Day. Saturday, June 8th, saw 39 youngsters at the Lowell Middle School Pond as the guests of the Lowell Area Fishing Club at 5th Annual Kid's Fishing Day. The event is supported by donations from area businesses and merchants. The kids enjoyed themselves fishing with their Dads, Granddads and some Moms and Grandmas were in attendance. "We enjoy doing this for the kids, as much as they enjoy being here," said Bill DeGroot III, President of L.A.F.C. "We had a super nice day, although the fish didn't cooperate as well as in the past. They only caught 147, four of them Brook Trout. Everyone attending was treated to a hotdog, cookies and soda pop lunch after the official end of the contest. Winners in the 5-6 yr. old category were: Timmy Vezino 1st, Stacey Onan 2nd, and Benny Symmes 3rd; *7-9 yrs.: Doug Ford and David Dabakey tied for 1st, Shawna Seiloff 2nd; *10-11 yrs.: Mindy Onan 1st, Coby Onan and Bob Ford tied for 2nd; *11-13 yrs.: Benny Vinton 1st, Brian Dabakey 2nd and Erik Rose 3rd. The Most Fish were caught by Benny Vinton (13) and Biggest Fish was caught by Erik Rose. In the Casting Contest, David Dabakey was 1st for the boys and Tami Sherman was 1st for the girls with other places being taken by Shawna Seiloff, Brian Debakey, A.J. Bsharah and Stacey Onan.

We're working together to secure today and tomorrow

Your first job is a landmark occasion. You might be a little surprised when you see a portion of your earnings go to a tax called "FICA" for Federal Insurance the Contributions Act. This deduction goes to Social Security and is your way of helping us secure your today and tomorrow. It's our job to keep the safety net of Social Security strong through your incremental contributions.

Understanding how important your contribution is takes some of the sting away because your taxes are helping millions of Americans. By law, employers must withhold Social Security taxes from workers' paychecks. While referred to as "Social Security taxes" on an employee's pay statement, sometimes the deduction is labeled as "FICA." This stands for Federal Insurance Contributions Act, a reference to the original Social Security Act.

The taxes you pay now mean a lifetime of protection — for retirement in old age or in the event of disability. And when you die, your family (or future family) may be able to receive survivors benefits based on your work.

You probably have family members grandparents, for example - who already enjoy benefits that your Social Security taxes help provide. Social Security is completely solvent through 2033. At that point, retirement benefits will be reduced to 75 percent, unless changes are made to the law. In the past, Social Security has evolved to meet the needs of a changing population and you can count on Social security in the future.

Because you're a long way from retirement, you may have a tough time seeing the value of benefit payments that could be many decades in the future. But keep in mind the Social Security taxes you're paying can provide valuable disability or survivors benefits, if the unexpected happens. Studies show that of today's 20-yearolds, about one in four will become disabled, and about one in eight will die before reaching retirement.

We're doing this job together. The small amount you contribute with every paycheck allows us to help millions of retired workers, disabled people, and veterans. You can learn more about how we're with you through life's journey at www.socialsecurity.gov.
